BILL ADVANCES

LONDON (AP)—By a vote of 286-262, the House of Commons has advanced a bill to abolish capital punishment in Britain. The House approved in principle on second reading the measure that would outlaw the death penalty for murder. Stiff tests in committees and the House of Lords are yet to come. The conservative government is fighting the bill.

"DENNIS THE MENACE"

Tucker On State Board

R. Frank Tucker, manager of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, recently was appointed to a state chamber of commerce executive's committee on taxation. Tucker was named to the group by Vern Tinnerstet, president of the Oregon Chamber Executives.

The committee will meet in Portland Friday to set up a statewide meeting on taxation in Salem about the middle of April.

The taxation group was formed to study the possibility of obtaining a more desirable tax structure for the state than now exists. It is felt by the committee that Oregon's tax set-up should be more competitive with surrounding states than it is today.

A cross-section of state chamber managers and executives make up the committee.

ON DISPLAY

CHICAGO (AP)—On display at the convention of the National Assn. of Tobacco Distributors are corn cob pipes covered with bakelite in a variety of shades—including red, white, pink, blue and black.

4-H NEWS

POE VALLEY COOKERETTES

Janet Lyon brought muffins she had baked, to our February 16 meeting, which were judged by the members. Mrs. Harold Campbell told about her recent trip to the state 4-H leaders conference at Corvallis.

Plans were made for a tour of the creamery. Arrangements were made to serve a dinner that the Poe Valley Grange is having.

Audrey Hepburn Insists Husband Is No 'Svengali'

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Audrey Hepburn, back in Hollywood for the first time in 2½ years, has a comeback for what she calls "the wicked tongues" that have been sniping at her marriage: She insists her husband is no Svengali.

The notion that handsome actor-director Mel Ferrer rules Audrey with an iron hand has been filling the gossip columns and fan magazines.

Audrey admits (1) He taught her modern dance rhythm; (2) "I don't have to make decisions alone now," and (3) "We like to be together."

But the slender Oscar-winner insists he does not run her life or career.

"Why, one of the London newspapers reported that I insisted I be addressed as Mrs. Ferrer. Ferrer. Really!" She said, "Every young girl calls herself by her married name. It's unnatural to do otherwise.

"And I'm certainly not going to defend the fact we like to be together."

Audrey's first film at Paramount since "Sabrina" will be her first musical, "Funny Face," co-starring Fred Astaire. When I visited her rehearsal set, thin Audrey in black tights was dancing (an exotic sight) in one corner and thin Fred was warming up in another corner. How these two toothpicks can fill a vistavision screen is a wonder.

After rehearsal, Audrey curled up with a cottage cheese-and-pineapple salad and talked happily about her husband.

"I am very happy," she smiled. "To some people marriage only complicates their lives. But I am much freer and happier now than when I was single. I am never alone to worry about things."

"Our careers don't interfere. We planned it that way—accepting scripts so we can be together. Naturally we discuss all of our projects together—but we make our own decisions. I couldn't follow anybody else's decision. If anything went wrong it would be his fault.

"Of course, he has a great deal of experience and I benefit by listening to him. And—I make some sense to him, too."

Audrey will dance for the first time since she was an unknown chorus girl in London stage musicals four years ago. Fefrer, she added, taught her "modern rhythm" because she had been taught ballet in the European classical manner.

The Ferrers are strictly non-Hollywoodites. After this film they'll return to Paris for more movies—"And we would love to do one together, if the parts were right for both of us," said Mrs. Ferrer, as she stretched happily in her skin-tight black leotard.

Puget Choir To Sing Here

One of the most coveted honors at the College of Puget Sound is membership in the famed Adelphian Concert Choir.

This choir, limited to 35 to 40 voices, will be heard in the First Methodist Church, Klamath Falls, at 8 p.m. on Friday, March 16. The choir will appear under the direction of Dr. Bruce Rodgers, head of the School of Music at the college.

The choir will present some of the outstanding literature written for unaccompanied chorus. The program, consisting of both secular and religious music, will have something for almost every musical taste, from the 16th century to the 20th century, from Negro spirituals to the rhythmic and rollicking songs of today.

There will be no admission charge. A free-will offering will be taken.

ANNIVERSARY

LINCOLN
The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

If this changes your former preferences . . . you're in good company!
We'd like to make a prediction about you. Without reservation, we prophesy that you will revise your fine car standards upward after even a brief personal meeting with Lincoln for 1956.
The reason for our confidence? Simply this: the pleased people we've watched in our showrooms — and the names we've been writing on our waiting lists — ever since this completely new fine car made its debut.
We're certain that you — like these others who really know fine cars — will recognize at once the dramatic whole newness of Lincoln design. In its long, clean sweep of line. In the breathtaking daring of its low silhouette, a scant five feet high.
And we further forecast this: when you turn the key, your interest will turn to admiration. For you will feel the swift obedient thrust of the new 285-hp Lincoln engine as it is served up with silken smoothness by Lincoln's incomparable Turbo-Drive transmission. You will know the gentle firmness of Lincoln's ball-joint suspension system.
And all this, surrounded by the matchless luxury of Lincoln interiors . . . encircled by the protection of Lincoln safety advances . . . pampered by the automatic ease of Lincoln power assists.
We suggest you put our prediction to the test this very week — with a Lincoln safety-flex steering wheel in your hands and a long road before you. Why not make it today?
