

Yanks' Confidence Shaken With Mantle Out Of Lineup

NEW YORK (UP)—Bob Buhl, right handed pitcher, will hurl for the Milwaukee Braves in the sixth World Series game, Manager Fred Haney said Tuesday. The Braves lead the New York Yankees three games to two, and would win the best-of-seven series if they triumph Wednesday. The teams were idle Tuesday.

The game is scheduled for Yankee Stadium, starting at 9 a. m. PST. Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said Monday that Bob Turley would be his choice in the sixth game. The same two hurlers were the starters in Saturday's contest in Milwaukee. It was won by the Yankees, 12-3, with both hurlers in the showers long before the end.

Haney said he was not able to say if Red Schoendienst, his star second baseman, would be able to play Wednesday. Schoendienst had to leave Monday's contest, won by the Braves 1-0, because of a pulled muscle in his right groin.

Heat was being applied to the muscle Tuesday and the trainer instructed Schoendienst to take it easy.

Haney called off Tuesday's scheduled Braves workout. Almost two inches of rain fell in New York Monday night but the weatherman promised temperatures approaching the 70 mark with fair skies for Wednesday.

The Yankees were in their worst position since they bowed to the Brooklyn Dodgers in seven games in the 1955 World Series.

Their confidence and confidence were shaken for the first time in the series. The almost certain loss of Mickey Mantle was added to Whitey Ford's paralyzing 1-0 defeat yesterday by Milwaukee. The Braves now lead 3-2 in the series.

Although Manager Casey Stengel is frankly pessimistic about Mantle's availability for tomorrow's sixth game, he is hoping his top slugger's sore shoulder mends sufficiently to enable him to swing a bat.

Mantle actually hurt his right shoulder in the first inning of Saturday's game when Red Schoendienst fell on top of him trying to flag down pitcher Bob Buhl's throw in an unsuccessful attempt to pick Mickey off second. Hardly anyone realized Mantle was hurt, even when he was held hitless by Warren Spahn Sunday. But yesterday, just before game time, Stengel announced he was withdrawing the Oklahoma strong boy from the starting lineup.

Stengel explained that the Mick's shoulder had stiffened considerably and it hurt him when he swung a bat. "As for throwing," Stengel added, "he can't do that at all." Mantle did get into the game yesterday, but only as a pinch runner, in the eighth inning, and was promptly cut down trying to steal second.

The Yankees received a taste yesterday of what it is like without the bludgeoning bat of Mantle when they were held to seven hits by Lew Burdette (nothing longer than a single). Ford himself yielded only six hits, but three of them came in one inning—the sixth—to account for the only run of the game and result in Burdette's second victory over the Yankees in the series.

Tomorrow's sixth game—the do-or-die game for the Yankees—will pit New York's Bob Turley against Milwaukee's Bob Buhl at Yankee Stadium. Both are right-handers.

Unless Mantle makes a miraculously speedy recovery, Stengel probably will shift Tony Kubek from left to center field and install Enos Slaughter in left.

Haney, hopeful of ending the series by tomorrow, will return to his left-handed lineup.

Haney was not without his worries. Red Schoendienst, his brilliant second baseman, who will be lost for the rest of the series with a pulled groin muscle suffered in the second inning yesterday. Felix Mantilla replaced him.

The best defensive play yesterday was made by left fielder Wes Covington, who robbed Gil McDougald of a possible home run in the second with a leaping catch of a drive to deep left.

The partisan crowd's biggest thrill came in the sixth. Ford and Burdette were locked up in a real pitching duel. Neither side had been able to push a runner as far as third base. The Yankees had touched Burdette for four hits and the Braves had gotten only three off Ford.

Whitey retired the first two Braves in the sixth. Then came the big break. Eddie Mathews hit a slow chopper to the right side. Coleman, usually an alert fielder, waited for the ball to bounce to him instead of charging in for the short hop. By the time he could get the ball and whip it to first, Mathews was across the bag with an infield single. Henry Aaron followed with a bloop single to right that dropped between Coleman and right fielder Hank Bauer, Mathews racing to third. Adeock came through with a line single to right, and Mathews romped across the plate.

