CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO — Grains showed little change throughout most of a quiet session on the Board of Trade Wednesday. Wheat maintained a steady tone as did corn and oats. Steadiness in wheat was attributed to buying influenced by the continued drought in the Southwest. Another factor was a government report showing that larger than expected quantities of 1956 crop wheat is being placed under price supports. Wheat closed 1/4 to 1 cent higher. December 2.27 1/4, corn 1/4 to 1 cent lower, December 1.35 1/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, December 75 1/4, rye 1/4 to 2 cents higher, December 1.50 1/4, soybeans 1/4 to 1 1/4 higher, November 2.30 3/4 and 2 to 15 cents lower, October 11.57.

Adolf Hitler's Sister To Write Memoirs Of Family

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany — Adolf Hitler's sister said today she is writing her memoirs to her family straight. "And the readers will forgive me if I abstain from depicting my brother at all costs as a wicked character, just for the sake of profit," she told a reporter. "I must complete these memoirs. I owe it to the memory of my parents to tell the truth. So many distorted stories have been written in the past war years that I have to set some facts straight about my parents, my youth and my brother." Paula Hitler, whose name was changed to Paula Wolf on Hitler's orders in 1936, was interviewed at her home in this Alpine resort city. She said she had been using the name Wolf for some time before 1936 because "I never liked to show off."

Man Suffers Minor Burns

N. S. Norton suffered minor burns about the face and left arm early Monday night when the oil stove in the Sprague River cabin he was occupying exploded. He was treated at the Klamath Valley Hospital and reported in good condition Tuesday. The cabin and furnishings were completely consumed by the ensuing blaze. Firemen from Beatty and the Klamath Agency report that they were able to confine the blaze to the single cabin. They add that other nearby properties would doubtless have been extensively damaged had there been the least trace of wind. The destroyed cabin was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs.

Suez Canal

The need for further clarification of certain aspects of the Egyptian position. They will continue to work together for a solution on the basis of the principles set out in the 18-power proposals. "Speculation in the press regarding Anglo-French differences is without foundation." The three foreign ministers met with the secretary general for a 90-minute private conversation last night—their first such together since they arrived last week for the U.N. Security Council's current debate on the Suez. Hammarskjold invited the ministers "most directly concerned in the controversy," as his office put it, after the council in its first private session on the Suez crisis failed to resolve the deadlock between Egypt and the Western powers. The West demands international control of the canal, which Egyptian President Nasser nationalized July 26. Egypt insists she can run the waterway herself — and has been doing it since then. — Pineau after the first meeting in Hammarskjold's office said neither side had changed its position. Asked if any progress had been made, he replied, "We weren't trying to make progress. We were only exposing our positions." The Security Council's secret deliberations were in recess until tomorrow afternoon. The council's first secret session yesterday afternoon reportedly was taken up mostly by questions from delegates and answers from Fawzi about Egypt's position.

Washington, Oregon Vote Said To Be Close Drive

By MORRIE LANDSBERG SEATTLE — From the look of things, it's not going to take many votes to tilt the outcome of the presidential race in Washington. What happened here Sept. 11 jolted the Republicans. The state primary that day pointed to a Democratic trend. It also raised a question: Was the key Senate contest a true test on administration policies? Was it a popularity vote between two state personalities? Or a mixture of both maybe? On a swing through the Pacific Northwest, I collected the impression that President Eisenhower is stronger in Oregon than in Washington; that if Adlai Stevenson wins any of the three coastal states, is almost likely to be Washington. Eisenhower's personal popularity should not be underrated. There are issues aplenty, but they're not always uppermost in the minds of Democrats like Louis Serafin. Looking up from his work at a plywood plant near McHeleis, he said he would vote for Eisenhower because "he's really a good man."

What Do Democrats THINK OF "DEMOCRAT" MORSE? HERE IS WHAT A FORMER DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE WOMAN SAYS...

CARPET BAGGER! To the Editor: Senator Morse, our Democratic candidate for the senate, in a pamphlet recently circulated, serves notice that he will abandon the party at any time it disagrees with him. I can well believe him because he has often ridiculed the principles of our party. In his speech over KOIN on March 9, 1944, he said: "We must make clear that the New Deal is leading to the ultimate goal of state socialism; that it is substituting industry by government in place of industry by private enterprise." Senator Morse went all out for Tom Dewey and denounced President Roosevelt as an advocate of "regimentation and scarcity." In a letter to the editor of the North Bend News published February 7, 1952, Senator Morse said: "We just cannot run the risk which would be entailed in four years of a Democratic administration." As late as July 15, 1954, he said in the New York Times that the report that he planned to enroll as a Democrat was "a lie spread by my enemies." It is too plain for words that Senator Morse has no loyalty to the Democratic party or its principles, and that he is using our great party as a mere vehicle upon which to ride into office. As a Democrat and a citizen, I prefer a good Republican to a carpet-bagger Democrat.
