

Eisenhower Tours Iowa Farm Belt; Adlai Attacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Eisenhower — accused by Adlai Stevenson of giving “only half the facts” on world peace—set out today to convince the nation's farmers that “we're doing everything we can for them.”

Eisenhower was billed to make two brief speeches in Iowa—one to farmers attending the National Field Days near Newton, and a second at the Des Moines airport before he flies back to Washington. Next Tuesday, he will make a major farm speech at Peoria, Ill.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, will take his speaking turn at the Newton farm gathering tomorrow at the outset of an 11-state tour.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said in a talk before the National Press Club in Washington that the Democratic chairmen of the Senate and House labor committees blocked hearings even on “some of the relatively noncontroversial” labor proposals by Eisenhower.

Of Stevenson, Mitchell said “the people of the country know the Democratic candidate is promising what Eisenhower has already done” for labor.

The big crowds that turned out to wave and shout greetings diminished concern among some GOP politicians over a possible farm revolt in the politically important Farm Belt.

In other developments: Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall told the National Republican Club in New York that Eisenhower must have a GOP-controlled Congress “so he can

Although applauding Eisenhower's expression of “this country's passion for peace,” Stevenson was critical of the President's references to “the free nation of Viet Nam” and to Formosa as having been “previously written off.”

Speaking before a cheering rally in Silver Spring, Md., just outside Washington, he said that in mentioning Viet Nam Eisenhower “let out the fact that half of that nation, more than 10 million people, has been lost to the Communists.”

Furthermore, he said Eisenhower “must have forgotten that it was President Truman who sent the 7th Fleet to defend Formosa,” the Chinese Nationalist island.

In a Montana-wide radio speech from Missoula last night, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee said Vice President Nixon came up with a “whopper” Wednesday in claiming that the Eisenhower administration's “partnership” policy was the best to accomplish development of power resources.

NO KILOWATTS
“The truth is,” said Kefauver, “that not one single kilowatt-hour of electricity has been produced under the Eisenhower partnership policy.”

Nixon, speaking in Spokane, Wash., last night accused Kefauver of “below the belt, low-road tactics.”

The vice president was aroused by Kefauver's statement two days ago that Eisenhower “has personally been working just as hard against the little people of this nation as those who surrounded him.”

Nixon called this Kefauver statement a “thinly veiled attempt to give the impression that the Pres-