NEW YORK (UP)—Facts and figures of the World Series:

Rivals—Milwaukee Braves (National League) vs New York Yankees (American League).

Winner—First team to win four games.

Series standing—Braves won 3, Yankees won 2.

Game scores—New York 3, Milwaukee 1 (1st); Milwaukee 4, New York 2 (2nd); New York 12, Milwaukee 3 (3rd); Milwaukee 7, New York 5 (10 innings) (4th); Milwaukee 1, New York 0 (5th).

Wednesday's game—The 6th, at Yankee Stadium.

Remaining schedule—If Yankees win Wednesday, 7th game at Yankee Stadium Thursday.

Probable pitchers for Wednesday's game — Braves: Bob Buhl (18-7) or Gene Conley (9-9); Yankees: Bob Turley (13-6).

Odds on Wednesday's game — Yankees favored, 3-2.

Odds on Series—Braves favored, 2-1.

Starting time Wednesday — 1 p. m. c. d. t.

Weather forecast—Partly cloudy. Total attendance (5 games) — 272,097.

Five-game financial totals — Net receipts: $1,665,092.11; Players' shares (players share only in receipts of first four games): $709,027.54; Commissioner's share: $249,763.82; American League's share: $176,575.17; National League's share: $176,575.17; Braves' share: $176,575.17.

Television—Via NBC, Mel Allen and Al Helfer announcing.

Radio—Via NBC, Earl Gillespie and Bob Neal announcing.

Herald and News Sports

Sooners Again Top Nation's Football Poll

By DON WEISS
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Sooners may be suffering but their football counterpart in sustained reign, Oklahoma's Sooners, are rolling right along in their accustomed style.

For the third straight week, it's the Sooners No. 1 in The Associated Press college football poll.

Of the 116 sports writers and sportscasters participating in the nationwide balloting, 65 cast first-place ballots for Oklahoma.

On the usual point basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., the Sooners accumulated 1,047 points for a tidy lead over runner-up Michigan State, which had 21 first-place votes and 906 points.

The same teams ranked one-two a week ago and lost none of their luster in their second games of the season, Oklahoma boosting its winning streak to 42 with a 40-14 rout of Iowa State while Michigan State blanked California, 19-0.

Elsewhere, the top 10 line-up underwent quite a shuffling, with Texas A & M moving up to third place followed by Minnesota, Duke, Michigan, Oregon State, Iowa, Auburn and Army.

Army was numbered among the elite for the first time, and just in time to give added meaning to the resumption of the Cadets' series with Notre Dame at Philadelphia Saturday. Army replaced arch-rival Navy, which lost to North Carolina 15-7 and fell from sixth place a week ago clear out of the first 20.

Notre Dame moved up to the 12th spot (from 18th a week ago) after bouncing Indiana 29-0 for its second consecutive victory. Arkansas, 3-0 after a 20-7 decision over Texas Christian, heads the

TIME OUT

"I've seen guys nervous in their first series game, but that's the first one I've seen attempt a steal to the pitcher's rubber!"

By LEW BURDETTE
As Told To United Press

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Today's (Monday) win over the Yankees wasn't as much as a novelty as that first one, but don't get the idea I was bored.

Even when you shutout the Yankees, they generally manage to make life interesting for a pitcher. I had two real anxious moments against them today.

The first one was in the fourth inning when Wes Covington made that line catch on Gil McDougald. And the second one came in the eighth when they had a man on and Elston Howard batted for Whitey Ford.

That Wes is my man. Remember that catch he made on Bobby Shantz to help me win the second game of the Series? The catch he made today was almost as good. When McDougald hit the ball I didn't think it was going that far. But when I saw Wes grab the ball and bounce off the fence I realized McDougald had belted the ball a lot farther than I imagined.

