

YOU DON'T RECOGNIZE THIS PLACE? . . . well that's altogether understandable because it's a portion of the completely remodeled and redecorated Ponderosa Room in the Willard Hotel. Being in full accord with the Ponderosa theme, the interior is complete with artificial trees and new murals depicting familiar mountain scenes. All new fixtures have been custom built for the room, and the dancing area has been enlarged. Manager Marvin Brown points out that a broiler-type food server has been installed and that steaks will be served on thermo-plates. A luncheon counter is also expected to be in operation by the latter part of this week.

James Cagney Rehearses For First Video Show

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Anybody passing a television rehearsal hall off Broadway during the noon lunch break in the past week could hear the patter of a tap dancer's feet to the accompaniment of a piano.

You might have guessed your way through the roster of show business without identifying those feet. They belonged to James Cagney—a remarkably exuberant and youthful-looking Cagney. If you went inside and inquired, you'd learn these things:

Cagney, one of the last movie holdouts against television, was in rehearsal for his first TV show. But don't misunderstand; he does no dancing in it. He was dancing because he enjoys it. He'd literally rather dance than eat. That's why he doesn't eat lunch. Besides skipping lunch, he skips smoking and drinking and hanging around public places. And that undoubtedly is why Jimmy Cagney looks a little different from the first time you saw him in the movies away back when.

To get down to the television facts, Cagney stars tonight on the Robert Montgomery show (NBC-TV, 9:30 p.m., EDT) in "Soldier from the Wars Returning."

He received an Academy Award nomination for his performance in "Love Me or Leave Me," and won "and back in 1950 I promised him Montgomery's for years," he said. "and back in 1950 I promised him that if I ever did a TV show I'd do it for him. I read this script and liked it; it's a good one, a good show. And so I'm doing it."

"Just because I haven't done any television doesn't mean I hate television," said Cagney. "But I've always felt that working in pictures is a full-time job." It certainly has been for him. In the past 18 months he has re-

Super Bomber Tests Slated

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Dallas Times Herald said Wednesday the super-secret Convair B58 "Hustler" is expected to be test flown within a month and Convair officials neither confirm nor deny that the bomber is nuclear-powered.

Convair is a division of General Dynamics Corp., builder of the atomic-powered submarine Nautilus. Faced with questions on the nature of the B58, Convair division manager August C. Esenwein, speaking recently to members of the plant's Management Club, alluded to references that the ship is "a replacement for the B47 or B52."

He called the Hustler "unique," saying "it is the only weapons system of its kind, and a replacement for nothing we now have. It is, instead, a bold and forward step—an entirely new concept."

Pending final approval of the Air Force, the craft is expected to be test flown within a month at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth. Engine tests on the supersonic, delta-winged bomber are expected to begin this week in an isolated development hangar located outside of the main Convair plant. Work on the Hustler began more than two years ago. Since then, Convair has received an Air Force contract to develop an aircraft frame that could support a nuclear power plant.

HORSES GET RICH QUICK

NEW YORK (AP)—Horses can earn money quicker than humans—some horses, that is. This year, for example, it is possible for a top notch thoroughbred to win $100,000 or the greater part of it on any of 26 occasions. Some 100,000 races yet to be run are the United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City on Sept. 15, the Garden State on Oct. 27 and the Washington D.C. at Laurel on Nov. 12. The first such race of 1956 was the Santa Anita Maturity on Jan. 23. The biggest take was $123,450 to D. & H. Stables. Needles for winning the Kentucky Derby.
