

Beaverton Jolts Milwaukie, 20-7 In Only Major Upset

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Milwaukie, No. 3 in the Associated Press Oregon high school poll, was jolted by sixth-ranked Beaverton, 20-7, in action Friday night.

It was the only upset in a prep schedule shortened because the influenza outbreak caused many cancellations.

Milwaukie had been victorious in four games. Beaverton's only loss now has been to second-ranked South Eugene, and that was in a season opener when Beaverton was riddled by flu.

The result establishes Beaverton as a solid favorite for the class A-1 Metropolitan League (District 3) championship.

Marshfield, the No. 1 team in the AP poll, was idle. Its game with Grants Pass, No. 8, was postponed because flu crippled the Grants Pass squad.

South Eugene, co-favorite with Marshfield in the Midwestern League (District 5) race, walloped Albany, 28-0, in a non-league game for both teams. Albany had been badly hurt by flu.

South Salem, No. 5 in the poll, maintained its top place in the Valley League (District 8) race with a 20-7 victory over Lebanon.

McMinnville, No. 7, stayed undefeated and the favorite in the Tualatin-Yamhill Valley League (District 4), routing Oswego, 34-7.

North Salem, ranked 10th, will meet Corvallis Saturday night.

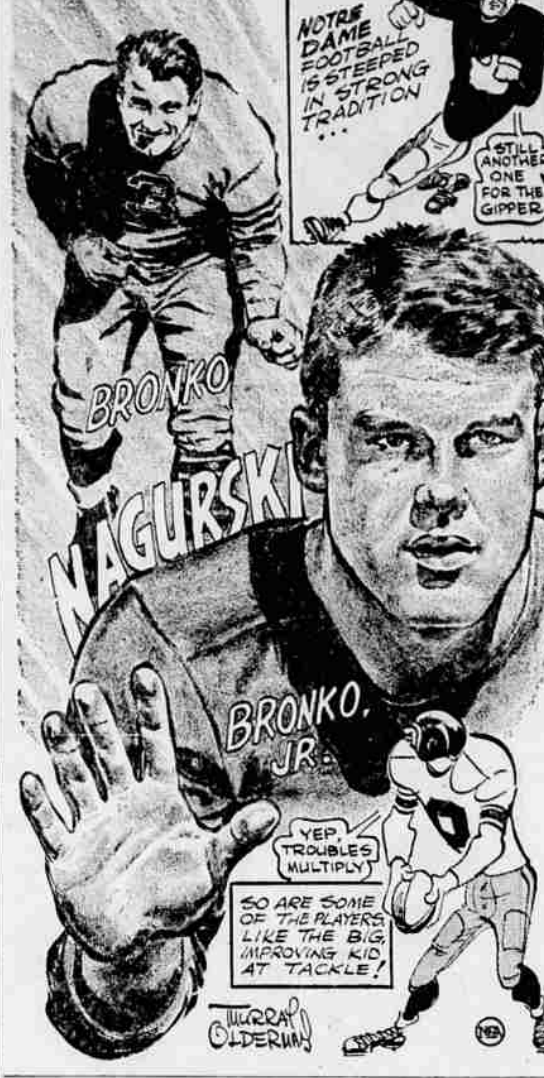

In the Portland League, high-scoring Jefferson, No. 4 in the poll, trampled Wilson, 32-7. Grant, No. 9, kept pace with Jefferson by defeating Franklin, 26-6. Both teams are unbeaten in four games. Benson, the defending city champion, was 19-13, pressed to down Washington, 13-13, winning with only six seconds left after its final touchdown.

Willamina topped Central Union of Monmouth-Independence, 14-7, in the feature game of class A-2 play. Both teams had been unbeaten in four previous games.

Serra Catholic of Salem saw its perfect record spoiled when it was held to a 13-13 tie by Silverton. Molalla maintained its perfect season mark with a 27-0 victory over Sandy.

Of the millions of hunters out for deer this fall, millions minus a few thousand will, when they view their own or their buddy's trophy, decide sagely: "Ha! Three points on a side—must be a three-year-old." No hunting tradition is older than the common and totally crooked idea that deer grow a new crooked each year of life.

The real low-down on guessing mule deer ages from physical characteristics is compiled in a booklet Gil Hunter of the Colorado Game Commission put together. Being a scientifically-minded chap as well as no mean hand with rifle and pack horse, Gil went at the age-characteristics problem the only right way, by studying, over a period of some three years, muleys terminating their careers in his great deer-producing state.

Points and sprockets have very little to do with it. It is true that in the 1-3 to 2-3 year group just over half the bucks have two points on each side and 85 per cent have either one or two points to the antler. But occasionally real old-timers, a decade old - have faded back to two-pointers; and any time after three seasons the great majority of muley bucks are most likely to be wearing four full points to the beam as standard equipment.

Antlers give some guide to age group, but only in terms of the diameters of the main beam an inch or so out from the head. Unless disease or feed conditions have upset the apperact, chances are than an antler taping 30 across comes from a two-year-old or less; one measuring between .92 and 1.25 in diameter came from a critter between 40 and 52 months old; and a fully mature normal buck, five years old or more, will boast a beam diameter of 1.30 and up.

