Tax Meeting

paid by residents of Washington and California.

"However," he said, "when the total tax bill is considered, the Oregon figure is slightly less than that paid in the other two states." The total bill in this instance would be state, local and federal taxes.

Eymann pointed out that the differential is realized by being able to deduct state taxes from federal tax payments, and vice versa, in one state and not being able to do it in another.

On the other hand, Lucke firmly maintained that the tax structure is detrimental to industrial growth within the state, adding that a move should be made during the special session to reduce corporate excise taxes, effect a reduction on capital gains, establish a policy permitting business loss carried forward when computing tax payments, rectify loopholes in the unemployment compensation laws, do not increase expenditures, and allow income tax reductions with the portion of the surplus that remains.

He further contended that a disproportionately high percentage of the tax load is being paid by industry and those persons in the higher income brackets. He added that business demands some stability in a tax program and that the Oregon program does not offer that stability.

As a partial correction Lucke recommended that Oregon make a move to provide a more diversified state economy, that an effort be made to reach the industrial potential of the state, and that the people's attitude toward business be improved.

Ben Goddard was moderator for the session and arrangements were under direction of Mrs. Josephine Kirtledge.

GRAINS

CHICAGO — A bearish government crop report hit the future markets with a bang Friday and prices were off sharply most of the session.

Issued after the close of the markets Thursday, the USDA estimates of 1957 grain and soybean production were larger than those of a month ago.

The estimate for the wheat crop was around four million bushels larger than the government estimate of a month ago. Corn was up more than 100 million bushels from the previous forecast.

General selling occurred in all Board of Trade pits at the opening and continued throughout the session. With the exception of oats, most grains declined a cent or more, although extreme losses were trimmed near the close.

New style wheat closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Dec. 2.18 1/2-19; corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Dec. 1.19 1/2-21; oats 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Dec. 1.26 1/2-28; soybeans 1 to 1 1/2 lower, Nov. 2.29-28 1/2, and lard 5 cents lower to 8 cents higher, Oct. 11.50.

U.S. Commander Says Troops 'Too Forceful' With Koreans

SEOUL — U. S. Gen. George H. Decker, the U. N. commander in Korea, today acknowledged that some of his soldiers have "used more force than necessary" in trying to stop thefts of supplies and equipment by Koreans.

Three Koreans have been shot and killed this month in what Decker called a "recent unfortunate rash of killings." They touched off the most severe criticism of American troops yet heard here.

Foreign Minister Cho Chung Whan protested informally to the State Department. The National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee today demanded the recall of You Chan Yang, the ambassador to Washington, because he reportedly had said one of the killings was "an isolated accident that could happen anywhere — even in the United States."

Decker said in an interview, "We have had several incidents that were uncalled for. Because they came in a group they have built up pressure."

But the general said that theft of military equipment by Koreans could prove disastrous in the event of a Communist attack. He estimated that 15 million gallons of gasoline had been stolen this year from Army pipelines, for example.

"Koreans who steal are sabotaging their own security and their own nation," Decker declared.

He criticized Korean national police officials in the strategic truce line area where the U.S. 1st Corps is stationed.

"There has been no indication that national police ... have taken any positive action to discourage this thievery or apprehend the culprits," Decker said, adding "There has not been a single arrest."

Decker said he met with his generals last Sunday to express again his concern over the killings. He said guards were young and inexperienced but asserted it was unfair to hold them solely to blame for performing what they considered their duty in stopping stealing.

One American soldier, Specialist 3C Raymond L. Bailey of Brownsburg, Ind., was charged Monday with involuntary manslaughter for the killing October 3 of a Korean boy at Kumchon.

Decker said an investigation had showed that Bailey exceeded his authority in the use of his gun and the soldier "is now being brought to trial."

The Air Force announced today that it had started a pretrial investigation of charges against two American airmen who shot and seriously wounded two Korean girls September 15.

The Air Force said the airmen, Carroll B. Taylor, Cincinnati, and Edward Young, Chilo, Ohio, discovered a group of Koreans in a prohibited area on Kunsan air base. After firing in the air and ordering the Koreans to halt, they shot into the group and wounded Kim Yong Yi, 18, and Kang Kum Sun, 17, the announcement said.

Miss Kim is still on the critical list at an Army hospital. The Air Force has charged the two airmen with assault with a dangerous weapon.

Police Check Car-Home Crash

City police are investigating a Thursday accident in which a car was apparently unable to make the turn from Darrow Street onto Martin Street and crashed into a residence belonging to Harold McCollum.

No one was in the home at the time of the accident and occupants of the car had disappeared when police arrived. Police are investigating reports that several juveniles were in the vehicle.

Wilson Backs Big Spending

SEATTLE — Former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, hitting at opponents of defense spending economies, said Thursday night "there is no single or cheap road to security."

In a speech at a Republican fund-raising dinner—which enriched GOP coffers by $100,000—Wilson said the United States must continue to spend heavily for foreign aid and defense "until some sound plan for disarmament is worked out with proper safeguards."

Wilson criticized the action of the last Congress in trimming two and a half billion dollars from President Eisenhower's request for 38 1/2 billion dollars in defense money.

"The former defense chief said the slash was made despite 'the increasing cost trend that we all know exists.'"

"There is no single or cheap road to security—whether by heavy bombers, ballistic missiles, by carriers or submarines, by paratroopers or guided missiles," Wilson said.

He departed from his prepared text to make a brief comment on the earth satellite launched by the Russians, saying:

"I don't wish to belittle the accomplishment, but I feel Russia is using it to try to prove that communism is superior to our way and to try to divert attention from some of its domestic problems. I hope that our almost near panic over this will pass in a reasonable time."

Nearsighted children, more than any other group, like best to read because their world is a limited one.

He came out 45 minutes later and the truck was still there. However, the dashboard radio complete with all the connections was gone.

Also reporting a recent theft to city police was Arnold J. Molling of 1609 Derby Street, Three 22 cal. pistols, one .38 cal. pistol, and an assortment of miscellaneous items were stolen from Molling's automobile when it was parked down town.
