

Girls League Party Held In Girls' Gym

By SHIRLEY STILWELL

Members of Girls League attended the annual get acquainted party for Big and Little Sisters Tuesday, September 24, in the girls gymnasium during activity period.

Records were played while big sisters got acquainted with their little sisters and bought refreshments consisting of soft drinks and doughnuts.

JoAnne Bogatay then called the meeting to order and introduced the officers of Girls League and their little sisters. She turned the meeting over to Gail Mollison, president of Dance-a-lot, a sub-club of Girls League, who announced the entertainers.

Marilyn Metler and Barbara Blanchard did a dance skit to the song entitled "Kansas City." Marilyn Swansen, accompanied by Serena Smith, sang "Without a Song" followed by Miss Grant, who did the Charleston. Marilyn Swansen and Sandra Langslet, accompanied by Serena Smith, sang "True Love."

Gail then closed the meeting by urging everyone to attend future meetings of Girls League.

Girls League, Klamath Union High School's oldest club, is kept busy helping less fortunate, giving faculty teas, selling candy during noon hour to finance the spring formal and planning entertaining programs for their meetings.

Future activities of Girls League consist of their first business meeting of the year October 8, three style shows, one for downtown merchants, home economics department and the spring formal, March 28, a third annual meeting of Girls League and Girls Alliance, a talent show and a Girls League week.

Every girl in the student body belongs to Girls League which is advised by Mrs. Druecker who handles all business matters.

German Club Holds Meet

By SANDRA SPEAR

Associate Editor

German Club's first meeting of the year was called to order by Steve Reeder, president, September 23 in room 219 of Klamath Union High School with the club's motto. Students attending were Eleanor Prock, Serena Smith, Jim Phillips, John Mitzel, Sandra Gurtie, Mary Irving, JoAnn Geiss, George Flitteratt, Marla Wood, Sandra Spear, Roger Schindkensen, Betty Riffey, Gary Esgate, Linda Yuen, Patsie Patterson and Mr. John Kuebler, advisor.

It was decided to speak five minutes of German at every meeting, the same as last year, with the addition of a five cent fine if English is spoken unnecessarily. Leah Hill was elected reporter for school publications. The meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were served while the members sang native German songs.

IRL Studies UN Problem

Thirty International Relations League students and interested persons listened to Mr. and Mrs. Vargha from Hungary, September 23 at 8 p.m. Mr. Vargha with Mr. Raymond Labos, Klamath Union High School Spanish and French instructor, as interpreter, told the group about the "Freedom Fight" in Hungary last fall.

This year again the local IRL will study about the UN and its problems and accomplishments. Members of the group will attend a fall conference on "Problems of Conducting a Model UN" in Medford. In March of next year 15 local students will represent KUHS at the All-Oregon High School Model UN to be again conducted on the University of Oregon campus. This year KU has been given the role of Great Britain and must study all the problems and presentations she might make in the UN at this time.

Senior class members of the club will be chosen as the year progresses to represent England.

All members of IRL will have a chance this year to present panels on various world questions and problems of international scope.

Mr. Paul Deller, U.S. history and civics instructor, is the advisor of KUHS International Relations League.

Druecker Serves KUHS 13 Years

Mrs. Loretta Druecker's encouraging smile and helping hand has been of great value during the past three years in which she served as advisor of Girls League. She has been placed in charge of all Girls League business matters and also the sub-club, S.O.S.

Upon graduation from the University of California, Mrs. Druecker began her teaching career in Dunsmuir High School. For 13 years, she taught in various grade and high schools throughout Northern California. Among the most memorable and enjoyable times of her teaching career was the four and one-half years spent teaching the Pitt River Indians.

During the war in 1943, Mrs. Druecker moved to Klamath Falls and began teaching in Klamath Union High School in 1944. She received her masters degree from the University of Oregon. Since her arrival at KU, 13 years ago, she has taught English until this year. She is now teaching U.S. history and world culture.

Industrial Class Gives Essentials

By CHUCK JARRETT

Mr. Harold Teale, auto-mechanics instructor, was taken by surprise one night after school as he barged in on him shattering the quiet solitude at the end of a hard day's work.

Upon noticing the many tools, pieces of equipment and many automotive parts, the questions flew at him thick and fast.

