Also arrested January 29 was Peter Ariano Alvarado, 26, Weed, who was released January 30 after pleading guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated and paying a fine of $100.

Testimony Opens On Flood Control

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Several hundred persons were expected to appear before the Water Resources Board here today as it reappraised its estimates of the amount of federal flood control appropriations it will seek from Congress.

The board said earlier it believed it should reestimate the amount of federal funds to seek in view of Christmas time and later flooding in Northern California.

Clair Hill, Redding, chairman of the board, said he would ask the California Flood Control Conference to reappraise its recommendations to the board. One flood control group, the California Central Valleys Flood Control Association, said it thinks the state should boost its federal appropriation request by $5 million to some $16.6 million.

NO OBJECTION TOKYO (UP)—Japan has informed the United States it has no objection to proposed hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific this year, but has asked that precautions be taken. Kyodo news service said Thursday.

Adscos Northwest Division Executives Named To Posts

Following reorganization last week of the Woodbury and Lorenz operations in Oregon, executives to operate the new divisions today were announced by John L. McGara, executive vice president of Adscos Northwest, Inc., which purchased Woodbury and Co. and Lorenz Co. last year.

Andrew J. Holcomb, Portland, has been named manager of Woodbury Hardware Co. in Portland. Holcomb has been assistant sales manager of Woodbury Hardware for eight years. He was in the Navy for seven years and was in the promotion department of U.S. Steel for seven years.

Manager of the newly-formed Woodbury and Co. Industrial Supply and Steel Warehouse on Swan Island, Portland, will be Charles H. Sanders, Portland. A former resident of Palo Alto, Sanders was with U.S. Steel Supply Division for four years, Tavler and Spotswood Steel Warehousing, San Francisco, for two years, and with Kaiser Steel Corp., Oakland, for one year. He served four years in the Navy and is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

McGara reappointed Earl Chamberlain, Eugene, manager of Woodbury Eugene Industrial Supply, in operations.

Eugene Chamberlain has been associated with Woodbury and Company for 12 years.

Clair Larson, Medford, was named manager of the newly-organized Woodbury Lorenz Industrial Supply in Medford. Larson has been with the Woodbury organization for 33 years, having started as a stock and clerical worker in 1922. After experience as an outside salesman in Portland and along the Northern Oregon Coast, he was appointed manager of Woodbury and Co's Medford branch. He was with the Army from 1942-1946.

The Klamath Falls branches of Woodbury Lorenz Industrial Supply and Woodbury Lorenz Hardware will be managed by J. C. Strong, 38 years old, who has been with Lorenz Co. for 18 years. Since 1950, he has been general manager of the Medford branch of Lorenz. He expects to move from Medford to Klamath Falls. He is a member of the Elks and Kiwanis. (Picture on page one)

Adscos Northwest is under the direct supervision of J. E. Snodgrass, assistant executive vice president and manager in charge of operations.

Chamber Hears Difficulty Facing Pulp Mill Location

Problems of the liquidation of the Klamath Indian Reservation and possible changes in the termination law, Public Law 587, were discussed at the regular meeting of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce directors Wednesday noon in the Winema Hotel.

Director William Ganong Jr. stated that it is felt that the way the termination bill now reads the timber land on the reservation would be liquidated in economic units which would be sold and logged by clear cutting leaving the land of little value except for grazing. Possible amendments to Public Law 587 may be submitted to the 84th Congress to rectify this possibility, Ganong said.

Chamber Manager F. Frank Tucker reported that plans for the possible location by a big eastern firm of a large pulp cellulose plant in this area has run into difficulty due to the inability of the firm to purchase outright some 10 to 25,000 acres of jack pine land near Klamath Falls. The company has specified that they must own a large parcel of land in order to insure an adequate supply of the jack pine for their needs.

Many of the owners of the jack pine have indicated a willingness to sell the timber but not the land, Tucker said. The company seeks a large block of land but Tucker stated that the firm would allow the present owners to retain the grazing and mineral rights to the land if purchased by the eastern company.

The company's directors have indicated that a deadline has been set within the next few weeks for the final decision on the location of the plant near Klamath Falls which would cost in the neighborhood of 15 to 20 million dollars and would employ from 400 to 500 men.

This particular company first became interested in this area as a possible site for their pulp plant after being apprised of the potentialities of Klamath County through the efforts of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce. Tucker said that if this company declines to locate here the chamber will continue working to interest similar firms in the use of the huge stands of hitherto worthless jack pine in the northern end of the county.

Navy Launches Fourth Balloon

TOKYO (UP)—The U.S. Navy Thursday night launched its fourth weather balloon in 17 days in a new attempt to float special recording instruments across the Pacific Ocean on the jet stream.

The Navy said the big sphere was carrying radio transmitting equipment "geared to reveal heretofore unknown meteorological data six miles above the Pacific Ocean."

The first balloon, launched Jan. 17 fell in the sea 600 miles northeast of Hawaii. The second, released Jan. 21, crossed the ocean and came down in Mississippi but its instruments have not been found. Recording instruments on the third failed Jan. 31 and its fate is not known.

In further business the Civic Affairs Committee headed by director Alice Vitus said that her committee is studying the proposed sewer trunk line from the upper end of Hot Springs Addition to a point near the Owens-Shasta Way treatment plant. This main trunk line is being studied by the city's officials with a view to putting it on either the May primary or the fall general election. It would be a main line serving all of Klamath Falls east of railroad.

Director Ganong said that L. Orth Sisemore, Klamath Falls attorney has been named chairman of the Indian Affairs Committee and Attorney D. W. Piper will head the Oregon Legislative Committee.

ROSEMARY MURRAY, Girl Scout national staff member will be in Klamath Falls, February 7-9. She will meet with local Girl Scout board and hold conferences with officers, committee chairmen and the staff. Miss Murray is a community adviser for Girl Scout councils in the Pacific Northwest and Alaska.

RELEASE ORDERED

DUNCAN, Okla. (UP)—Carl Maloney had been in jail nearly seven months, serving out a $1,000 fine on a drunken driving conviction when his attorney, A. W. Mauldin, dusted off an old state statute saying a pauper does not have to serve more than six months to pay out a court fine. Justice of the Peace W. H. Crow ordered Maloney's release.
