

A FABULOUSLY FULL SKIRT makes this new Gaston Mallet wedding gown of shadow printed white Swiss organdie over blue taffeta — truly a "princess" dress.

French-Canadian Designer Stresses Individuality In Gowns For Spring Brides

Gaston Mallet is a young French-Canadian designer, now in New York, who believes that all brides are beautiful, but that some are not given a chance to prove it. For several seasons now, under the encouragement of his friend and employer, Murray Hamburger, he has been working to give every bride the kind of wedding gown that will make her as beautiful as she has the right to be.

Mallet does not believe that every wedding gown must look just like every other—a theory that was widespread among bridal dress manufacturers until recent years. His collections present more than a score of completely different designs twice a year—some simple, some elaborate, some tailored, some romantic—so that almost any bride can find the kind of gown exactly right for her type.

This spring Mallet has two themes. One is the little girl look which he likes for the very young bride. The other is strictly fabulous and definitely romantic, designed for the glamor bride.

In the latter category is a magnificent gown of delicately etched white Swiss shadow printed organdie over blue taffeta. Cut on princess lines, it has a modest neckline, short cover-up sleeves and a skirt that flares into a misty froth of fullness, with a full cathedral train.

Shower Plans Upset By Stork

DUNSMUIR—A shower, with the guest of honor absent, was given for Mrs. Vincent Congi at the Hotel Dunsmuir on Monday evening. Mrs. Congi became the mother of a baby boy last week which interfered with the party plans.

Hostesses at the shower were Erminia Mariana, Erma Nystrom, Elmes Leonard and Louise Simonet. Twenty-five guests were invited to the party.

Mrs. Congi has recently returned to Dunsmuir to stay with her father, Wayne Davison, until her husband, Lt. Vincent Congi, receives his army discharge. Lt. Congi expects to join his wife and son here shortly after the middle of the month. The baby has been named Victoria.

Madhouse Players Hold Spring Party

LAKEVIEW — "Springtime in Paris" was the theme of the Madhouse Players' annual Beau Arts costume ball on March 10 at Hunters Lodge.

Large murals of street scenes, gay awnings and small cafe tables made the backdrop for the floor show given by members of the Madhouse Players, at intermission time.

Four first prizes were presented to Mrs. Kenneth Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilkerson and Dr. M. P. Vogel for the best costumes.

THE SCORE

The slim-cut tie is practically a "must" with the natural look suit. This becomes crystal-clear when one bears in mind that with this type of suit, a wide tie would practically cover up the small amount of shirt showing.

GOING TO SEE his daddy is 1-year-old Donald Robert Olson Jr. whose very first birthday was on February 24. Donald and his mother, the former Sally Thompson of this city, expect to join Specialist First Class Donald Robert Olson, serving at a unit supply sergeant with the 2nd Evacuation Hospital in Germany. He has been in school in Munich since December and will remain overseas for three years. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. Ernest Thaller, 1260 Madison Street, this city and J. W. Thompson, Eugene, 1912 Lancaster, Klamath Falls. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barrett, Wocus.

New Combination For Deep Fat Fry

If you're the owner of a deep fat fryer, you've probably been having a good time preparing interesting treats for your family. Here's a new recipe to try—Calavo Tuna Crispettes. A mixture of tuna and cubed avocado is held together with a thick cream sauce; then shaped into balls, rolled in crumbs and fried in deep fat. Tuna and avocado are delicious together in these crisp golden balls.

CALAVO TUNA CRISPETTES
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 large Calavo avocado
2 (6½-ounce) cans tuna
1 cup finely chopped celery
Soft white bread crumbs
2 eggs

Deep fat for frying
Melt butter and blend in flour. Add milk and salt, and cook and stir until mixture boils and is thickened. Chill. Meanwhile cut Calavo avocado into halves lengthwise and remove seed and skin. Cut fruit into cubes. Flake tuna. Blend avocado, tuna and celery into chilled mixture. Shape into balls. Roll in bread crumbs, dip in beaten eggs and roll again in crumbs. Drop into hot deep fat and fry quickly to a golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot.

Serves 6 to 8.