The big moment for me, though, was when I got Howard to strike out with a pitch on the outside corner. When he came up to hit for Ford, I had a vivid picture of that three-run homer he hit to tie up Sunday's game.

Del Crandall, tells me I was sharper today than I was when I beat the Yankees the first time and I go along with him. You can't afford to let up at all when you're operating on a one-run lead and don't forget we didn't get that run until the sixth inning.

For the most part, I threw sinkers, sliders and screwballs today, just as I did in the second game. I don't think I used more than six or eight curves all day.

If I was pinned down, I'd have to say my best pitch was the screwball. That's what I got Harry Simpson on when he hit into double plays in the second and fourth innings.

Now that we've got the Yankees three games to two, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't be able to take them when we get to New York.

And if they need me to pitch another game, I'm ready. All they have to do is holler.

Sooners Again Top Nation's Football Poll

By LEW BURDETTE
As Told To United Press

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Today's (Monday) win over the Yankees wasn't as much as a novelty as that first one, but don't get the idea I was bored.

Even when you shutout the Yankees, they generally manage to make life interesting for a pitcher. I had two real anxious moments against them today.

The first one was in the fourth inning when Wes Covington made that line catch on Gil McDougald. And the second one came in the eighth when they had a man on and Elston Howard batted for Whitey Ford.

That Wes is my man. Remember that catch he made on Bobby Shantz to help me win the second game of the Series? The catch he made today was almost as good. When McDougald hit the ball I didn't think it was going that far. But when I saw Wes grab the ball and bounce off the fence I realized McDougald had belted the ball a lot farther than I imagined.

The big moment for me, though, was when I got Howard to strike out with a pitch on the outside corner. When he came up to hit for Ford, I had a vivid picture of that three-run homer he hit to tie up Sunday's game.

Del Crandall, tells me I was sharper today than I was when I beat the Yankees the first time and I go along with him. You can't afford to let up at all when you're operating on a one-run lead and don't forget we didn't get that run until the sixth inning.

For the most part, I threw sinkers, sliders and screwballs today, just as I did in the second game. I don't think I used more than six or eight curves all day.

If I was pinned down, I'd have to say my best pitch was the screwball. That's what I got Harry Simpson on when he hit into double plays in the second and fourth innings.

Now that we've got the Yankees three games to two, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't be able to take them when we get to New York.

And if they need me to pitch another game, I'm ready. All they have to do is holler.

Washington State Cougars Present Threat For Roses

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—There's Rose Bowl talk in the Palouse country, men! And they mean it.

Washington State, a sad also-ran in Pacific Coast Conference circles for a quarter of a century, has victories over Nebraska and California and a near-miss with Iowa, the Big Ten champion — and the result is an early-season hysteria in Pullman.

"It's hard to believe," says Dick Fry of the college staff, "but when the boys returned from losing that Iowa game in the last minutes of play, there was a line of cars backed up for six miles waiting to greet them at the airport."

"There are only 5,600 people living in Pullman and about the same number attend the college. So out of the 11,000 in the area, we believe about half were out to meet the football team."

Why should a Washington State team that won only three while losing six and tying one last year be a Rose Bowl threat this year?

"We have a running game to go with our passing attack," says Fry.

The Washington State club plays Stanford on Saturday, when California fans will have their first chance for a look at the Cougars.

The club has, for the first time in memory, enough depth so that it has two teams of just about equal strength. The first unit is quarterbacked by Bobby Newman, a 21-year-old junior from El Cerrito, Calif. The other group is piloted by veteran Bunny Aldrich, a 28-year-old father of three children from Honolulu. The clubs move with about equal ability.

An interesting sidelight on the team is the fact that some of the gridgers have illustrious backgrounds. The flanker on the "slot," attack is named Don Ellingsen. He is the son of Carl (Tony) Ellingson, the star left halfback and kicker on the Washington State team that went to the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1, 1931, only to lose to Alabama, 24-0.

