Probers Eye Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (UP) — Investigators sought today to learn whether any basic fault caused a B52 bomber crash which took five lives Monday.

The crash near Merced, Calif., and subsequent grounding Wednesday of all B52s came at a time when the Joint Chiefs of Staff were considering increasing the Air Force's planned B52 fleet by more than 50 per cent.

The Air Force has proposed equipping 16 wings with the H-bomb carrying bombers instead of the present - planned 11. To do so it would have to buy about 800 B52s. There now are 500 on order.

So far, Air Force authorities said, there is no reason to suspect that the accident Monday had the same cause as the B52 crash last Feb. 16 which also brought on a temporary grounding order.

Authorities as yet see no evidence of a dangerous pattern of trouble in the 650-mile-an-hour intercontinental jet bombers.
