

IRL Slates New Roster

By FRED HEARD
Editor-in-Chief

International Relations League is the organization at Klamath Union High School, open to juniors and seniors who are interested in discussing the problems and issues of the United Nations to gain a better knowledge and understanding of the world we live in today.

It is the opinion of the IRL that we, as high school students, will soon be accepting leadership in our country, and that we should gain as much knowledge as possible.

In Oregon, we have about 65 high schools and 1400 students in the high school IRL.

The KUHS IRL participates annually in the Southern Oregon District Conferences with Medford, Grants Pass, Ashland, Jacksonville and Myrtle Creek.

It is customary for the OHS-IRL to terminate its years activities with a two day State Conference at the University of Oregon in March.

This year's state wide topic will be "A Model United Nations," in which many schools will assume the role of the various countries and will discuss issues missing on the floor of the United Nations in New York City.

The membership roster for the 1956-57 school year includes: Sandra Adams, Kay Blake, JoAnn Bogatay, Suzanne Brouillard, Darlene Buchholz, Pat Case, Nancy Drew, Judy Ellis, Gary Esgate, Carol Friedrich, Carolyn Garrison, Suzanne Goeller, Sam Grubb, Marcia Hafler, Fred Heard, Cameron Hinman, Mary Lou Kerr, Mary Kidwell, Anne Lancaster, Ralph Miller, Jeanne Morgan, Steve Pong, Eleanor Prock, Roberta Pruitt, Dennis Runge, Dixie Scapple, Tary Schell, Serena Smith, Hugh Swaney, Doug Thompson, Sue Thompson and Norma Young.

CLUBS MEET

The OT-YO-KWA, junior and sophomore Tri-Hi-Y group met last Monday evening. The Kent Tri-Hi-Y club met Monday night. The subjects discussed were based on dues, making projects and a new committee was appointed for another year.

Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y Hold Conclave

By CORINNE ACKERMAN

Representatives of Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y came from Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass, and all other southern Oregon communities, for the annual Tri-Hi-Y Hi-Y Teaching Institute which was held in Klamath Falls on Saturday, October 20. The clubs met at the Klamath Falls YMCA for this meeting.

Kent Tri-Hi-Y took charge of the registration. Those who helped were: JoAnn Bogatay, Carole Morrison, Pat Braniff, Sharon Howe, Donna McDonald, Sandra Gurtler, and Janet Meyer. Pat Case, Mary Horne, and Corinne Ackerman were in charge of the publicity posters.

The purpose of this meeting was to bring together the officers of all the clubs so that they could discuss activities in their various clubs. There were approximately five groups of officers which included presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers, and chaplains. Each group went to a private room and discussed the purpose of their office and what each club had been doing in that office. Many new ideas were presented and several organizations decided to try out the suggestions. Members all feel that the institute helped them all.

Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y are Christian organizations open to all students at Klamath Union High School. There are a great number of active clubs organized, and they are all welcoming any new members.

FORMER KLAMATH UNION HIGH SCHOOL student body president, and currently the nation's youngest daily newspaper sports editor, Clayton Hannon was caught with his typewriter high above Modoc Field by Nugget photographer Richard Norland, as he recorded a play-by-play account of a KUHS football game for his sports section in the Herald and News. Clayton, one of the school's most loyal supporters, was one of his alma mater's most outstanding baseball players. His wife Jackie, another KU graduate, is also an ardent Pelican booster.

Strolling Down Memory Lane

The music swells as the clear amber tones slip through the cool air like the sun's gold rays, lending a climax both stirring and emotional to the closing of a glorious day.

The girl's voice, lilting and sweet, reflects her happiness, giving a portion of her joy to the silent listening world.

With a shout of wonderment she stands aloft, lifting her head like the long-throated clarion. Her song spills forth reverberating from hill to hill.

There she stands, her grey cotton dress lifting with the wind. Her hands, small and restless, move with expressive freedom.

Even the birds hush as she sings, raising a melody filled with gratitude and reverence to her Creator for the beauty of that wonderful day.

SCHOOL SONG

"Mighty Pelicans," official school song of Klamath Union High School was written by Mrs. Helen Hoffman, head of the foreign languages department. The versatile Mrs. Hoffman is also a poet and painter of repute. A volume of her poetry has been published, and she is a sustaining contributor to many magazines of verse.

Agenda Varied For Delta Chi

By CORINNE ACKERMAN
Associate Editor

Delta Chi, advised by Miss Ruby Alloway, is one of the most active clubs in Klamath Union High School. Almost every church in Klamath Falls is represented in this organization.

Formal induction was recently held at the Klamath Temple. Blue and white, the club's colors prevailed in the beautiful decoration of the hall. The Delta Chi emblem was placed before the pulpit in glowing blue and white lights. There were 64 members present with 24 new members inducted. The officers who did the inducting were: Vera Smith, president; John Wright, Jim Phillips, and Swan James, first, second and third vice presidents respectively; Marie Arnold, secretary; Ernie Gentry, treasurer; and Frank Ballard, song leader. These officers wore blue and white robes. Refreshments were served in the church basement with blue napkins used with the words Delta Chi on them.

A film on Fanny Crosby, beloved gospel song writer, was shown at the first meeting of Delta Chi.

A business meeting was conducted with the main topic—the election of a song leader. Members also discussed preparations for the induction.

Mr. John Hicks, a missionary from Japan was present at the last meeting. He told the group about the customs in Japan and about his work there.

Delta Chi has scheduled many more meetings for the year.

KLAMATH UNION HIGH SCHOOL'S News Nugget radio editor, Frank Hodges rates his picture in this week's News Nugget. Baby Pelicans Grow Up Fast

By LEIGH PRICE
Reporter

Our "Mighty Pelicans" were not always so mighty, as evidenced by the picture above. As all great nations must grow from infants, so must schools and, of course, our school bird has grown to the mighty fowl it represents today.

When Klamath Union High School's first graduate, Dr. George Wright, received his diploma in the early 1900's there were no powerful Pelican athletic teams traveling out of our Klamath Basin into the surrounding communities to challenge opposing schools. No music groups journeyed out of town, or state, or gained national recognition as our own band and Cappella Choir has so consistently done.

Crowded halls and lack of classroom facilities only further indicate the need for expansion. And with our growing student body, buildings and increasing environment, so grows out opportunities, advantages and results.

So as one can see, everything must begin, we were once, "Baby Pelicans."
