

Klamath Yacht Club Is Dressed In Party Finery for Younger Set Party of the Year

You can be "young just once"—but that can be for a long time. "Sixteen" you can be for only a sweet short time—a brief capsuled year of 12 fast-disappearing magic months. "Fifteen" and "Seventeen" for a girl just don't have what "Sweet Sixteen" offers. Fifteen is still a little ill-at-ease and a bit awkward—and Seventeen is at once perplexed with problems and a big "trifle-bored."

Serene 16 gets a birthday anniversary bonus from Life—adolescent assurance—and the simple capacity to enjoy the dividend of that fleeting interlude between childhood's uncertainty and the magnitude of maturity's obligations.

Jo Ann's stack of printed invitations were a bid in verse asking 250 friends to share that important first day of "I'm 16"—At the top of each card was "ANGA"—with an explanatory footnote at the bottom of the card—"ANGA means absolutely no gifts allowed"—(signed) Jo Ann Bogatay.

250 TEENER FRIENDS GET BIDS TO 16TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY PARTY

AN IMPORTANT TOAST to an important occasion — is proposed by Jo Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bogatay, at Jo Ann's 16th birthday anniversary party at the Klamath Yacht Club, January 27.

Pounds of ornately decorated cakes and gallons of party punch disappeared as the evening of dancing progressed toward the fourth and final hour at 11:30 p.m.

"SWEET SIXTEEN" — with all the trimmings — was Jo Ann Bogatay on her birthday anniversary party at the Klamath Yacht Club. Her parents entertained for her and 250 guests in Jo Ann's age group at a dancing party from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

BRIDAL BREAKFAST

A BRIDAL BREAKFAST in the Empire Room of the Winema Hotel was given February 12, in honor of Ruby Gehring on the morning of her wedding to Charles Thomas (Tom) Schubert.

Mrs. Charles Howard, hostess, invited the mothers of the affianced, bridal attendants and wedding reception assistants as guests for the 9:30 a.m. pre-nuptial event.

Standing, same order, Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Karnes, Mrs. Donald Thompson, Mrs. Lou Gehring, bride's sister-in-law; Mrs. John Schubert Jr., bridegroom's sister-in-law; Mrs. Randal Foster, bride's sister; Mrs. Jack Taylor, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. John Schubert Jr., his mother. The Valentine theme was used for table decor—and place cards were "two-hearts-entwined."

From the left, Judy Ellis, Phyllis Crabtree, Mary Horne, Sharon Jones and Darlene Bucholz. The five young femmes were a busy bevy with their hostess duties for the crowd of some 250 teen-age guests invited to celebrate with Jo Ann at the Yacht Club.

ATTRACTIVE BRIDE-ELECT, Joan Moore, whose engagement to John C. (Jack) Holmes, was revealed at an announcement cocktail party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Moore, at Reames Golf and Country Club, February 11. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holmes Jr., one-time residents of Klamath Falls, now living in Portland. They were here for the occasion and received guests with Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

Both of the affianced are graduates of the University of Oregon where Joan was affiliated with Alpha Phi — and Jack was a Phi Delta Theta. He is presently employed in Los Angeles. No date has been set for the wedding. (Story on inside page.) — Photo by Guderian

SOJOURNERS

RED, WHITE AND BLUE is the color theme chosen for Klamath Falls Sojourners Club spring tea, slated for 1 p.m., April 14, in the Willard Hotel — honoring local air base wives.

The picture above was taken at a recent meeting of tea committee members at the home of Mrs. John Ashley, chairman, when preliminary plans for the club event were formulated.

Sojourners was organized for newcomers. Its purpose is to welcome newcomers to Klamath Falls; and all wives of USAF personnel stationed at the new air base are cordially invited as spring tea guests and as potential members of the club. (See Story on Inside Page) —Photo by Kettler
