OIL CANS

Household lubricating oil in a pressurized container makes it easy to lubricate places difficult to reach with an ordinary oil can. Such places may be squeaky locks. Press the cap on the top of the container and the oil comes out in a fine spray that carries to hard-to-get-at places.

Recreation Land Proposal In Siskiyou Forest Told

The proposed withdrawal of 7,870.67 acres of public land inside the Siskiyou National Forest along the Rogue River for recreational purposes was announced today by Virgil T. Heath, supervisor of the Bureau of Land Management for Oregon.

MILK

A total of 967,500 extra half-pint of milk were served in Oregon schools in October, 1955, according to Mrs. Laura Wells, state school lunch supervisor.

A 30-day waiting period is provided during which written comments or objections must be submitted by the public. Heath said that the lands proposed for withdrawal are in a strip approximately one-half mile wide on each side of the Rogue, beginning near Whiteneck Camp at the mouth of Whiskey Creek and extending by generally even numbered sections to a point approximately eight air-line miles west of Agness, or a total river distance of approximately 40 miles. The area has a high recreational and scenic value and the proposed withdrawal would protect these values for the use of the general public against the staking of any claims or entries which might be incompatible with recreational activities. However, the language of the withdrawal states that all valid existing rights be honored. Most of the public lands in the strip are in power site reservations made during 1926 and 1928.

A detailed description of the public lands involved in the proposed withdrawal will appear shortly in the Federal Register and will be posted in the land office at Portland, Oregon, and at District Foresters' Offices at Coos Bay and Medford. The land proposed for withdrawal is under the supervision of the Forest Supervisor, Siskiyou National Forest at Grants Pass.
