

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER for the family or friends can feature a "quicke" salad made with packaged pre-cooked rice as its base. The garnishes can be a challenge to your imagination. Serve hot cornbread squares, split and buttered (and don't make the cornbread too thick), for a nice touch with the salad. And of course you'll want to open one of your recently made jars of jam or jelly since the new pectin makes jelly and jam-making so easy without losing any of the fresh flavor of the fruit. This photo and recipe courtesy Minute Rice.

SHEETS Buying sheets? Remember that the lengths shown on labels describe the sheets before they were hemmed. Subtract about five inches from the label figures to allow for the amount used in the hem.

SHIRTS There is about 26 cents worth of raw cotton in a shirt. It takes about 15 processes to bring the raw cotton to the counter of your favorite store in the form of a shirt, each process generating employment for capital and labor.