And after six or seven years, the better check will also involve appearance of teeth. A deer wears his incisors narrow and short with cups on their inside surfaces, grinds the enamel ridges of his molars down smooth until finally the chewing teeth rise only an eighth of an inch or so above the gums.

Basketball Gains Popularity, Says San Francisco Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Now that the World Series is over, let's just skip the football season and take a look at what's doing in basketball.

Phil Woolpert, the slender builder of champions at University of San Francisco, has just returned from a tour of Europe, where he was conducting clinics for the U.S. Army sports program.

He was greeted upon his arrival at school by some outstanding prospects who should help the USF club retain its rating as one of the nation's great cage powers.

Among those he had to look up to so he could say "hello" to were Dave Hinds, all-state center from Colorado, who is 6-7½; Glen Baylor, 6-5 prep star from Middleton, Calif.; Wayne Kennedy, 6-5, from Mill Valley, Calif.; and Jack Howell, 6-3, from San Fernando.

This made Phil very happy, but no more than what he has found out about the game of basketball in other countries.

"I believe basketball right now is the second most popular game in the world—headed only by soccer," said Woolpert. "In Europe there is great enthusiasm for the game; and I found in South America in 1955 that they were wild about it."

Woolpert credits the popularity of the game to the fact that it is inexpensive to play because of the necessity for very little equipment and it is basically as easy and simple a game to learn.

He credits the U.S. armed services with spreading the popularity of the game around the globe—but now fears that the missionary work will fall off because of the cutback in military funds and the end of teams sponsored by the services.

Meanwhile, the USF team continues to be an "orphan"—no home floor on which to play. Construction work is proceeding slowly on a new $800,000 gymnasium, but it is doubtful that it will be ready for use before the 1958-59 season.

In the meantime, the Dons will play all their "home" games at Kezar Pavilion and the Cow Palace.

No Major Changes Seen In Braves' Lineup For '58

By RAY W. DOHERTY
MILWAUKEE (UP)—The world champion Milwaukee Braves won't "stand pat" in 1958 but the changes will be few.

That's the feeling after talking with General Manager John Quinn and Manager Fred Haney.

Haney put off contract talk a few days ago because of the World Series bedlam. He said rumors that he might quit because of illness were groundless.

"I feel great," said Haney. "The only 'problems'—not serious yet—are in the pitching corps and possibly in the outfield if Billy Bruton's injured knee doesn't hold up next spring.

If Bruton is unable to play, the Braves will probably give one of their farmhands—probably serviceman Al Spangler—a job.

The pitching staff, headed by Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, and including Bob Buhl, Bob Trowbridge, Don McMahon and Gene Conley, is not ready for the scrap pile. But it could use a little help.

The likes of Taylor Phillips and Dave Jolly probably will be in the minors next season to make room for some of the prized rookie hurlers such as Carleton Willey and Joey Jay, two of the reasons Wichita won the American Association pennant.

"There'll be new faces at spring camp," said Quinn, "but as of now I can't say who they'll replace."

"We're not looking to other major league teams. We have enough good veterans."

Haney and Quinn agreed that "determination" was the big factor in the Braves' pennant victory and World Series triumph over the Yankees.

"I don't want to single out any particular player as the hero in the Series," said Haney. "Every one had a hand in it."

As the Braves' brass got back down to earth, so did the city.

To return to normalcy was costly for the taxpayers. The city sanitation department estimated the cost at $4,000 in cleaning up the tons of paper, beer cans and bottles that were strewn in the streets Thursday night in celebration of the Braves' victory.

Police arrests tripled, and one hospital nurse said the people it treated for minor cuts and bruises suffered in the crush of humanity "felt no pain."

A local psychiatrist summed up the whole celebration as a "mass orgy."

He said if Milwaukee were really mature it would seek other releases for its emotions like "going to the opera and reading great books."

Merrill Scores, 26-19 Win Over Bonanza

The Merrill Huskies kept their football record clean Friday night by downing a fighting Bonanza eleven, 26-19 at Merrill.

The Huskies jumped off to a 19-0 lead during the first half, but the cushion wasn't quite big enough and they had to push across their winning margin in the fourth quarter as the Antlers pushed across three scores in the second half.

Bonanza came out ahead on the first down totals, picking up 20 to Merrill's 10.

The Huskies didn't waste any time getting into the scoring column as they took the opening kickoff and moved from their own 46-yard line for their first touchdown.

Quarterback Duane Raines maneuvered his team very well on straight ground plays with halfback Perry Laney scouting around left end for the score. Halfback John Haskins failed to run for the extra point.

Bonanza took the kickoff and moved down to the Merrill 19-yard line, but the Huskies defense dug in and took over on downs.

Merrill set up their second score when they quick kicked after taking possession, setting the Antlers back to their own 10-yard line.

The Antlers could not pick up a first down and were forced to punt, but the Merrill defense drifted through and blocked the punt and took over on the Bonanza 3-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage fullback Bill Donosky went over the middle for the score and guard Bud Maupia converted for the point after touchdown.

