New Program For Women To Be Conducted At 'Y'

A new program is being offered to women of the Klamath Basin by the Young Men's Christian Association, an exercise program under capable trained women instructors. In announcing plans for the wide-scope program which is offered to both women members of the YMCA and non-members, "Y" officials said that the registration will determine opening of the gym classes. The gym classes will be held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings starting at 10:15 and on Monday and Wednesday evenings starting at 7:30. Mrs. Dean Howell will continue with her advanced class, featuring ballet exercises on Thursday mornings only. Mrs. Paul Buck will conduct two classes a week on Monday and Wednesday mornings for beginners gym activities, featuring healthful exercise and making use of calisthenics. Marion Forsythe, a new member of the faculty at Klamath Union High School physical education department, will conduct the evening classes. Cost will be based on the choice of the class and the facilities used. No class will start until a minimum of 20 women have enrolled. For information on physical privilege costs, call the "Y," TU 4-4149. Reservations may be made over the phone. The Thursday morning class with Mrs. Howell instructor is scheduled to start October 10. This is the advanced group. The Monday and Wednesday night class using all the facilities of the adult health service department of the "Y" is scheduled to start on October 7. The Monday and Wednesday morning class is due to start Monday, October 14, with Mrs. Buck, instructor. Interested persons may become a member of the YMCA, thus paying only physical fees set up as special rates to members, or paying "ala carte" prices for the course, which is 50 per cent more to the non-member. Membership can be secured by signing an application blank and making a contribution to the support of the "Y." There is no stated membership fee. Membership is good for 12 months.

Religion Topic Of Lecture

Mankind's yearning for peace, harmony and freedom can be met only through increased spiritual maturity, Ella H. Hay of Indianapolis, Indiana told an audience here Thursday evening, October 3. The value and importance of enlightened prayer to God cannot be overestimated today, Mrs. Hay stated. Spiritualization of thought and rejection of materialism, she said, are essential to true progress. "Whatever our need on the road to heaven, an earnest desire for spiritual vision, coupled with consistent effort to be good and do good, will open the way," she declared. Mrs. Hay spoke in Fremont School Auditorium at the invitation of First Church of Christ, Scientist. A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, she spoke on the subject "Christian Science: The Practical Road to Heaven." Mrs. Edith Friesen, first reader, introduced her.

PTA NEWS

SHASTA PTA By Mrs. Laddie Toffel Shasta PTA held its first meeting Thursday, September 26, in the school auditorium. The meeting was called to order at 8:25 by Mrs. Floyd Buck, president. The teachers for the year were introduced and presented with a corsage. Elton Fishback, principal, was presented with a boutonniere. The teachers this year are: first grade, Mrs. Puter and Mrs. Llang; second grade, Mrs. Dalls and Mrs. Jansen; third grade, Mrs. Rife and Mrs. Marvin; fourth grade, Miss Hansen and Mrs. Morrison; fifth grade, Mrs. Buckingham and Mrs. McGorth; sixth grade, Mrs. Alm and Mrs. Ochs. Harold Ashley, also presented with a boutonniere, was the guest speaker for the evening. He gave a talk on the water resources of Klamath County. He highlighted his speech with slides he took on his aerial tour of the county. It was voted by the group not to undertake a money making project this year as there is sufficient funds available to handle the budget. J. M. Woodward and Bill Kunz were appointed chairmen of the Dad's Night arrangements. Refreshments were served by the executive committee. Shasta School played host to the county council in the school auditorium Tuesday, October 1, at 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. John Putnam presiding. Bill Clark, of television station KOTI-TV, was the speaker for the day. He explained the "do's and don'ts" of presenting a program to a viewing audience. This will be of great help when planning our "PTA in Action" presentation.

Plans Made For Workshop

LAKEVIEW — With a good representation signed up so far for the Leadership Workshop, sponsored by the Oregon State Extension Service, on October 7, 8 and 9, County Agent Oris Rudd and 4-H Club Agent Al Haslebacher are going ahead with preparations for the meetings to be held during those three evenings. The agents are reminding those already signed up of the necessity and desirability of planning to be present for all three meetings and promptness in starting each session. All members of the steering committee will act as greeters for all sessions with the following people to be responsible for seeing that greeters are properly placed and on the job: Mrs. Mildred Scoville for Monday night; Mrs. Margaret Kaley for Tuesday night and Mrs. Erna Clause for Wednesday night. Mrs. Janet Nunley and Mrs. Jane Tracy will take care of registration. The local agents will make necessary arrangements for meeting rooms at the courthouse, and a coffee break.

Bazaar Set By Church

LAKEVIEW — Starting at 7 p.m., Saturday, October 19, the annual St. Patrick's Parish Bazaar will be held at the parish hall. The usual games, booths and other entertainment for children and adults have been planned under the sponsorship of the Altar Society and Knights of Columbus. Proceeds of this year's fundraising project will go toward a building fund for a new parochial house in Lakeview. Although a dinner will not be served this year as has been done previously, there will be coffee and sandwiches served during the evening by the Altar Society. The bazaar is open to the public.

Sacred Heart Notebook

By ANN SARGENT Convening in the SHA Chapel on Wednesday during activity period, Sodalist read the Little Office of the Immaculate Conception, led by Prefect Maureen Novak. After the prayers, Maureen presided over the fourth meeting. The Marian Award and a sodality project were among the business discussed. As an aid to working toward the Marian Award, the members received self-analysis rating charts checking their spiritual activities over a period of 24 weeks. These reports will be due on March 12. A play, a radio skit, or a youth week assembly were the activities suggested for a future project. Margaret Colwell presided over the Trojan Pep Club meeting held on Tuesday during the activity period, with Sister M. John Magdalen as adviser. Members were asked to buy maroon socks to match their uniforms and to practice two songs—"Hail, Trojans, Hail" and "Trojans, Trojans, Trojans, Trojans." It was announced that, starting on October 8, the Girls' Lettermen Club would assemble following the regular Pep Club meeting. Holy Hour, which was presided over by Rev. Austin Cribbin on Thursday in the Sacred Heart Church, was attended by the grade and high school. During the devotion, he spoke to the SHA students on St. Margaret Mary, the promises of the Sacred Heart, and the nine First Fridays. Invited to participate in Play Day on October 23 at Klamath Union High School, SHA Girls' Lettermen and PE students joined in competitive recreation. Presenting the monthly movie last Friday in the auditorium, sophomores sponsored this activity for the benefit of the hop. SHA students viewed "The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," starring Dan O'Herlihy and James Fernandez. Christmas cards are now being sold in the junior room for the purpose of raising funds for the prom.

MRS. ELSIE YARTER, president of Quota Club International, will be the guest of Quota Club of Klamath County during the District 14 conference being held here on October 11-13. She is the 28th president of Quota International and has served as lieutenant governor and governor of the ninth district (Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico) after being president of her home club at Cheyenne. She has served as first and third vice president of Quota International as well as two terms as a director. She is co-owner with her husband, Edmond, of the Trail Restaurant at Cheyenne, is a member of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority and her interests include the Cheyenne Little Theater, City Panhellenic, Cheyenne Woman's Club and Toastmistress Club.