Playing guard is 220-pound Angelo Brovelli, nephew of the great Angelo Brovelli, who was a star back at St. Mary's a generation ago.

The major ball packers on the team are Carl (No-Catchie) Ketchie, 174-pounder, who has backed the pigskin 24 times for 109 yards; and fullback Eddie Stevens, who has carried 21 times for 112 yards.

With these five-year varsity carry threats, the way has been opened for better passing results for the quarterbacks. Newman has completed 27 out of 51 for 333 yards and a trio of touchdowns; and Aldrich 10 out of 15 for 132 yards and three scores.

The Cougars had 18 returning

Henry Aaron Collars Yank Hurling Staff

NEW YORK (UP)—A frustrated Casey Stengel conceded that Hank Aaron "has got us by the ears," and the young Milwaukee slugger provided the necessary proof today with a .422 World Series average.

Yankee scouts who looked Aaron over during the final weeks of the regular season came back and reported the best possible way to deal with him was to keep the ball low.

"I know they're pitching me low," said the 23-year-old outfielder after contributing two hits in Milwaukee's 1-0 victory at County Stadium Monday. "But it doesn't bother me especially."

That's quite apparent from the way he has been treating Yankee pitchers during this Series. He leads the Braves not only in batting, but in runs driven in with five and in home runs with two.

"The Yankee pitchers are human," he explains. "They can be beaten. They have a good pitching staff but in my opinion, Brooklyn has a tougher staff. When Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Sandy Koufax at you, it can be a mighty miserable afternoon."

Aaron said he thought southpaw Whitey Ford, the best in Monday's game, was the best Yankee pitcher he had seen in the series.

"Ordinarily, he would have won yesterday's game," Hank said. "But our pitching was even better."

Righthander Lew Burdette, who beat Ford for his second series victory, surprised listeners when he informed them he was ready to go against the Yankees a third time "if the man says he needs me."

Denying he felt any particular weariness, Burdette quipped, "I'll have all winter to rest up."

Left-fielder Wes Covington came in for almost as much praise as Burdette for his spectacular fourth inning catch on Gil McDougald's bid for a homer.

"I never gave up on the ball," said Covington who bounced off the wire fence and tumbled hard to the ground after making the grab. "I don't know whether it would have been a homer or not, but I can sure tell you it would have been close."

The fun-loving Burdette, standing nearby, hollered out, "That's my boy."

Baseball Leagues Seek Deer Hides

With the expansion of the soft-ball-baseball program each summer, and the refinements in the various leagues, adequate financing becomes more and more of a problem. A committee was formed to start deer hide collection project, which it is hoped will result in the collection of several hundred dollars to assist all of the various teams and leagues. The mechanics of this project are as follows:

The Sixty Street Auto Wreckers, Sessler Inc., and Ralph Hunter are local buyers of hides. They have each agreed to act as collection points, process and sell the hides, paying us the market price for the hides we collect. Any individual may take a hide to either of these places, and we will receive credit for it.

As can best be determined, there are less than 5,000 hides sold in Klamath Falls each deer season. This only represents one-fourth of the deer killed in the county, and possibly one-eighth of the deer killed in the vicinity. Other organizations do have deer hide collection programs. Since it is obvious that so many deer hides are thrown away or wasted, the committee feels this is an opportunity to gather many of them without infringing upon or directly competing with some other group.

Each of you is asked to contact each and every member of your team and explain these details, and urge them to ask their friends and relatives, who are not other deer hides, to give use of this program. If delivery of the hides is difficult in any case, the hide will be picked up and delivered by the committee if you will call TU 2-3963. This program will only be effective if each of us does our part in notifying our team members and all of our other deer hunting friends. Upon delivery of the hides to the collection points, please note for which league it is being donated, so that the proper credits can be made when the money is collected.

With your cooperation, this program should result in providing improvements in the finances of each and every league. Thanks in advance for your cooperation.

