Yankees, Dodgers Set To Open World Series Tomorrow

BROOKLYN (AP)—The well-rested New York Yankees ruled a stout 7-1 to 5 choice to dethrone the champion Dodgers in the 1956 World Series which starts tomorrow at Ebbets Field but the National Leaguers had plenty of supporters, too.

Bobby Bragan, who gained stature as a manager even in Pittsburgh's three season-ending losses to Brooklyn, picked the Dodgers to win.

"All they have to do is play the kind of ball they played against us in those last three days," Bragan said, "those guys were simply great."

A major league umpire, who will remain unidentified even though he will not work in the series, thought the Dodgers would win "because they are keyed up right now and they have the momentum."

"I've been reading where the Dodgers are supposed to be tired," he said. "Tired of what? Winning? Capturing the pennant on the last day of the season, and the manner in which they did it, was the best pick-me-up they could have gotten."

Whitey Ford was certain to pitch for the Yankees in the opener but Manager Walter Alton was not expected to name the Brooklyn pitcher until after the workout today.

HOTTEST PITCHER
It was believed that Sal Maglie, Brooklyn's hottest pitcher in the stretch, will get the call. Alton wants Maglie to open things up and late yesterday he had just about made up his mind to go with Sal but reserved judgment when the 39-year-old righthander complained of miseries in his shoulder.

"Maglie will pitch if his arm is all right," Alton said. "If not, it will be Clem Labine."

Maglie admitted he felt tired and also complained of a mild stomach disorder but said he only previous World Series start would pitch if Alton wanted him to.

The former Dodger killer's 13-5 record for Brooklyn ranks him second only to Don Newcombe (27-7), who will hurl the second game for Brooklyn against New York's Don Larsen. Sal lost his against the Yankees, failing to go beyond the fifth inning in the 1951

Yankee-Giant series.

Ford, who hasn't pitched since he failed in his bid for a 20th victory last Wednesday, will have a full week's rest. The southpaw ace appeared undaunted by the task confronting him in a park called a left-handed pitcher's graveyard. In Whitey's only series appearance there, in 1951, he was knocked out in the first inning.

"For a lefthander to win at Ebbets Field is a challenge," acknowledged Ford. "But I am anxious to prove I can do it."

Ford said he was surprised when his manager, Casey Stengel, sent him to Ebbets Field Sunday to give the Dodgers a look.

"I didn't learn anything I didn't already know," said Ford, who has two series triumphs over the Dodgers, both in Yankee Stadium.

"I still regard Carl Furillo and Jackie Robinson as the two toughest hitters for me, but I still don't think the Dodgers are tougher to beat in Ebbets Field than the Red Sox are up in Fenway Park. And I have won there."

NO CHANGES
Stengel said he planned no lineup changes. Mickey Mantle, though still bothered by a pulled muscle in his left groin, is a certain starter in center field, as is Billy Martin at second base, despite a back ailment. Enos Slaughter has a bad toe but he will be in left field. Bill Skowron at first base. Andy Carey at third. Gil McDougald at shortstop. Hank Bauer in right field, and of course Yogi Berra, behind the plate, complete the lineup.

NEW YORK (UP)— Facts and figures on the 1956 World Series: Teams — New York Yankees, American League champions vs Brooklyn Dodgers, National League champions.

Winner—First team to win four games.

Series schedule — 1st and 2nd games, Wed., and Thurs., at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn; 3rd, 4th and 5th (if necessary) Fri., Sat. and Sun., at Yankee Stadium; 6th and 7th (if necessary) Mon. and Tues., at Ebbets Field.

Favorite—Yankees, 7½-5. First game favorite—Yankees, 6-5.

First game probable pitchers—Yankees: Whitey Ford (19-6);

Dodgers: Sal Maglie (13-5).

Previous World Series meeting —Yankees won five series (1941, 1947, 1949, 1952, 1953); Dodgers won one (1955).

Rival managers—Yankees: Casey Stengel; Dodgers: Walter Alton.

Television — NBC: announcers Mel Allen and Vince Scully.

Radio — Mutual: announcers Bob Wolff and Bob Neal.

Alton, who said Sunday he may play rookie Charlie Neal at second base, switching Junior Gilliam to left field in place of Sandy Amoros, was uncertain about such a move today.

"Right now I'm leaning the other way a bit and may go with Amoros," Alton said. "Sandy has been hot lately and he may continue that way no matter who is pitching."

