

CORDAY'S FAME

If ever a perfume lived up to its name, it's Corday's Fame.

It became an All-American fashion on its arrival from France because of its style-conscious, fabled best-dressed women of the world found Fame the essence of fashion — a 24-hour fashion in fragrance.

According to the fashion experts, Fame is one perfume that goes with everything, day or evening. Fame is subtle and wearable with the many easy silhouettes; with the cropped, box and semi-fitted suits; with easy-flowing pleats; with all the relaxed, loose-look middy, over-blouse and sheath dress; casual as jersey and, symbolically, just as clinging; dashing as the new checks and plaids. Its light touch of elegance is perfect for the all-day, all-night costumed look, for the fabulous furred look that abounds. Fame has a glamorous affinity for the dramatic long dinner crepes, brilliant as the shine and glitter of evening satins and sequins.

A medley of flowers (some sweet, some spicy, some with a citrus dash, some faintly exotic) combine to make Fame a perfume of many moods. That is why Fame is both light and long-lasting, fresh and gay but sophisticated in its blending.

Women who are not only smart but truly feminine would as soon leave off their lipstick as omit their after-bath Eau de Toilette or finish dressing without a final accent of perfume. They know that any costume looks twice as smart and they look and feel lovely when wrapped in an aura of fragrance.

To make perfume your second-nature habit, Corday offers two prize packages. Newly boxed together is a bottle of Fame Eau de Toilette and a purse-flacon of perfume, so you can carry your freshen-up fragrance with you all day long.

Our favorite and a prize-award package, literally, is Corday's Spraying Corday was first to bring out this "metered spray" which is not only spill-and-evaporation-proof, but which has a spray control so that not a drop is wasted. Buy one for your dressing table and one for your purse so that you are always surrounded with Fame.

Both packages suggest handsome birthday, hostess and looking-ahead-to-Christmas gifts.

New Foundation

For centuries women have longed for a make-up that would make them appear naturally lovely. Now, at last a foundation has been discovered which veils your face so subtly your skin seems flawless yet natural. Called Veiled Radiance, this foundation was created in Paris by Elizabeth Arden after years of research.

Striving to find the perfect formula—one that would give skin a muted luster, an apparently natural glow, Miss Arden expresses in Veiled Radiance an entire new concept in make-up. This foundation is neither a cream nor a fluid but an emulsion of a light luxurious consistency. It applies more easily than cream, lasts longer than liquid. Unlike any other base, Veiled Radiance covers imperfections yet applies as smoothly as though it were a second layer of skin.

You'll be amazed at the small quantity of Veiled Radiance needed to cover your face, and you'll welcome its silken touch as it caresses your skin. Never does Veiled Radiance cloud the natural texture for it is designed to glorify texture by flowing color over the skin.

The unusual consistency of Veiled Radiance makes possible the unique French jar designed especially for it. Shaped in graceful curves, the pale pink porcelain container is not only decorative but also measures the exact amount of make-up needed for one application. By merely inverting the FAME and fashion go together. For that air of Fame, wear Fame Perfume, Corday's famous French fragrance of fashion, one of those rare 24-hour fragrances that goes with everything. It is subtle as the easy new silhouettes; brilliant and gay with the shining, glittering new evening clothes. Pictured: the gleaming top of Talmack's short, sheath evening suit of lame, it's waist-cropped bolero jacket fastened with frogs.

VEILED RADIANCE, new foundation by Elizabeth Arden, is the secret of this model's complexion with the muted luster of a pearl.

jar the correct portion of Veiled Radiance will adhere to the concave inside of the ground glass stopper.

Now, during the fall of 1957, this new Elizabeth Arden creation will be particularly welcomed by women. For the brilliant reds, vibrant blues, and tawny browns on this season's fashion palette demand a make-up foundation that gives a delicate tint. The flowing translucent quality of Veiled Radiance makes it possible to produce natural color effects.

Veal Roll

After the football game the fans, students and old grads alike, are sure to return home ravenous. You'll be well prepared for them with a Saturday night dinner featuring a roast veal roll. The juicy tenderness of a roast veal roll seems to have universal appeal. When you serve it with a cranberry dressing you'll score a culinary touchdown with every member of the home team.

Homemakers are finding the new frozen veal roll a handy form to prepare and serve. Because veal has so little fat marbling, the veal roll has been coated with a white protective covering to hold in the natural juices. This coating melts away during the cooking period basting the roast as it goes. One excellent branded veal roll is stitched through and tied to help the roll maintain its attractive appearance.

When buying, Martha Logan of Swift & Company suggests you figure about one-third pound per serving and count on an ample supply to assuage those husky appetites. You'll probably want to allow some for leftovers, too, as veal takes beautifully to a number of encore dishes.

The delicate flavor of veal is one that doesn't dominate other flavors, but instead, blends well with them. For this reason, veal is often served in combination with fruit accompaniments.

VEAL ROLL WITH CRANBERRY DRESSING

Veal roll
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup juice drained from canned crushed pineapple (use pineapple in cranberry dressing)

Place a veal roll on a rack in a heavy kettle. Add water. Cover. Cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) according to the cooking schedule, or until fork-tender. Baste roast occasionally with pineapple juice during the last hour of roasting. Uncover during last half-hour of roasting to brown. Serve veal roll hot with hot Cranberry Dressing.

CRANBERRY DRESSING

(Yield: 6 to 8 servings)
2-3 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

AFTER-THE-GAME meals need to be hearty. Veal Roll with Cranberry Dressing is recommended by Martha Logan Test Kitchens. Figure one hour more cooking time for frozen meat. Three to 5-pound roll will cook in about two hours; 5 to 8-pound roll in three hours and an 8 to 10-pound roll in four hours.

3 cups dry bread cubes
1/2 teaspoon powdered margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1 pound can (2 cups) whole cranberry sauce

Combine all ingredients and place in individual custard cups or in an 8 x 8 x 2 inch baking pan. Heat in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Cut into triangles to serve. Garnish with whole cranberries.

FRYING CHICKEN

If the thinner pieces of chicken have been getting overcooked when you fry chicken, make it a rule to start the thicker pieces in the pan and brown them before putting in the rest of the pieces.

FROSTING

Beat one egg white with a dash of salt until stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Then pour 1/2 cup honey in a fine stream over the egg white and beat constantly until frosting holds its shape.

NORWAY SARDINES

The term, Norway sardines, does not refer to any particular brand of sardines, but to all sardines caught and canned in Norway. There are about 126 individual brand names.

FISH SAUCE

Add a little of the vinegar from a jar of capers, along with the capers themselves, to a cream sauce for fish. In England, caper sauce is served with boiled mutton.

DIAPER SET

Baby blue jeans are the newest fashion for the diaper set. They are made of real rugged blue denim with a waterproof lining. Plaid cotton shirts come with the denim diapers.

SPICES

Cardamon is used for flavoring some cookies and other sweet baked goods. Try a little in your next curry dish, too.
