

Cloudbursts Cause Floods In Texas; Many Flee Homes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Hundreds of west Texas families who fled from flooding rivers and creeks last night prepared to return today to their mud-covered homes as the streams receded.

Cloudbursts of up to 11 inches hit the once drought-ridden sections of western Texas yesterday and continued through the night.

Highways were blocked by flooding streams, at least one railroad was washed out, telephone communications were cut, and hundreds of homes flooded. No drownings were reported.

Shortly before midnight, County Judge W. H. Rumpy at Ballinger, Tex.—probably the hardest hit of the flood-stricken towns—said he believed the greatest danger was over.

Police said Elm Creek started receding about midnight and the rate of rise on the Colorado River had slackened off to about .10 of a foot per hour. Earlier, the river had been rising 2 feet per hour.

Ballinger hurriedly evacuated more than 150 families in the face of the flooding streams. At Eastland, Tex., some 100 persons were forced to flee their homes as the flooding Leon River threatened.

Navy Chief Doubts Claim

TOKYO (AP)—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, U.S. chief of naval operations, told a news conference today he doubts if Russia now has an operating intercontinental ballistic missile. But he predicted both the Soviet Union and the United States will be able to use the ICBM "in a year or so."

Burke added that although "the weapons of war these days are truly horrible weapons," the West's collective security bloc "is probably more powerful than any weapon ever developed" as a means of preventing war.

Burke declared earth satellites "as a weapon, aren't important, except that it takes a lot of power to get a satellite into orbit."

"I don't mean to play down the achievement of the Russians. It will be of scientific value," he said.

"I don't see what the advantages would be in going to the moon," Burke observed, although he later acknowledged such a feat by the Russians could have a psychological effect on other nations of the Western Alliance.

The U.S. Navy chief is on a tour of Japan, Korea, Okinawa and Formosa.

Cooks Ready For Contest

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Beverly Hills—the sophisticated little city where film stars dwell—becomes the scene today of a contest as homey as mom's homemade apple pie.

In the grand ballroom of the modernistic, new Beverly Hilton Hotel, 100 of the nation's best amateur cooks will take part in the ninth Grand National Bakeoff.

The 100 contestants arrived over the weekend from 6 states, Hawaii, and Germany, represented by an Army officer's wife. One man and two 14-year-old boys are among the competitors.

Paul C. Kellogg of Milwaukee and John R. Stone of Junction City, Kan., the teenage boys, are competing against 13 girls in the juniors.

The lonely man, Kenneth H. Stevens of Cambrian Pines, Calif., is in senior division, surrounded by 69 women, veteran cooks all. Stevens, who lost an arm some years ago in an auto accident, also does some stirring work in his profession. He's a house painter.

In the brides division are 15 young housewives. They are all under 30, as required by the rules, and must have been married since June 1955.

Top prize in the bakeoff is $25,000. Altogether the sponsors, General Electric and Pillsbury Mills, are offering $100,000 in prizes. Awards will be made tomorrow night.

Each of the contestants gets to take home the $500 range used in preparing his or her specialty.

A panel of judges composed of magazine and newspaper food editors will spend the day tasting the delicacies contrived by the 100 bakers.

FFA Youths Slate Confab

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Nearly 10,000 farm youths from all over the nation and from Puerto Rico and Hawaii trooped into Kansas City Monday for the 30th annual convention of Future Farmers of America.

The blue-jacketed delegates had a few preliminaries to attend to before the first official session opens Monday night with the national public speaking contest.

Five regional champions will compete in the speaking contest: Carl Kozuma of Hawaii; George F. Guess Jr., Stevenson, Ala.; James Turley, Scottsburg, Ind.; Adin Hester, Canby, Ore.; and Dale Childs, Kingswood, W. Va.

Judging of livestock, meats and poultry started Monday while the 140-voice national FFA chorus and the 116-piece band continued practicing.

The FFA lists about 380,000 members in 10,000 chapters. The organization was started in Kansas City in 1928.

Arts, Crafts Show Planned

A demonstration will be given on KOTV-TV Monday night from 6:30 to 7 o'clock by Frank Staples, arts and crafts specialist of the National Recreation Association, as a preview of the arts and crafts institute to be held here October 21 through 31.