Mr. Teale stated that this was an industrial arts class not a vocational course. This course is as complete as necessary with cut-aways, visual aids, texts and the various tools needed to supplement the course. All tools and visual aids are supplied by the school but Mr. Teale encourages all of the 90 boys taking the course to bring their own parts to work on. The students pay for their own parts. This course not only teaches the fundamentals of auto-mechanics but affords the boys the practical experience of working with their own cars.

Senior Activities Revealed; Class Officers Nominated

By CHUCK JARRETT

Mr. Carlson, principal, addressed the senior class with a few pointers concerning the forthcoming year during their first class meeting, Tuesday at 3:10 in Pelican Court.

Mrs. Noggle, the senior class advisor, told of senior class activities to take place during the 1957-58 school year. First on the agenda will be the visitation of representatives from various colleges who will speak to the seniors. Also expected are the campus visits where the students go to the various campuses. Also, the annual skip-day and dress-up-day is to take place later in the school year. The Junior-Senior Prom finds its place on the senior calendar sometime in late spring. A senior event such as the senior class banquet is not to be overlooked either. Mrs. Noggle added that senior girls will attend the Business Professional Women's dessert and the American Society of University Women's tea to be held in spring.

Last on the program came the nominations of senior class officers who will battle in the primary to be held soon. Nominated for the presidency were Micky Carney and Hugh Swaney; Gilbert Roberts, Sam Grubb and Bob Niles were nominated for the position of vice president. Pat Carroll, Deanna Southard, Norma Young and Phyllis Crabtree are nominees for secretary-treasurer. Nominated for secretary and treasurer were Pat Wilson, Ron Phair, Janet Meyers and Swan James.

Mathematicians Club Converse Problems

Math Club is open to Klamath Union High School students who are taking advanced mathematics and who wish to learn about or discuss mathematics which cannot be covered in the classroom.

At monthly meetings members hear speakers on subjects related to mathematics or do actual work on difficult math problems.

Mr. Leslie Fisher is a co-sponsor of this club and Mrs. Letha Shannon also takes a large interest.

Did you know there are 81 speakers in Klamath Union High School?

Student Councils Meet; Confabs Huge Success

Klamath Union High School entertained approximately 200 delegates from 34 Southern Oregon high schools during a student body councilmen conference.

Officers from student councils throughout region 5 were invited to participate in group discussions centered around the theme "The Sky is Our Limit."

Kaye Kidwell, region president, acted as chairman throughout the day's activities. Her aids were vice president, Keith Schroeder of Myrtle Creek; secretary, Jenny Murphy of Roseburg and treasurer, Linda Russell of Reedsport.

Attending delegates conducted meetings and group sessions throughout the day. The banquet, near the end of the convention, was climaxed by the appearance of Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of Southern Oregon College and guest speaker. Following the banquet a dance was held in Pelican Court as the climax to the schedule.

Odds & Ends

By Ronnie Owens

This week I have some valuable information for you, readers, which I happened to discover in an edition of the Seattle, Queen Anne High school paper, the Kuay.

Live light, have fun, be a rowdy!

To accomplish this follow these simple rules: thou shalt not paint pictures of your teacher, get a bucket of paint and paint the teacher. Rule two: thou shalt not chew gum in school, candy is messier and besides, the wrappers make more noise. And rule three: thou shalt not throw paper in the waste baskets, throw it all over the lawn, it's so decorative. Any truth to these?

Step right up and buy your Navy Band Concert ticket! For an enjoyable evening hear this fine band in Pelican Court at KUHS.

Thursday, October 17, Saturday, October 21, Sandra Stone was installed as the worthy advisor of the Rainbow Girls. Congratulations, Sandy!

Well, I guess that about does it for this time, but I'll be seeing you again next week.

No. 20 in a series "People Speak Their Inner Minds About Newspapers"*

WHY DO YOU READ A NEWSPAPER?

"I always glance through the whole paper just to see what is advertised. I like to look for new types of paint, new materials and latest fashions and patterns - and let's see, newer fashions in furniture. I look at much more advertising than I use."

Newspaper advertising serves a primary function of keeping the public informed about changes, and it carries very definite implications of modernity and up-to-dateness.

Our society is one geared to change and modern technology continually producing new products and styles. The newspaper and its advertising is one of the most important communication channels through which information about new and changing things flows.

Appropriately, people think of newspaper advertising as a source of new ideas and keeping up-to-date. In short, newspaper advertising serves a very definite educational function.
