Coffee and Campaigning Are Good Combination Says Congressman Coon

Congressman Sam Coon drinks a lot of coffee, but still likes it. In fact, he usually has a third or fourth cup before the morning is over. This is partly of necessity, however. During the political campaign Coon attends countless coffee hours throughout his second congressional district. He isn't quite sure how many it has been in the two and one-half months he has been campaigning to date. But he does admit that he's mixed a lot of coffee with his politics in that time. The lawmaker attended 13 of the one-hour sessions in just two days last week while he was in Klamath Falls. Coon says that he got in practice drinking coffee "out in the cow camps, where the brew was a lot stronger than it is now." He was a cattle rancher for over 22 years in Baker County. The congressman is very much in favor of the coffee hour, which has pretty much replaced the political rally and mass meeting as a campaign technique. "It gives the ladies a chance to meet the men they are going to vote for, or against," he says. "I also think that they probably are more interested in the candidates and issues than the men are. This is shown by the fact that a larger percentage of them vote." The record number of coffee

Sue Vandenberg Weds Phil Lynch October 6 In 10 a.m. Nuptial Mass

A Nuptial Mass celebrated in Sacred Heart Catholic Church at 10 a.m., October 6, united Susan Patricia Vandenberg and Philip Lynch in marriage. The Right Rev. Monsignor T. P. Casey officiated at the impressive morning ceremony in the presence of some 500 wedding guests, approximately 200 of them from out of town. The marriage also united two well known Oregon families. Sue is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. David R. Vandenberg, 237 Washington Street; and Phil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Con Lynch, Lakeview. Floral decorations in the church were all-white—the bride's choice for her wedding. Twin candelabra with white tapers were background for the arrangements of white gladioli, stock and snapdragons. Escorted by her father, Sue walked down the aisle in a story-book gown of white Chantilly lace over gleaming satin. The sculptured bodice of lace was made with long sleeves, snug and pointed at the wrists. The simplicity of the skirt front was in sharp contrast to the back treatment, which featured alternate tiers of lace and frothy net ruffles cascading from the dropped waistline into a sweeping chapel train. Satin and seed pearls outlined the shallow-scalloped close-fitting bandeau which held the fingertip veil of nylon net. All-white also prevailed in the small bridal bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and stephanotis. Cecile (Celle) Vandenberg, the bride's youngest sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Breda Lynch, sister of the bridegroom, Lakeview; the bride's sister-in-law, Muriel Vandenberg (Mrs. David R. Jr.), Portland; Judith (Judy) Vandenberg, this city; and Mary (Mrs. S. J.) Neilling, Portland, both sisters of the bride. Jim Lynch, best man for his brother, and two of the ushers, Jerry Hamilton, Portland; and Charles Huggins, Salem; are Alpha Tau Omega fraternity brothers of the bridegroom. The other two ushers were Sue's brothers, David R. Vandenberg Jr., Portland; and John Vandenberg, who lives here. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore American Beauty red nylon tulle frocks with tucked bodices, bouffant skirts and satin cummerbunds. Hair bandeaus were of matching feathers; and each carried a bouquet of white carnations and American Beauty roses. Patricia O'Leary, vocal soloist, was accompanied by organist, Mrs. D. C. Hefley. Both mothers chose taffeta dresses for the early October rites. Mrs. Vandenberg wore sea-green with a lustre-pink hat and gloves. Her corsage was of baby orchids. Mrs. Lynch's navy blue sheath was worn with a leather hat in shades of fuchsia; and she also wore a corsage of baby orchids. At the reception in Sacred Heart Parish Hall, Mrs. John H. Martin cut the cake assisted by her sister, Mrs. William Kilkenny, Pendleton. Mrs. Dan Barry, Mrs. Con Flynn, Lakeview; Mrs. Ed Smythe, Rawlins, Wyoming; Mrs. Stewart Endicott, Judge Vandenberg's niece from Coos Bay, poured. Mrs. Gil Hannigan, Klamath Falls, and Virginia Davis Phil was graduated from University of Oregon with a bachelor of arts in business administration. Mrs. John Kott, Eugene, was at the guest book. She is a graduate of Maryhurst College, with a B.A. in piano; and

Dear Mr. Franks

I was pleased to hear of your well-deserved promotion to the Portland office. I know that you will be just as successful there as you were here in Los Angeles.

I was a pleasure to work with you. All of us appreciate your cooperation, especially when it came to service, and support of our public relations programs in business education.

We were particularly pleased with our recent purchase of six hundred Smith-Corona typewriters, Model 88. It is a fine machine and one that will certainly give us service for many years. Mr. Clarence Mann, Head of Typewriter Repair Division, tells me that they have practically no calls for repairs on the Smith-Coronas. I am sure that the schools in Oregon will be as pleased with the Smith-Corona typewriters as we are here.

Best personal regards.
