Fraley Sees Mantle, Newk As MVP Picks

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Regardless of which team wins the National League pennant race, individual honors in both leagues seem sewed up today as far as most valuable player and rookie of the year honors are concerned.

From this corner it looks like this:

AL Most Valuable—Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees.
NL Most Valuable — Don Newcombe, Brooklyn Dodgers.
AL Rookie of Year—Luis Aparicio, Chicago White Sox.
NL Rookie of Year—Frank Robinson, Cincinnati Redlegs.

Maybe you can quarrel with these selections, but it is doubtful if you can beat 'em. The only one which may receive a tussle is Newcombe, and it is possible that he could be bested by Hank Aaron, the probable league batting champion from Milwaukee. But Big Newk looks like a winner.

NO QUESTION

Mantle, of course, will have no contest. He probably will be the American League's second unanimous choice, an honor earned previously only by Cleveland's Al Rosen in 1953.

Mantle is shaded in the batting averages by Ted Williams, with .355 to .350, but still may wind up with the batting crown if Williams

Special Dear Kill Said Low

SACRAMENTO (UP) — The Fish and Game Department reported today a scant 2,500 antlerless deer were killed last weekend in the state's first controversial either sex deer shoot.

Officials said they were "surprised" at the relatively low kill, although not "disappointed." Department officials have advocated augmenting the normal kill of 75,000 deer by up to 150,000 more animals through either sex hunting.

The preliminary figure of 2,500 antlerless deer killed in the coastal counties last Friday, Saturday and Sunday was based on tags returned, plus checking station information. It was expected this figure might be revised upwards, possibly to as high as 5,000.

Hunting pressure ranged from about 25 per cent of that on a normal opening day to above opening day normal. However, the fears that had been expressed in some quarters that rangelands would be overrun with hunters were not justified.

The department reported the incidence of hunting law violations was not much higher than normal during the either sex hunt.

Only one incident occurred over the weekend and this could not be attributed directly to the fact that an either sex hunt was in progress. J. E. McCormick, Paramount, and his teenage son, Kenneth, both were struck by a bullet as they sat by a lantern in their camp Saturday night. The bullet grazed McCormick's back but passed through the boy's body and he was in serious condition.

Seth Gordon, fish and game director, said the low kill of antlerless deer probably was due to several factors:

SAVE TAGS

1. Many hunters decided not to use their B tag for a doe, but saved it for a buck or doe in the late season, which opens Oct. 22.

2. Some landowners, who disapproved of the either sex hunt, closed their property to hunters.

3. Some hunters, fearful of dangerous and overcrowded conditions, elected to stay home rather than risk their lives.

Despite heavy closure of private property in such areas as the Livermore section of Alameda County, in other counties more land than normal was opened to the nimrods. In Orange County, for instance, ranchers had suffered heavy deprivations from high deer populations and opened their land. This also was the case in parts of San Luis Obispo and Napa counties.

Gordon said there had been some complaints from residents that a number of fawns or immature deer had been killed. Gordon admitted this was true but pointed out such young deer make up 90 per cent of the number of animals who are winter killed.

Washington Gals Battle For Golf Win

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP) — All former winners, including 1955 champion Pat Lesser of Seattle, were missing Friday in the semifinals of the Womens National Amateur Golf Championship but Washington State still had two battling teen-agers in the field. Jo Anne Gunderson, 17-year-old Viking from Seattle, met 34-year-old Mrs. Ann Casey Johnson, former professional and four-time Iowa State champion, in the first semifinal match.

Anne Quast, 19-year-old University of Washington sophomore and Western Amateur champion, was matched against 22-year-old Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ontario, an American intercollegiate and Canadian Open champion and former British titleist.

Miss Gunderson made the shot of the day Thursday in the quarterfinals match she won from Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Philadelphia, 1949 Western champion, 2 and 1. After driving into the rough on the 420-yard shot, Jo Anne bangle a 4-wood shot over a pond and chipped in from a measured 65 feet for an eagle.

The tireless and nerveless junior champion (she hustled out to watch other quarterfinal matches after winning hers) was even with par for the 73 holes she had played. She's the youngest player ever to reach the quarterfinals since Marlene Bauer in 1949.

Miss Quast was eliminated in this tournament when she was 15 years old, by Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas. She paid back Polly Thursday in the quarterfinals, 2 and 1—but it wasn't easy.

The Western champion was 3 up after nine holes and then lost the next three to three pars. She settled down to halve the next three holes, then wound up the affair with a pair of birdies.

Feathers To Clash On TV

DETROIT (AP) — Featherweight contenders Miguel Berrios and Ike Chestnut launch Detroit's fall fight season at Olympia Stadium tonight in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

Both are confident of the outcome. Each is gunning for a knockout.

Berrios, a crowding 5-foot-2 Puerto Rican, currently ranks sixth among the 126-pounders. Chestnut, a New Yorker, is ninth. Although Chestnut enjoys a three-inch height advantage and a correspondingly longer reach, the bout shapes up as a take-your-choice affair.

Berrios is fast and strong. He has a thick chest that suggests he can throw a stiff punch. He likes to work inside with hook combinations.

Chestnut is a more orthodox stand-up fighter. He has a spearing left jab and a strong right cross.

Berrios' best fight this year was his decisive trouncing of Flash Elorde last month at San Francisco. Chestnut stopped Carmelo Costa in July for his most impressive victory to date.

Their over-all records: Berrios, 18-6; Chestnut, 22-5-3.

NBC will telecast at 9 p.m. EST.

'Blackout' Move Blasted

MELBOURNE (UP) — The Australian press denounced today the action of the Australian Olympics Committee in "blacking out" TV and theatre newscast coverage of the 1956 Olympic Games.

The editorial attacks backed a large number of film agencies that the committee's restriction would restrict television and motion picture news programs in the United States, Canada, Great Britain and Europe.

All three of Melbourne's morning newspapers displayed page one stories attacking the action of the committee.

"It's unthinkable that there should be an Olympic Games blackout abroad in television and newscasts," the Melbourne Sun Pictorial said.

"What the Olympic committee seeks to gain commercially must be submerged by what everyone hopes will be the best advertising opportunity Australia has ever had.

"Advertising Australia to the world in a good way was one of the prime reasons why Melbourne fought for the 1956 honor. The Olympic Organizing Committee has had ample warning of consequences of its visionless policy.

"If it persists in this then higher authority should step in and give some forceful directions."