Amoros never has started a game when a lefthander opposed the Dodgers this year. The lefthanded hitting little outfielder batted 11 times against southpaw relievers, getting one hit, a triple.

If Amoros plays, the lineup will be: Junior Gilliam, 2b; Pee Wee Reese, ss; Duke Snider, cf; Jackie Robinson, 3b; Gil Hodges, 1b; Carl Furillo, rf; Amoros, lf; Roy Campanella, c; and the pitcher.

All 34,000 tickets for the game have been sold. Those unable to get tickets may see the games on television (NBC) or hear it on radio (Mutual). Game time is 1 p.m. EDT.

Comparing WS Clubs Brings Forth Another Top Classic

NEW YORK (UP)—Ask Casey Stengel what's different about the Dodgers and he'll growl "that there Sal Maglie," but actually the 1956 Dodgers and Yankees, both are different in several ways from the two teams that clashed in the 1955 World Series.

Those changes make it extra tough for anyone to pick the series winner, too, especially when you recall the Dodgers won last year's classic by only a 2-0 score in the seventh game.

Here's how the Dodgers stack up against last year's American League champions:

Pitching: Southpaw Johnny Podres, who beat the Yankees twice, including that 2-0 shutout in the clincher, is in the Navy and no reliable lefty has replaced him. But Maglie, the 39-year-old curveballer, has been added and he was credited by the Dodgers themselves as the "man who won the pennant for us" by winning 13 games. Don Newcombe is the big winner at 27 victories and hasn't the sore arm that sidelined him last fall. Relief ace Clem Labine and Don Bessent are as sharp as ever.

Hitting: Not as strong as last year with only Junior Gilliam in the .300 average class. Roy Campanella, bothered by injured hands, dropped to a .219 mark. But Duke Snider set a club record with 43 homers and Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges both flashed their old power in the stretch drive.

Fielding: The "old pros" have slowed up somewhat but compensated by "playing the batters" superbly. Sure - handed, pressure-proof, they made few errors in the rush to the pennant.

Bench: About the same as last year, which was weaker than Yankee. Young Charley Neal comes in to play second against right-handers and he, Dale Mitchell, and Randy Jackson are the chief pinch-hitters.

Here's how the Yankees compare with last year's team:

Pitching: Stengel admits he has a "problem." Southpaw Whitey Ford (19-6) is top winner but may have to work in little Ebbets Field where Dodgers usually clout lefties. Johnny Kucks (18-9) and Tom Sturdivant (16-8) have emerged as new big winners (as lefty Tommy Byrne has faded), but they're regarded as uncertain quantities against Dodger power. Loss by Ford in the opener could put Stengel in a pinching hole.

Hitting: Stronger than last year with 52-homer Mickey Mantle and 26-homer Hank Bauer minus the leg injuries that hobbled them in '55. Bill Skowron (.308) has taken charge at first base and Gil McDougald (.311) has been a strong, steady hitter.

Fielding: Shortstop Phil Rizzuto is gone, but McDougald has taken his place to play at least as well as Phil did in recent years. Outfielding better, again, because Mantle and Bauer are hale and hearty.

Bench: Generally regarded as stronger than Dodgers with such good hitters, fielders as Joe Collins, Bob Cerv, and Elston Howard available.

The same two managers will be juggling this talent - wrinkled, gabby, wise - cracking Stengel, shooting for his sixth world championship for the Yankees; tall, taciturn Walter Alton for the Dodgers.

Maglie's Work Gets Praise From Dodgers

BROOKLYN (AP)—It is fairly certain that if the Brooklyn brass hadn't reached into the clouds and emerged with an angel, in the person of 39-year-old Salvatore Anthony Maglie, the Dodgers would not be the National League champions today.

For years, Maglie was the meanest and most hated member of the New York Giants, a genuine Dodger killer, the difference between the Dodgers winning and losing at least a couple of pennants. This year, Maglie was still mean and once again, he proved the difference between the Dodgers winning and losing the pennant.

Captain Pee Wee Reese voiced what was in the hearts and minds of all the Dodgers when he said: "I bless the day Maglie became one of us. We wouldn't have had a ghost of a chance without him."

Maglie the magnificent, Maglie the quiet old pro, merely shrugs off the praise of his teammates and his 13 victories, including a no-hitter, since he joined the Dodgers in mid-May, saying:

"I'm glad I helped but I know all along I would if I were given the opportunity."

