

A MAD MUSICIAN, a very Southern Belle and a cheap racketeer, are three characters in "Lo And Behold!" a top-theater 3-act comedy by John Patrick. In the order given above they will be played by Stafford Thomas (at the keyboard), Minnie Sures, center, and Forrest Hawley, right, in the forthcoming Kiwanis production of the play on November 14-15-16 in Mills Auditorium. Others in the cast include a cynical and eccentric Nobel Prize winner, Gary Robertson; Mr. Winegate, lawyer, Ed Brotherhood; Daisy Durdle, Millie Glodowski; Dr. Robert Dorsey, Dr. Harry Fredricks; and Minnetonka Smallflower, Faith Brock. Proceeds from the three-night run will go into the further development of the Kiwanis park project on Kit Carson Way.

Naomi Shrine No. 5 Has Friendship Night

Friendship Night was held October 12 at the Masonic Temple by Naomi Shrine No. 5, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, for members and guests.

Before the meeting dinner was served in the banquet room. Warren (Wild Eagle) Wilder presented his group of Boy Scouts in authentic Indian costumes and dances; Karen and Sharon Chase, students of the Normadean Dance Studio, presented a tap number accompanied at the piano by Ruth Wickersham; Ruphane Mannering, vocal soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. George McIntyre.

James Hunter introduced L. J. Fitzsimmons of Crater Lake Lodge who read the history and recited the memorable address of Chief Seattle upon acceptance of the government treaty by his tribe.

The meeting then opened in regular form with Isabel, worthy high priestess, and William Pierson, watchman of shepherds, presiding. John Jones of Bethel Shrine No. 6, Spokane, junior past supreme watchman of shepherds of the Supreme Shrine, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was escorted, welcomed and introduced. Other officers escorted and introduced were: Blanche Marks, Naomi Shrine No. 5, Klamath Falls; Ethel Phelps, Friendship Shrine No. 8, Salem, district deputies; Nell Retherath, Naomi Shrine No. 5, Mildred Lamberty, District No. 2, and Carrie Swick, Bethany Shrine No. 5, Vancouver, district chairmen of material objectives; and Everett Holt, deputy supreme watchman of shepherds, Willamette Shrine No. 2, Salem.

Worthy high priestesses and watchmen of shepherds welcomed, escorted and introduced were: Marie Corner of Cedars of Lebanon Shrine No. 9, Lebanon, guest organist; Bernice and William Fisk, Noel Shrine No. 6, Portland; Felta and Harry Cash, Oregon Shrine No. 1, Portland; Lottie Howe, Willamette Shrine No. 2, Salem; Ena and Elson Shields, Bethlehem Shrine No. 4, Eugene.

Past presiding officers welcomed, escorted and introduced were: Alice Jones, Bethel Shrine No. 6, Spokane; Florence Harper and Frank Swick, Bethany Shrine No. 5, Vancouver; Harold Jones, Emanuel Shrine No. 19, Wenatchee; David Phelps, Friendship Shrine No. 8, Salem; Corrine and John Larson, George Retherath, Beatrice Denison, Charlotte Martin, Blanche and Jack Schulze, Irene Markham and James Hunter, all of Naomi Shrine No. 5, Klamath Falls.

Other visitors welcomed were: Barbara Shields, worthy herald, Bethlehem Shrine No. 4, Eugene; Anna Holt, worthy chaplain, and G. W. Howe, worthy guard, Willamette Shrine No. 2, Salem; Victoria Pearson, noble prophetess, and Kenneth Pearson, associate watchman of shepherds, Noel Shrine No. 6, Portland; Betty Tes-

Soothing Shades To Thwart Tirades

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. — (NEA)—There's more to a house and its bathroom than a burning night light. The house's complete color scheme may stem from this room.

The woman who says that color in the home is set by the decorative scheme of the bathroom is teased about a pink men's room she designed for an aircraft plant.

But Margaret Hargreaves ignores derisive snorts. She directs her seven-day week at Custom Color in South Pasadena with a knowing twinkle in her eye. She explains her role as color stylist to mean color designing or engineering.

"I use the scientific and mathematical approach to harmonize colors in homes or factories," she said. A former department store decorator and color consultant for a British architectural firm, she has considerable experience in applying these methods. So much so that she has a night, day and Saturday staff.