In the second quarter the Huskies forced the Antlers to punt. Raines dropped back to Laney on the Bonanza 40, he sidestepped tacklers, cut to the sideline and went over for Merrill's third TD of the first half. The play covered 70 yards. Maupin's try from placement was not good.

Midway in the second quarter the Antlers fumbled a Huskie punt on their own 13-yard line and Merrill recovered.

Merrill moved to the third for a first down and goal to go. However, the Bonanza defense was not to be denied and the Huskies failed to score on four straight plunges.

In the second half the Antlers took the kickoff and moved from their own 20 to the Merrill 45 with the aid of a 15-yard penalty.

Then Roberts sent the Antlers into a spread formation and on a run to the left sneak moved through the middle to the Huskies 20.

Running plays took the ball to the 5, with the fourth down and still 5 yards to go for the score. Roberts passed to Dan Nork in the end zone. Gary Dayley's attempted conversion was not good.

Roberts intercepted a Merrill pass on the Huskies 37-yard line and carried down to the 25, on the second play after Merrill had taken the kickoff.

A 15-yard penalty moved to the ball down to the Merrill 10. Two running plays could not dent the Merrill line, so Roberts spotted end Bob Toffel on the 1, threw, connected and Toffel stepped over for the score. Duarte's run for the PAT was not good.

As the fourth quarter opened, Merrill had the ball on the Bonanza 18-yard line. Four ground plays moved the ball to the 9 and a first down.

Laney then carried to the 4 and Haskins took to the 1. Haskins tried again but was thrown back to the 2. On fourth down, it was Haskins again who got the call this time and he bulled his way over right tackle for Merrill's final score of the game. Maupin converted.

Bonanza took the kickoff and moved the ball from their own 28 to the 22-yard line of Merrill via the running of Roberts and a Roberts to Nork pass.

Roberts on two carries moved the ball to the 10 and enough for a first down. Then on the next play he passed to Toffel in the end zone for the Antlers final touchdown of the game. Roberts faked a pass and ran over for the PAT.

Player Trades Next In Order For The Yanks

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Casey Stengel says don't get excited, help is on the way.

"We know we got problems and we're gonna do something about 'em," the Yankee manager explained Saturday.

"They tell me we have a lotta talent on our farm clubs—Denver and Richmond—and if we can't get what we need there, we may even make a deal."

Stengel said he would have a clearer picture of the Yankees' outlook for 1958 after he conferred with General Manager George Weiss within the next few days.

"I played a lot of guys there this year," he said. "Some were fair and others didn't do so good. We might have someone in our organization who can do the job, or maybe even Tony Kubek."

Regardless of whether Norm Siebern, a Denver graduate, or Kubek inherits the post, it certainly appears that veteran Ernie Slaughter's days with the Yankees are numbered. At 41, Slaughter still gives it the old college try but he doesn't figure in the club's long-range plans.

Among the players they are willing to give up in a winter deal, are pitchers Don Larsen, Art Ditmar and Al Cicotte; infielders Andy Carey, Gerry Coleman, Harry Simpson and Joe Collins, and outfielder Slaughter.

The way matters stand now, the White Sox are eager for Carey; the Orioles are interested in Simpson, and the Red Sox and Senators wouldn't be adverse to making a deal for Larsen.

Stengel won't say which players he is seeking but he has long fancied both Al Smith and Early Wynn of Cleveland, so don't be unduly surprised if the Yanks and Indians ultimately negotiate some kind of package deal.

"No matter what happens, I ain't at all worried about my club for next year," Stengel said. "We won the pennant even with all those injuries, didn't we? And you can't exactly say we fell apart during the World Series."

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Washington Redskins have passed the 17,000 mark in season ticket sales for their best showing since 1950. The club record of 31,444 was set during 1947.

Only Seven Records Set During '57 World Series

NEW YORK (UP)—Only seven records were set during the seven-game 1957 World Series, probably because most of the games were well-pitched, low-scoring contests. Fourteen Series records were tied.

Yogi Berra, New York Yankee catcher, accounted for three records. He set a record for most games played in World Series competition, 54, and for most series participated in by a catcher, nine. He also set a record for most series games as a catcher, 52.

Johnny Logan of the victorious Braves set a record for most assists by a shortstop in a series game when he collected 10 in the fourth game.

The 1957 Series also drew an all-time record attendance of 394,712.

Pro All-Star Game Slated

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The eighth annual Pro Bowl game between the all-stars of the Eastern and Western conferences of the National Football League will be held in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Jan. 12, 1958, Managing Director Paul Schessler announced Saturday.

The game will be sponsored by the Los Angeles Newspaper Publishers Association with profits going to charity. The newspapers have sponsored the annual classic since its inception.

The West All-Stars hold a 4-3 edge in the seven games played thus far. Last year the West scored a 19-10 victory chiefly on the four field goals kicked by Bert Rechichar of the Baltimore Colts, one of which was for 54 yards.

The game will be telecast nationally by NBC but the Los Angeles area will be blacked out.

Players for the two all-star teams are selected by the vote of fans and by sportswriters covering NFL games and the two teams are coached by the mentors of the Eastern and Western conference championship clubs.
