WALL STREET - The stock market faltered in the midst of a rise late Friday as President Eisenhower vetoed the natural gas bill.

Prices of stocks with natural gas interests slipped, some recovering partially, while other issues remained generally on the upside. The legislation would have freed independent producers from federal curbs.

Long-Bell Lumber continued strong on its pending merger with International Paper Co., staying ahead over 4 points.

Volume for the day was estimated at around 2,300,000 shares compared with 1,750,000 Thursday.

United Fund Greatest Force For Good, Says Director

"The United Fund is one of the greatest forces for good in our American life because the objective is our concern for people, rather than for monetary results."

This was the message of F. R. McKeever, executive director of the United Funds of Multnomah, Clackamas and Washington counties, who addressed guests at the third annual Klamath County United Fund meeting Thursday night at the Willard Hotel.

New officers—headed by Walter (Bud) Franklin as president—and 20 directors were elected at the annual dinner meeting.

McKeever described this united way of giving as "the greatest voluntary citizens' cooperative effort that mankind knows." He said there are 1950 autonomous fund agencies in the United States which last year raised $50 million dollars through the efforts of some 11 to 12 million volunteers.

To grow up with this relatively new but fast-growing idea, McKeever urged year-round partnership between United Fund and its member agencies; sound budgeting and accounting procedures; a planned program of developing public understanding and year-round activity through a competent, capable staff director.

United Fund members at the meeting unanimously accepted the nominating committee's report which named Franklin as president; Gall Osborn as first vice president; Harvey Denham, second vice president; Robert Puckett, secretary and Leo Molatore, treasurer.

Board members elected were Mrs. Margaret Sheridan, Jay Thomson, R. A. Cantrell, Harold Geizer, Walter Franklin, W. S. McBride, L. Orth Steenere, Frank Tucker and Norm Wilson, all of Klamath Falls; Betty Hatt, Elye Smith, Ken Kennerly, Walter Zimmerman, Chiloquin; Bob Beach, Louis Mann, Bill Millia, Pat O'Connor, Arthur Rickbell, Wilbur Haskins, Merrill, Lane A. Smith, Jr., Kennerly.

Retiring president Mrs. Earl Sheridan presided at the meeting. She complimented the sound practices of the admittance, budget and quota committee, the leadership and devotion of Bob Beach, campaign chairman, and his volunteer workers, and introduced speakers for the evening.

Beach emphasized the need for a planned program to develop public understanding, and the importance of emphasizing a strong agency constituents the benefits of United Fund.

The greatest stride money-wise that has been made by United Fund in its three years in Klamath County was in the field of payroll deductions, according to Rex Dye, executive secretary. Strides were also made in the development of leadership and of committee functions, he stated.

Investigating officer Charles Shipman reported that Brown's auto, leaving the park on the east road, skidded 64 feet on the road before going off the roadway and going into a ditch, which caused it to roll over. The auto came to rest about 99 feet, nine inches from where it started to skid.

Smith told Shipman that just before leaving the park, Brown had been in a fist fight with another man, but that the pair had "become friends again." Shipman said Smith surprised that Brown was excited while he was driving out of the park. Shipman reported Brown was unable to make a statement.

The incident occurred at 3:46 p.m. on the last curve before the auto would have reached the park gate. The auto came to rest about 50 feet inside the park. There were no citations.

Highway Department Gives Chain Warning To Motorists

Basketball fans planning to watch the Klamath Falls Pelicans and the Medford Black Tornadoes at the Medford gym face the prospect of having to use chains on their autos to get to and from Medford, the Klamath Falls office of the Oregon Highway Department reported.

An official at the department said that there were eight inches of snow at Hayden Mountain Summit and five and one half inches at Greensprings. He said that chains were required from a point just west of Keno all the way to the bottom of the Greensprings grade in the Rogue River Valley.

He added that the barometer is going down, and that it is still snowing.

On other roads leading out of Klamath Falls, chains were required on U.S. 97 south on Dorris Hill and from Mount Hebron to Deer Mountain Lodge at 10:30 a.m. He said that this meant the road was getting worse, as chains were not required at 8 a.m.

Chains were also required at 8 a.m. on Siskiyou Summit, Santiam Pass and the Warm Springs Cut-off.