Maglie took a long time to get where he is. After six years in the minors, he got a chance with the Giants in 1945. A year later he was blackballed "for life" when he jumped the Giants to play in the outlawed Mexican League.

FIRST DAY
By 1950, the year that baseball forgave its prodigals and accepted them back, Maglie was an accomplished tactician. He was 33 years old then. The first day he rejoined the Giants, Manager Leo Durocher remarked: "Get a load of that guy — he looks like the barber at the chain chair." The nickname "the Barber" stuck.

After 3½ brilliant seasons with the Giants that included a 22-game victory season one year, 45 consecutive scoreless innings another year, and 21 of his 23 triumphs over Brooklyn, Maglie hurt his back. Although he won his first eight decisions in 1955, Maglie no longer was the Maglie of old. He lost five of his next six decisions and the Giants decided in mid-season he was expendable. They wanted to be relieved of his $35,000 salary and he was waived out of the National League for the nominal $10,000 waiver price.

When the Indians disposed of him to Brooklyn for the same $10,000 fee on May 15, everyone wondered how the old Dodger would get along with the Braves. He was supposed to be all washed up. Odds against a comeback were big. But Maglie fooled them all. The first hint that Maglie was his old menacing self again came early in June when he shut out the Braves with three hits. He has been the Maglie of old ever since.

"What can we lose?" said one high official. "Seixas and Richardson have shown time and again they can't beat Hoad and Rosewall. Let's give the kids a break—the experience would be wonderful."

The U. S. first must play India in Perth in mid-December before qualifying to challenge Australia at Adelaide starting Dec. 26.

LA Gridders Arrested On Theft Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gerry McDougall, senior tailback on the UCLA football team, was arrested on suspicion of burglary Monday during football practice.

Another UCLA student, Richard E. Molen, 23, was booked with McDougall on the complaint of a woman who said she saw them carrying a clock radio and a record player from her apartment near the campus.

The woman, Fay Diane Gordon, who said she was in the apartment house swimming pool when she observed the incident, furnished police with a description of the car in which the two left.

Officers William Koivu and Michael Regan said they found the car, registered to McDougall, with Miss Gordon's record player in the trunk. The radio was found in Molen's home, the officers said.

They quoted McDougall as saying: "I've never been in trouble before. It's a misunderstanding. We did it as a practical joke. We didn't figure they'd call the cops."

"I'm not sweating. This thing will be cleared up in the morning. After all, we were going to take the stuff back Tuesday night."

McDougall is a senior who has elected to play the last five games of the UCLA season under the conference ban limiting Bruin senior competition.

Oklahoma Again Leads Poll Vote; Michigan State Next

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With a string of 31 straight victories behind them and the end hardly in sight, Oklahoma's Sooners are the nation's No. 1 college football team until someone proves they're not.

The nation's sports writers and broadcasters voted Oklahoma into the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press ranking poll for the second week of the 1956 season. The Sooners also were the pre-season choice.

The seasonal debut of the Big Ten Conference teams, many rated high in the pre-season picks, had a distinct effect on this week's ratings. But Oklahoma, first on 60 of 97 ballots, still dominated. After whipping North Carolina 36-0 in the season opener, Oklahoma polled a total of 883 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second.

Michigan State, returning to its pre-season second rating on the strength of a 21-7 victory over Stanford, drew 17 first places and 773 points. Then came Georgia Tech, second a week ago, with 662 points. Tech has won two games, coming through a 9-7 squeaker against Southern Methodist last Saturday.

Others in the first ten, which included two new members and in an entirely different order since last week, were Ohio State, Michigan, Mississippi, Pittsburgh, Texas Christian, Tennessee and Southern California.

Michigan, a smashing winner over UCLA in its opener, advanced from 13th place to fifth. Tennessee, not even in the first 20 last week, gained recognition by whipping Kentucky.

There's little trouble in sight for top-ranked Oklahoma. The next opponent, Kansas State, already has been beaten twice.

Michigan State vs. Michigan is this week's big one. Then Ohio State faces Stanford in a game that should indicate the balance of power in the Big Ten race. Georgia Tech has an open date. Mississippi plays Houston. Pitt tackles California. TCU meets Arkansas. Tennessee meets an old rival, Duke, and USC visits Wisconsin.

The top ten teams with first place votes and win-loss records in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1. Oklahoma (60) (1-0) 883
