

Attack Kills 40 Persons In Mideast

JERUSALEM (UP) — Jordan charged today that Israeli forces killed at least 40 Jordanians Thursday night in an attack that wiped out the desert headquarters of the British-trained Arab Legion.

A Jordanian protest to U.N. truce supervisors said the headquarters at Gharandel, only Jordanian outpost on the frontier between the Dead Sea and Gulf of Akaba, was "totally demolished."

The still incomplete casualty count increased the toll of this week's border incidents to around 75. The Gharandel attack was the most serious to be reported since the Gaza raids that inspired U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's "save the peace" mission last year.

A team of U.N. observers left at once for Gharandel, in the desert 115 miles south of here, to investigate the Jordanian charge.

Jordan said Israeli forces threw blocks across all the roads leading to the headquarters building and then launched their attack. All of the buildings and vehicles at the scene were destroyed.

The attack was over by midnight, and all of the raiders had withdrawn across the border by 1:30 a.m., Jordan sources said.

The Legion, strongest armed force in the Arab world, was unable to get reinforcements to the headquarters in time to block the raid because it is too distant from any other stronghold.

No official comment on the attack could be obtained immediately from Israel, but some Israeli sources believed it may have been intended as retaliation for the killing of three watchmen by Jordanians Thursday.

The Gharandel incident was the first major assault on an Arab Legion post since last year, when Jordan dismissed Lt. Gen. John F. Glubb and the other British officers who organized and trained the Legion, and prevented it from taking part in simmering Palestine frontier violence.

Dunn, who makes the trip by air will have a reunion in Dallas with members of a famous high school football team that won the Texas state championship back in 1924. Fifteen of the 16-man team are still living. Wes Guderian is club president.

National Guard Refuses To Leave Kentucky Spot

By UNITED PRESS

The National Guard refused to budge from an embattled elementary school at Clay, Ky., today despite a Kentucky attorney general's ruling that the admission of two Negro children was illegal.

The 500 troops stood their ground as ordered by Gov. A. B. Chandler to hold back pickets so the children could walk unmolested into the near-empty school. Whites were boycotting it.

It was not immediately known whether the Negro children's mother, Mrs. James Gordon, would again defy the mob and drive them to the school. She said she had not decided.

Chandler's office took no immediate action on the ruling by State Attorney General J. M. Ferguson late Thursday. The Webster County School Board was to meet later today to consider the ruling.

Peace prevailed at other former school integration hot spots but John Kasper, blamed in part for earlier rioting at Clinton, Tenn., told a rally in Birmingham, Ala., that segregationists must stir up more trouble.

Kasper, 26-year-old head of the Seaboard White Citizens Council at Washington, D.C., addressed a crowd of 500, including a few hooded Klu Klux Klansmen, in a rented theater Thursday night. He said true segregationists "want trouble everywhere we can get it."

Kasper told the applauding members of an Alabama White Citizens Council that "a collapse of law and order is near at hand" and predicted some segregationists will die for their cause.

Wheat Soil Bankers Sign

PORTLAND — Oregon farmers are signing up in large numbers for the soil bank program which goes into effect in wheat growing areas of the state next year.

The sign-up began this week, and Morrow County reported nearly half the possible acreage signed up in the first two days for soil bank payments next year. Other wheat counties also reported heavy registrations.

The newspaper, The Oregonian, speculated that one of the reasons for the heavy sign-up was because those in the summer fallow region would be able to gain extra advantage from the program.

The newspaper said that this was because farmers usually leave half their land idle in summer fallow. The other half is the normal growing acreage.

The farmers are planning to withdraw half of that from production and draw soil bank payments for leaving it fallow, the newspaper said.

Then on the half of the farm normally in fallow, the farmers can plant some barley—thus getting their soil bank payments and yet growing a normal-size crop, the newspaper said.

Cadillac

To the Man Who is Hesitating...

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

If you are among them, we hope that you will pause to read the little message that follows. For we are sure you will find it interesting.

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership.

Insofar as original cost is concerned, a Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models, in fact, are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Operating and maintenance costs are also remarkably low. We have heard it said by new owners that Cadillac is the most economical automobile they have ever owned.

And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other motor car in the land.

In short, the great Cadillac car represents one of the wisest and soundest automotive investments on the highway today.

The moral of our message is this: It is still not too late to set things right in a 1956 Cadillac of your own!

We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

Why not come in today?
