Doctor Urges Vaccine Speed

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, has urged the nation's doctors to speed up giving of Salk antipolio shots to more than 50 million priority women and children.

Van Riper, saying the situation might be described as a "medical emergency," yesterday released a letter he wrote to 200,000 physicians pleading with them to push the program before the 1956 polio season.

The letter, stating "cooperation of physicians in administering vaccine is now the key to the control of the disease," added:

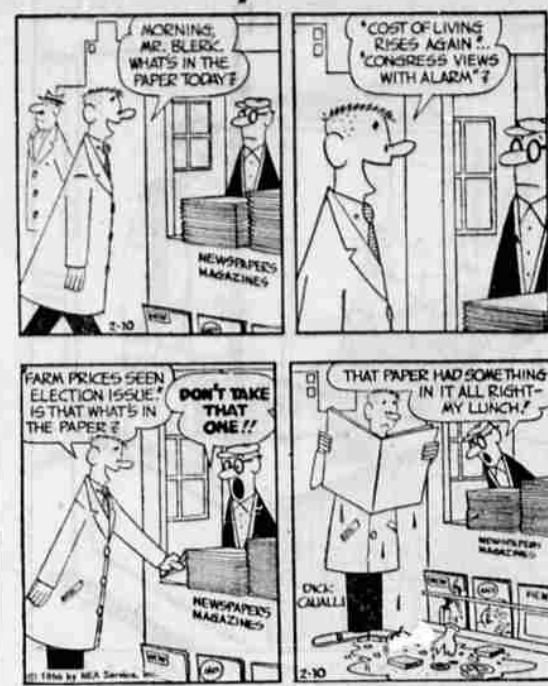

"If a large number of children are to receive at least two injections before the 1956 polio season, there can be no unreasonable delay in accelerating this program at once."

Van Riper said there are nearly 54 million children under 15 and pregnant women in the current year. Of these, he said, more than 10 million received at least one injection of the vaccine in 1955—about seven million of them with vaccine purchased last year by the National Foundation.

Van Riper said the vaccine supplied the doctors to use the supplies on hand so that none of the vaccine becomes stale and outdated.

He said the foundation is "fulfilling its promise" to "get out of the vaccine business" as soon as its 1955 vaccine program is over.

An American program will be a feature of the next meeting of the unit.

Supervisors Vote Hospital Annex

YREKA — The Siskiyou Board of Supervisors Tuesday voted $68,800 for construction of a new county hospital annex.

The bid was submitted by Al Giordano, Yreka contractor, and Robert Kenney, Medford architect. The building will be complete to partitions, plumbing, glazing, and insulation. Not included in the bid are fixtures, trim, paint, plaster, and millwork.

The bid was split into two sections so that the board could get the building underway with the money now on hand.

After the first of July this year they expect to be able to budget money for the completion of the building, funds for which will be taken from the next fiscal year.

Jess O'Roke, county purchasing agent, said the total cost of the building would run about $150,000 which will leave $80,000 to be budgeted out of next year's funds.

In other business a recommendation by a committee composed of county employees with five years service be given 15 day vacation was tabled.

Fifty Chiloquin Region Residents Attend Meeting

CHILOQUIN — Approximately 50 people from Chiloquin and outlying areas as far as Sprague River and Fort Klamath met for a community discussion at Chiloquin High School Thursday evening.

The Rev. Edmund Stanton acted as chairman, with Noble Sanderville as secretary and Hiroto Zakoji as commentator and summarizer.

The purpose of the meeting, third of a series, was to determine from the history of the district, just what the community is, in what ways it is changing, how people would like to see it change, and what they can do to assist the change.

For purposes of clarity, it was decided that the greater Chiloquin community was that area affected by the Chiloquin school district and all the people who live within those boundaries. Joe Jackson, president of the PTA, set forth the history of the Indian reservation, its government; Dibbon Cook, representative of the Indian council, spoke of more recent developments among the Indian people that have affected the non-Indians; Ray Looney, son of a pioneer family in Fort Klamath, told of the settlement of homesteads and more modern day farming developments.

Emphasis was placed on the importance of the timber drawing in the railroad and highways and the way that all other services and businesses have developed from those beginnings. Church work in the district began as early as 1872.

Following a discussion of the number and types of people that live in the district, now, the reasons they choose to live here and how many are permanent residents and how many transient, small discussion groups discussed problems that exist in the area and then reported to the entire attendance.

The last part of the meeting was devoted to a preliminary discussion of what local groups can do to assist the community but it was determined that all the organization representatives should report progress so far to their groups and ask for cooperation. Then in March another community discussion can be held to see if definite measures can be undertaken to improve the Chiloquin area.

At the last meeting, committees were appointed for the money-raising project this month. A dance and a home-made candy sale will be held.
