Methodist Church Launches Dramatic Television Series

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Methodist Church has launched a series of dramatic television programs that should have a wider appeal than any TV dramas yet produced.

under the leadership of any church.

In both concept and execution the series of 13 films entitled "The Way" represents a significant step in organized religion's growing consciousness of the TV medium. The series shuns preaching, is nondenominational in its appeal, and is solely concerned with dramatizing various aspects of Christian principles of living.

OFFERED FREE

The series is offered free to any TV station anywhere with only these provisions: They will be shown in specified sequence at any desired regular weekly time, except an hour that might interfere with church attendance. There shall be no commercial in connection with them—not even a "Go to church."

The first drama, "An Eye for an Eye," was shown here last Saturday afternoon on the ABC network's local station. Distinguished by superior acting, it told this story:

A gang of boys wreck a church recreation room. The minister, a calm, strong man, loses an eye when the boys gang up on him as he tries to restore order. The police regard the boys as "wild animals" who cannot be tamed; to fail to prosecute them, the police maintain, is to turn their viciousness loose on society. But the minister opposes prosecution. At his request the boys are released on probation in his custody. The failures and the success are delineated in down-to-earth fashion.

CONVICTION

A viewer is left with the conviction that the answer to delinquency is no simple matter. One needs the power of the gang over its members. But the strong influence of people who care is shown in a most convincing manner.

It's not a subtle story. But it gives a feeling of reality—in sharp contrast to many TV religious dramas which leave one with a reaction of unreality and sentimentality. In no formal sense is it preaching. But it is the best kind of preaching in the sense that what one is and does speaks more clearly than any words. Through the excellent characterizations of the minister and his wife there flows a strong practical idealism.

Club Seeks Duck Stamps

The Men's Club of the Young Men's Christian Association here is seeking duck stamps from expired hunting licenses to use for points in the International Y's Men's Bishop's Fund contest, promoted to bring foreign Y's Men's delegates to a national international conference. The next meeting will be in Estes Park, Colorado.

Albert "Bud" Anderson is chairman of the local Bishop's Fund, medium through which points are accumulated. Stamps are gathered from June to June and apply on the International trophy which is awarded on points with the duck stamp intact may be mailed or taken to the YMCA or deposited in boxes for that purpose at the Gun Store, Hal's Sport Shop or Joe's Sporting Goods Store. Do not peel stamps from the license since damaged stamps are worthless.
