

CRANBERRY-CHICKEN SALAD RING is feminine fare with a flair. While you are a "hunting widow," why not have the girls in for a real "hog-stag" and serve women's food? This rosy-hued luncheon salad combines fresh cranberries and chicken in a bright and appetizing fashion, catering to feminine liking for food that is pretty and good to eat as well.

Luncheon Salad

Gone are the days when frills and furbelows and "something" a la King were synonymous with ladies' luncheons. But it's still fun to plan fare that's frankly feminine — and that means it has to be pretty as well as good to eat. High on the list of feminine favorites are party-perfect molded salads. And, with the fresh cranberry season in full swing, what could be more colorful than a rosy-hued ring of tangy berries combined with chicken and crisp celery? Artfully seasoned it is, too, to bring out the full tart-sweet tang of fall's most versatile fruit, which, as always, complements the blander chicken.

CRANBERRY LUNCHEON SALAD
 4 cups fresh cranberries
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 2 tablespoons water
 1 cup diced celery
 1 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey

2 tablespoons horseradish
 Dash aromatic bitters
 1 teaspoon grated onion
 In a saucepan combine cranberries, sugar and water. Cook until berries pop, about 10 minutes. Soften gelatin in mixed lemon juice and water, stir into hot cranberry mixture until dissolved. Cool cranberry-gelatin mixture, then place in refrigerator to chill until very thick. Stir diced celery, chicken and seasonings into chilled cranberry mixture. Spoon into 5-cup ring mold (or 10-12 half-cup molds) and chill until firm. To serve, unmold on platter and fill center with deviled eggs and/or chopped crisp greens. Make: 8-10 servings.

Creamy Salad Dressing — Fold together 1 cup rich mayonnaise and 1/2 cup heavy cream stiffly whipped. Season to taste with favorite herb or spice. Makes about 2 cups dressing.

FLOWERS

Use an uneven number of flowers for an arrangement to give a better balance than an even number.

Ham and Rice For Quick Meal

Those days just before payday can present problems when it comes to filling the family with appetizing food. We all keep cans and packages of things on the shelves and one of the standbys, of course, is rice.

Here is a recipe from the test kitchens of Borden Company for using left-over ham in a mustard sauce made with instant nonfat dry milk, served over fluffy rice.

Instant nonfat dry milk answers many needs of the American homemaker—it is extremely economical, it is exceptionally nutritious and it is most convenient and versatile. The family-size package makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for as little as seven cents a quart. To meet the individual family's needs there also are two other sizes—a one-pound package which makes five quarts of nonfat milk and a pre-measured package with three individual envelopes, each making one quart of nonfat milk.

Instant nonfat dry milk liquefies immediately, even in ice water. Use it as you use milk—for drinking, cooking and baking.

CREAMED HAM DELUXE

(Makes 6 servings)
 2 tablespoons butter
 1 medium-size onion, chopped
 1 medium-size green pepper, chopped
 2 cups liquefied instant Starlac nonfat dry milk
 6 tablespoons flour
 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 2 cups diced, cooked ham
 Melt butter in top of double boiler; saute onion and green pepper in butter until tender but not browned. Remove from the double boiler; set aside. Pour liquefied instant Starlac nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; add mustard; sprinkle flour and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Add onion mixture and ham; cook, stirring occasionally, 7 minutes. Serve over fluffy rice.

FOOD BUDGET BALANCING is easier through the use of such dishes as this Creamed Ham Deluxe. It is made with left-over ham combined in a tasty mustard sauce made with instant Starlac nonfat dry milk and served on fluffy rice. Ham, rice and nonfat instant dry milk are fall harvest plentiful. The time element is cut, too, when quick-cooking Minute Rice is used.
