Six Die In Car Wrecks On Weekend

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Six persons, including an armless University of San Francisco student, were killed and at least 15 persons were injured in Northern California automobile accidents during the weekend. The USF student, James Kenny, 22, San Mateo, hitched a ride in a car driven by Jimmy Williams Jr., 22, Los Angeles, early yesterday. Near Modesto, Williams' car struck a pickup truck and was thrown into the path of a semi-trailer rig. Williams and Kenny, who was born without arms, were killed. Two other passengers in Williams' car were injured. In Oakland, Ike Carter, 72, a retired longshoreman, died shortly after he was struck by an auto driven by George Jackson. Carter had an unexplained bullet wound in his leg and it was not determined whether this contributed to his death.

Ward Smith, 22, a San Francisco law student, died Saturday of injuries suffered in a head-on crash near Santa Cruz Friday. Two persons in the other car were injured. The two-year-old son of Robert Holderbaugh, 21, a Moffett Field sailor, was killed when a car in which the Holderbaughs were riding crashed into a tree near Santa Cruz. Two other persons were injured. Patricia Rose Hickey, 20, Santa Cruz, was killed when her motorcycle crashed head-on into a car driven by Frank T. Matral, 60, Cupertino, on the Santa Cruz-Los Gatos Highway. Seven persons were injured in a six car pile up early today near San Pablo. The accident involved a truck, two police cars, and three motor cars.

Yacht Blast Rips Pier

OAKLAND (UP)—A butane tank explosion hurled a four-month old baby and a 15-year old girl out of a luxury yacht on Oakland estuary yesterday but none of the eight persons aboard suffered major injury. The baby, William Stanley Blitz of Oakland, was uninjured when he landed on the craft's gangplank. The girl, Virginia Steadman, also of Oakland, pulled the child to safety before it could roll into the water. Virginia suffered head and leg cuts. Most seriously injured was the yacht's owner, George Surtevant, 58, of Alameda, who was in the engine room of the cabin cruiser, the Dollie Lee, at the time of the explosion. He sustained second and third degree burns of the hands, face and arms. His wife, Dollie, 33, refused hospitalization. Others injured in the explosion were the girl's parents, William Steadman, 34, and his wife, Clyde, 34, and the mother of baby William, Mrs. Vivian Blitz, 35. Mrs. Blitz' 11-year-old daughter, Mary Ann Hannan, also suffered cuts on the leg. The victims were taken to Highland Hospital for immediate treatment and then transferred to Peralta Hospital.

But Ellender cautioned that a presidential veto would mean "there won't be any farm bill." He said Congress couldn't override the veto and, at the same time, a new and separate bill containing only the soil bank plan couldn't be passed in time to give farmers any relief this year. Ellender said there isn't "any doubt" the senate will approve the pending bill and send it to the President despite veto threats. The House approved a high support bill last year.

Cameras In Big Balloons Used To Calculate Speed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force says cameras in some of its weather balloons help it to calculate the rate of progress of balloons and therefore the velocity of the jet streams. Secretary Quarles explained the weather surveys at length after the Russian publication Pravda charged Saturday that, in using the balloons, the United States was trying to carry out alone President Eisenhower's aerial inspection proposal. Quarles' statement was largely a report on the project's aims, but he said Russia "is attempting to develop it into a diplomatic incident" and is making "elaborate efforts... to confuse" the weather balloons with the low-flying balloons used by some private groups to drop propaganda leaflets. He spoke out after conferring with Secretary of State Dulles. For several days, the Air Force had kept silent about the matter while the State Department did the talking for this government. This country spoke out also through the U.N., informing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that protests against the balloons were "based on a misconception of the facts." The State Department, replying to a Russian protest, had defended

Farm Bill Row Grows

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) warned today that there "won't be any" new farm program if President Eisenhower vetoes a pending bill calling for a return to rigid high price supports. Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson said yesterday he would urge the President to veto the measure despite the fact that the Administration backed soil bank program is written into it. Benson added that the President probably would veto the measure even if he didn't recommend it. But Ellender cautioned that a presidential veto would mean "there won't be any farm bill." He said Congress couldn't override the veto and, at the same time, a new and separate bill containing only the soil bank plan couldn't be passed in time to give farmers any relief this year. Ellender said there isn't "any doubt" the senate will approve the pending bill and send it to the President despite veto threats. The House approved a high support bill last year.