Signed,
Loren Binney
Bud Atkins
Rob Bonney

Brittleness Is Proving Main Flaw In Mantle

NEW YORK (UP)—Once again the brittleness is proving to be the one great flaw in the otherwise "perfect" ball player — Mickey Mantle.

For no less than the third time in six World Series, the Yankees are playing with Mantle crippled. It's Casey Stengel's sad burden that his otherwise flawless star seems destined to encounter one injury after another.

What makes Stengel's problem more difficult is that it's not bad luck. It's simply that what most other players shake off as a minor ailment, can sideline Mantle for days at a time.

"I was afraid this was going to happen," he said Monday, when he was benched by Casey Stengel. "But I can't play if I can't swing—and that's all there is to it."

Mantle suffered the first of his Series injuries in 1951 when he fell over a drain outlet in Yankee Stadium. He went to bat only five times in that Series and he played only three games of the 1955 Series which went seven.

"I lost one of the last time Mantle wasn't in there," Stengel has muttered throughout this Series. "I don't want that to happen again."

But as matters shape up today, that's exactly what could happen because it doesn't seem possible that the Yankees can beat the Milwaukee Braves without both Mantle and Bill Skowron.

Stengel had hopes that Mantle would make it all the way to this time because he was able to rest him for the last week of the season when the Yankees clinched early. But Mantle—a slow healer—didn't come up for the first game as strong as Stengel thought he would and that's when Casey really started to worry.

"I don't want to alibi," Stengel said Monday even before the Yankees lost. "But I just say I went into this series hoping that both teams would have all their best players available to them for the full extent of the series."

"That's what I'm sorry hasn't happened," he added. "It's no alibi, it's just the truth. Besides, we're not giving up on winning this thing until we haven't got any outs left to us."

Burdette Tells Impressions Of 2nd Victory

By LEW BURDETTE
As Told To United Press

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Today's (Monday) win over the Yankees wasn't as much as a novelty as that first one, but don't get the idea I was bored.

Even when you shutout the Yankees, they generally manage to make life interesting for a pitcher. I had two real anxious moments against them today.

The first one was in the fourth inning when Wes Covington made that line catch on Gil McDougald. And the second one came in the eighth when they had a man on and Elston Howard batted for Whitey Ford.

That Wes is my man. Remember that catch he made on Bobby Shantz to help me win the second game of the Series? The catch he made today was almost as good. When McDougald hit the ball I didn't think it was going that far. But when I saw Wes grab the ball and bounce off the fence I realized McDougald had belted the ball a lot farther than I imagined.

The big moment for me, though, was when I got Howard to strike out with a pitch on the outside corner. When he came up to hit for Ford, I had a vivid picture of that three-run homer he hit to tie up Sunday's game.

Del Crandall, tells me I was sharper today than I was when I beat the Yankees the first time and I go along with him. You can't afford to let up at all when you're operating on a one-run lead and don't forget we didn't get that run until the sixth inning.

For the most part, I threw sinkers, sliders and screwballs today, just as I did in the second game. I don't think I used more than six or eight curves all day.

If I was pinned down, I'd have to say my best pitch was the screwball. That's what I got Harry Simpson on when he hit into double plays in the second and fourth innings.

Now that we've got the Yankees three games to two, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't be able to take them when we get to New York.

And if they need me to pitch another game, I'm ready. All they have to do is holler.

Redlegs Buy Bilko

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Steve Bilko, slugging first baseman for the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League, has been sold to the Cincinnati Redlegs for an undisclosed amount of cash.

The Angels made the announcement Monday.

Brooks Receive Call From Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The Los Angeles city council has finally asked Walter O'Malley for the hand of his darling Brooklyn Dodgers.

The move that had been stewing since last May became a reality Monday when the council—over determined opposition—mustered the necessary 10 votes to transfer the Dodgers west.

In New York, O'Malley withheld comment, but his acceptance of the contract offered by the city was believed in the bag. The Dodger president has until Oct. 15 to make his decision.