So far this year she has worked out color for interiors and exteriors of 23,800 homes in 50 housing developments in California.

The bathroom theory gets a workout in these homes. "I use bathrooms, coordinated with asphalt roofing shingles to key these home colors for a practical reason. These are the materials that have to be ordered first."

Color engineering is very important today, she stressed. Color alone is not effective. It is the way it is used in harmony with something else—the overall effect. She believes color is more important than food, which opinion recalled a color experiment with food. Diners lost appetites over such items as green steaks and purple green beans.

With an "Ugh!" for the green steaks, she added, "Many unhappy marriages are due to color and color can cause more family arguments...."

Why is color sweeping the country? Mrs. Hargreaves feels it is the influence of the West on the East. Fixtures, floor coverings,

But for men, no such thing. Stark, steel gray or some such dull color has been their lot.

"Industry, however, is getting wise to the relation of color and fatigue. So I did the 'pink men's room' as their relaxing haven."

KLAMATH FALLS

PLAYERS CLUB

Black cats and pumpkins gaily decorated the table at the Players Club meeting October 16 when 19 tables of cards were in play.

The chairman, Mrs. Ron Fisher, presided at the short business meeting at which it was unanimously approved to have two dinner meetings during the year, one in November and the second in March. This will replace the tea and one dinner meeting of the past.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. E. R. Olson, Mrs. Ed Towne and Mrs. George Gates. Prizes in pinocle were awarded to Mrs. P. E. Groves and June Wallwork and in bridge to Mrs. Lloyd Young and Mrs. Jay Krosch. The special prize was presented to Mrs. A. Petersteiner.

The next regular meeting will be Wednesday night, November 6.

Dreary colors lead to dreary people. If someone in your home is constantly grumpy, check your room color scheme. Tiring colors include white, purple, brown or orange. Those most restful are apt to be medium greens and yellows.

A Dead Fish

doesn't know the difference between gas or electricity... the odor clings just as long cooked one way as the other. When ever a meal is cooked, vaporized grease and cooking odors are given off regardless of the type of range or fuel used. No modern kitchen is complete without ADEQUATE kitchen ventilation.

HOME MART, of course has the answer. Ventilating Hoods. Odors and vapors rising from the stove are trapped and exhausted immediately BEFORE they can circulate around the room. An ordinary exhaust fan installed in the wall or ceiling exhausts from the entire room, so walls and ceiling still have to be cleaned and a portion of the odor still lingers.

What housewife is in favor of cooking odors floating through her home? Cabbage, fish, or broccoli meeting her guests at the door? She doesn't relish the prospects of washing greasy kitchen walls—or frequent painting and decorating costs.

At HOME MART you'll find Pryne, Nu Tone and Stanthony Ventilating Hoods. All three are made of gleaming copper. Prices and styles vary, but they're all efficient and attractive. For the BEST way to ventilate your kitchen drive out to South Sixth and investigate Ventilating Hoods at does he come in? Of course, he inherited the length of his arms... but you'd hardly believe it when he puts on one of his dress shirts. The sleeves barely come to his wrists. Or hang over his hands. But not when you buy his shirts at RUDY'S. All the shirts at RUDY'S come in exact sleeve lengths from 31" to 35". So whatever his arm length you can buy his size at practically any price you wish to pay. You can buy just the right collar size for him too. That terrific stock of shirts at RUDY'S includes neck sizes from 14 to 17 1/2. Selection is limited... white shirts with French cuffs, short rounded collar with eyelets to be worn with collar bar. Easy to iron, Oxford cloth white shirts with regular or short collar and with regular tailored cuffs. Drip-Dry all cotton shirts that require practically no ironing at all. Shirts with built-on stays in the collars (they can't work out!).

Colored dress shirts in either plain soft pastel shades or neat pin dot, indistinct stripes and checks or symmetrical woven in clip patterns. You can select colored shirts, too with regular cuffs or French, regular or short cut collars.

There's a simply fabulous collection of neck wear at RUDY'S too. Don't let those old thread-bare jokes scare you... Men like the ties we women select. There's a difference in mens wear... and at RUDY'S you'll see that difference. Clothes for the man have that certain look of quality and correct styling.

Use RUDY'S lay-away plan and Christmas shop now. Gift selections are wonderfully complete right now at Sixth and Main
