Italian Tailor Gets Order For Clothes From Top Red

ROME (AP) — The best-dressed man in the Communist world — Nikita Khrushchev, who else:—is getting a new suit that's continental at the hips and American where it meets the shoes.

Angelo Litrico, Sicilian proprietor of a Rome tailor shop, says he got the order for Mr. Communist's New Look while visiting Russia last month as a member of an Italian fashion delegation.

Litrico brought along an overcoat as a gift for the Soviet Communist party boss.

"He was so delighted with the gift that he asked me — through his private secretary — to make him two more coats and the suit," the 28-year-old tailor reported.

Litrico said he will charge Khrushchev the equivalent of $160 each for the overcoats and $136 for the suit.

He said the suit will be mostly Italian-style — quite a bit tighter than American suits and a whole lot tighter than the sacklike chemises the Russians turn out.

It will be double-breasted, a line that's making a comeback in America, and dark gray. One of the coats also will be grey, the other dark blue.

Khrushchev asked for cuffs on the pants, which Italian suits ordinarily don't have. And here's more New Look for the Soviet male — the bottoms of the trouser legs will be 10 inches in diameter. That's exactly what a pair of slacks purchased two months ago on Fifth Ave. measured.

The Italian style calls for 9 inches or less to put the feet through. Russian tailors favor bell bottoms measuring 12 inches or more.

Litrico said Khrushchev has broad shoulders, so there won't be much padding in the jacket. Brooks Brothers, take a bow.

FLORENCE, Italy (UP) — Claudette Colbert is touring this north Italian city in an unaccustomed role—as a prospective large scale buyer of jewelry, clothes and fashion accessories. Miss Colbert told newsmen she is considering the idea of opening a shop in Hollywood.