Four councilmen opposed the transfer to the very end of the tumultuous, six-hour session. All four said they want the Dodgers, but feel terms of the contract bringing them here are unfavorable to the city.

There was a threat from the camp of the four dissenters of trying to nullify the council action by placing the issue before the voters as a referendum.

Councilmen favoring the Dodger transfer gave this plan little chance of success. Such an election could not be held until next summer, they said, and besides, the city's residents are overwhelmingly in favor of bringing the Bums to Los Angeles.

To bring the issue to a vote, thousands of signatures would be required. The exact number would be determined by the size of the vote in the last municipal election.

Monday's vote was delayed for hours by Councilman John Holland, a bitter foe of the transfer, who charged the city was getting only 1.30th of what it should from O'Malley.

Holland held the floor for hours as he read documents and testimony from his supporters during the proceedings, which were televised locally.

Some of the councilmen took advantage of Holland's soliloquy to pop into a nearby office, where the World Series was on another television channel.

Tension increased, however, when the roll call vote was finally called. Nine of the votes were already committed, but there was some uncertainty on which way Councilman Ransom Callcott would vote.

He responded with an "aye."

Under terms of the contract, the Dodgers would play their games in Wrigley Field until O'Malley builds his team a 50,000-seat stadium on 300 acres of Chavez Ravine land decided the Dodgers by the city.

Then O'Malley gives the city the 10-acre site of Wrigley Field, home of the Los Angeles Angels in the Pacific Coast League, which O'Malley picked up when he bought the Angel franchise last year.

Pirates Keep Top Position In Prep Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Marshallfield, which last week established a Class A Oregon high school football record of 39 consecutive undefeated games, easily retained the No. 1 spot in this week's Associated Press prep poll.

Marshallfield, the defending state champion, has led the poll since it started three weeks ago. This week the Coos Bay school received 17 of the 19 first-place votes and rolled up a total of 187 points.

South Eugene held on to second place in the poll with 164 points.

Milwaukie, No. 3 for the second week in a row, had 154 points, including two first place votes. And Jefferson of Portland was No. 4 again with 110 points.

In last week's games, Marshallfield beat Medford 12-0. South Eugene whipped Roseburg 20-0. Milwaukie routed Astoria 34-6, and Jefferson defeated Portland's Lincoln 28-19.

South Salem advanced from ninth place last week to the No. 5 spot this week on the strength of its 20-0 victory over The Dalles.

Beaverton also climbed—from No. 8 to No. 6—after rolling over Central Catholic of Portland 25-0.

McMinnville, despite its perfect record of four wins and no losses, slipped one notch into seventh place after barely getting past St. Helens, 13-12.

Grants Pass, No. 7 last week, also stepped down one position. The Southern Oregon Conference contender beat Central Point by only one touchdown, 20-13.

Grant, which pulled an upset in beating Benson 20-14 in a Portland League game, made its first appearance in the top 10—in ninth place.

Also making its first appearance of the year was North Salem, which replaced Benson as No. 10.

The top ten teams, with points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis, with won and loss records in parentheses:

Team	Points
1. Marshallfield (4-0)	187
2. South Eugene (4-0)	164
3. Milwaukie (4-0)	154
4. Jefferson (3-0)	110
5. South Salem (3-1)	80
6. Beaverton (3-1)	66
7. McMinnville (4-0)	57
8. Grants Pass (3-1)	52
9. Grant (3-0)	45
10. North Salem (3-1)	38

Others: Medford 41, Springfield 36, Central (Monmouth-Independent) 7, Gresham 5, Pendleton 3, Corvallis, Baker, and Benson 1.

Toronto, Chicago Open NHL Year

By UNITED PRESS

The Chicago Black Hawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs—the two "have nots" in the National Hockey League last season—have the honor of opening the 1957-58 campaign tonight at Chicago.

Both teams missed last spring's Stanley Cup playoffs, the Maple Leafs finishing fifth and the Black Hawks last in the six-team league.