Bob Bonney, director of the city recreation department, announced that the institute is an outstanding opportunity for training in arts and crafts for leaders of youth groups, hobbyists and arts and crafts teachers. The workshop will be conducted by Staples, who was in Klamath Falls in 1952 and 1953. Persons interested in signing up for the institute should contact the recreation department, TU 2-8862.

Hignite Held

don't think Charleen did because she ran into another room. She told her mother about it when they got back to her mother's house with the baby. She feels awful."

Returning to the subject of her former husband, Mrs. Hignite said, "I think I always knew he would do something terrible."

Hignite, according to his former wife, was employed by Mapes Produce Company at Salinas, and had returned to Merrill the previous week to appear in court to explain why he had not helped with the support of the child.

"He never gave me any money except $40," she explained. "I had to give up my home and was living with my parents. Mr. and Mrs. Worth Butler, at Tulelake. I have been working at the Sportsman's Hotel and make only 75 cents an hour. It cost $50 a month to keep Cheryl Ann at the Flaugh's."

Sheriff Britton and Deputy Coroner Keith O'Hair were called to the scene by Deputy Sheriff Reed. Britton said the bodies were lying on the living room floor of the ranch house. There was blood all over the carpet and part of Flaugh's head had been shot away. Both had been shot twice, he said.

The officers stated that Hignite had been drinking at the time they talked with him on Saturday night.

The shooting took place while the Klamath Basin Potato Festival queen's ball was in full swing at the community hall.

Ruth Harris, Herald and News reporter at Merrill, said she and her husband attended the dance and there was no report of the killing at the dance. It was only when they returned home shortly before 1 a.m. that she learned of it.

"Everybody on the streets was talking about it," Mrs. Harris said. "I don't know why we didn't hear it at the dance."

Explosives Found In Car

City police were called Saturday night to check out a report that dynamite had been placed in a vehicle parked on Sixth Street with intentions of blowing up the driver.

William J. Daykin of 2515 Pershing Way told police that he had left the vehicle parked and that when he returned he found the keys missing and four sticks of dynamite in the front seat.

Police report that the dynamite was not wired and that it has not yet been determined how the four sticks got there. The explosives were disposed of by officers.

KF Housing Is Discussed

The "tight" housing situation in Klamath Falls and vicinity was the object of a forum discussion at the Willard Hotel Monday morning sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

Howard C. Heydlauff, assistant director of the Portland FHA office, was present for the meeting with three other FHA officials, Earl Harbin, chief evaluator; John Carter, chief underwriter; and Harlan K. Robe, appraiser for the Klamath Falls area.

Also present was Brig. Gen. Curtis R. Low, commander, 28th Air Division, and Lt. Col. Raymond A. Thornton, commander, 408th Fighter Squadron at Kingsley Field.

Representatives of building concerns, development companies, schools, and such concerns as Johns-Manville Company were present for the discussion.

Complete details of the meetings today will be carried in the Tuesday issue of the Klamath Falls Herald and News.

SUNBEAM DEALERS and their sales forces were invited to bring their appetites and beards to a ham-and-egg breakfast at the Willard Hotel last Thursday morning and have breakfast and shaves through the courtesy of Sunbeam Corporation. The crowd of about 50 included saleswomen, too, and they were pressed into service for holding mirrors while the men tried out the new Sunbeam Blade-Electric Shavemasters. Basin Woman Wreck Victim

LANGELL VALLEY — Mrs. Charlotte O'Connor Lindley, a resident of Langell Valley and Merrill several years ago, was killed October 1 near Bishop, California, when the pickup truck in which she and her husband Dewey were riding plunged off the road a mile south of Lake Crowley and rolled 150 feet to the bottom.

Lindley, who was attempting to dodge some rocks in the road when the truck went out of control, received two broken legs. The accident occurred just after dark, and it was not discovered until 9 o'clock the following morning when a man fishing nearby heard Lindley's cries for help. The Lindleys were on a deer hunting trip. Besides her widow, Mrs. Lindley is survived by her mother, a daughter, three sons and several grandchildren.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation II.* At your druggist. Money back guarantee.
