

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS SEVEN

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
I think perhaps we'd better talk a little today about foreign affairs. Foreign affairs CAN be far more important than the yack-yacking of the professional politicians in an election year. Back of foreign affairs, you know, is always the possibility of war — and war is more important than anything else.

War is life and death. There is a little cloud on the horizon of the news. It is in Poland. It is presently no larger than a man's hand. But it might grow.

This is the cloud: The communist party of Poland has reinstated Wladislaw Gomułka as a member of its central committee. Gomułka is a former first secretary of the Polish communist party who was charged with being an anti-Stalinist in the Tito manner and spent seven years in prison. He was released as a part of the anti-Stalinist pose of the Kremlin.

The Polish communist party's leaders are expected to demand an INDEPENDENCE FROM MOSCOW that could affect the future of the whole Soviet bloc of nations. Krushev is reported to be in Warsaw (Poland's capital) trying to calm the Polish communists down and get them back in line.

Why is all this important? Well, for one thing, it is happening in Poland. The Poles have back of them a long and grim and terrible history of oppression — largely at the hands of Russia.

And — Down through the centuries — The Poles haven't hesitated to revolt and DIE. If need be, whenever they felt that death was better than the kind of life they were being compelled by their oppressors to live.

They might do it again. Russia, posing falsely as the friend of colonial peoples everywhere, has under her bloody thumb the greatest colonial empire in the modern world. These colonial peoples, known as Russia's satellites, are kept under Russia's thumb by military force. There is ample evidence that they are unhappy with their lot and are held in submission ONLY BY FORCE.

This is the point: Russia will not dare to start a world war as long as she fears that her satellites are waiting only for a moment of weakness on Russia's part to REBEL AND SET UP ON THEIR OWN.

It is true that it is communists who seem to be stirring up the trouble in Poland. But keep this in mind: They are POLISH communists. NOT Russian communists. Over the long centuries the Poles have proved often enough that when oppression becomes unbearable they are willing to risk death to get rid of their oppressors.

Watch it. These Poles might provide the final proof that the Russian brand of communism is so foul that eventually it must fall of the weight of its own foulness.

ard L. Neuberger of Oregon. It was held in the circuit courtroom of Klamath County Courthouse.

Under terms of Public Law 587, passed by the 83rd Congress in 1954 liquidation of the reservation and disposal of tribal assets is set for August 13, 1958.

The most significant development during the all-day session was the support voiced by representatives of many diversified groups for the recommendations of Management Specialists T. B. Watters, Klamath Falls, and E. G. Favell Sr., Lakeview, for termination postponement.

The specialists pointed out in their report to the committee that Section 5 of Public Law 587 was a last-minute compromise between representatives of the principal tribal factions and, therefore, is a radical departure from any method which had previously been considered for converting tribal assets into cash.

NO OPPORTUNITY
The specialists also said this section became a part of the law as a last-minute amendment during the closing days of the 83rd Congress. Neither county nor state officials, they said, had an opportunity to examine the final provisions of this revised section prior to passage of the act.

This is one of the reasons why the specialists advocate delaying termination. They also informed the committee they had been advised by lumber experts that dumping this vast tract of timber on the open market would have harmful economic effect, not only to the Klamath Basin, but the entire state.

Senators Murray and Neuberger and the Klamath Tribal Executive Council agreed with the recommendation of the management specialists that the federal government should reimburse the tribe in the amount of $154,932 which was taken from Indian funds to pay termination costs to date. The government also would be required, in their proposal, to pay any additional costs of termination.