The Canadiens, defending Stanley Cup champions, don't swing into action until Thursday night when they entertain the Black Hawks. That same night the Red Wings play host to the New York Rangers.

The Boston Bruins must mark time until Saturday night when they open their 70-game schedule against Black Hawks at Boston. Other Saturday night games will find the Rangers at Montreal and the Red Wings at Toronto.

Pel Boosters Set Meeting

The Pelican Boosters Club will hold its weekly breakfast meeting Wednesday morning at 6:15 at the Willard Hotel.

KUHS football coach Andy Knudsen will show films of the Klamath Falls — Springfield game of last Friday and will discuss the Pels next game with Vancouver at Vancouver, Washington.

All booster club members and prospective members are urged to attend the meeting.

Hunters Notice! Joe's Sporting Goods

418 Main will be OPEN TILL 9 every night, Monday through Saturday, for your shopping convenience!

FOR BRAKES STEERING FRONT END WHEEL BALANCE

Come to Dick B. Miller Co. 7th & Klamath TU 4-4154

Dependable Coverage MAYFLOWER AUTO INSURANCE

Reasonable Rates VERN W. EMLEY Office Phone 2-2229 2001 S. 4th

METSKER'S COUNTY MAPS

Best maps for Spanglers, Trails, Creeks, Lakes, all counties, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California. For sale at stationery and sports stores and "Metsker Maps," Tacoma, Washington.

NEGATIVE RESULT

PARIS (UP)—Abdel Kadar Herkous, 33, an ex-convict, was back in jail today. Police said he dropped a fullface photograph of himself at the scene of a recent burglary.

TV SERVICE

We accept calls Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. BARABO'S Motorola - TV - Hi Fi - Radio 333 East Main Ph. TU 4-4616

Irish-Army On TV

NEW YORK (UP)—There was good news today for members of Notre Dame's vast "subway alumni" who were unable to buy tickets for the Irish-Army football game at Philadelphia Saturday. The game will be televised regionally by NBC in the New England and middle Atlantic areas.

Coming Oct. 16, at the Pelican Arthur Lee Simpkins and an All-Star Family Show A George Amato Production sponsored by KLAMATH FALLS BPW

Army Leads Poll

NEW YORK (UP)—Army's football team headed the first weekly poll of the season for the Lambert trophy, followed by Navy, Pittsburgh, Princeton and Penn State in that order. The cadets averaged 8.8 points of a possible 10 points in the selection committee voting.

Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., went to a gym to watch a friend work out and became interested in boxing.

HUNTERS NOTICE!
Joe's Sporting Goods
418 Main will be OPEN TILL 9 every night, Monday through Saturday, for your shopping convenience!

FOR BRAKES STEERING FRONT END WHEEL BALANCE
Come to Dick B. Miller Co. 7th & Klamath TU 4-4154

UP TO 40 MILES PER GALLON If you drive 1000 miles per month 10 BODY STYLES, 2 ENGINES
a SIMCA will cut your Gas Bill $25 per mo. - $300 per yr. PARTS AVAILABLE $900 in 3 yrs. COAST TO COAST PRICED FROM $1895 DEL FULLY EQUIPPED
Eccles Motor Co. 606 So. Sixth

TV SERVICE
We accept calls Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. BARABO'S Motorola - TV - Hi Fi - Radio 333 East Main Ph. TU 4-4616

Irish-Army On TV
NEW YORK (UP)—There was good news today for members of Notre Dame's vast "subway alumni" who were unable to buy tickets for the Irish-Army football game at Philadelphia Saturday. The game will be televised regionally by NBC in the New England and middle Atlantic areas.

Now! THE BEST TASTING 90 PROOF, 6 YEAR OLD STRAIGHT BOURBON YOU CAN FIND!

No increase in price!
$2.80 PT. $4.35 4/5 QT.
Century Club
NATIONAL DIST. PROD. CO., N. Y., STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY, 90 PROOF.