

Cavemen Pulverize Klamath Gridders

GRANTS PASS (Special) Oct. 27 — If there were any hopes that the KUHS Pelicans might pull an upset over the Grants Pass Cavemen Friday night, these hopes were quickly snuffed out as the Cavemen ran rampant through the Pelicans to post their eighth straight win over the Whitebirds, 40-0 on Caveman field in Grants Pass.

In what appeared to be an effort on the part of the Grants Pass team to out-do their co-leaders of the District 6-A-1 conference, the Medford Tornadoes who last week jumped off to a 29-0 lead over the Pelicans in the first half, the Cavemen popped up with a 20-0 lead in the first quarter.

DEFENSE BOGS

The Pelican offense could do nothing right as time and again they tried to take the Caveman defense out of position with some razzle-dazzle plays that did nothing but fizzle, ending up with 17 net yards on the ground.

The Pelicans' air game didn't fare much better, but it was the only offensive maneuver that could make any considerable yardage, collecting 66 yards by passes.

The Cavemen dominated the statistics department as thoroughly as they did the scoreboard, accumulating 244 yards on the ground and another 166 through the air.

The Pelicans were not able to penetrate into Caveman territory during the first half, but did reach the Grants Pass 46-yard line in the third quarter and the 29-yard line in the fourth quarter.

Not only did the Grants Pass team as a whole play good football, but a few of their individual stars had a field day.

Quarterback Jim Smith upped his touchdown passing total to 13 hitting his favorite target end Mike Sparlin for three scoring throws, which in turn raised Sparlin's scoring passes received to 12.

ONE MAN SHOW

Halfback Jack Dean put on a one-man running show and raised his rushing average by racking up 135 yards on 18-carries during the two quarters he saw action.

The Pelicans were never a definite scoring threat until the opening minutes of the third quarter when they recovered a Caveman fumble on the Klamath 33-yard line and moved the ball to the Grants Pass 29-yard line where the drive was stopped by a Caveman pass interception.

The Grants Pass defense was equally as strong as their versatile offense, stopping every surprise maneuver the Pelicans attempted.

The only tricky play that seemed to befuddle the Cavemen was the direct snap to the fullback who charged up the middle and handed off to the quarterback, who in turn drifted back to pass.

It was this play that connected three times, from Frank Ballard to Gary Kranenberg twice and once to Tom Ankeny, for 37 yards to move the Pelicans for their deepest penetration into Caveman territory.

But other than this one play the Cavemen were not to be fooled, as they diagnosed all the reverses, pitchouts, and handoffs the Pelicans attempted.

In fact, the Cavemen defense looked so good on diagnosing the Pelicans' plays that it looked like they had had a man sitting in the stands at Modoc Field during last week's practices.

Rain had soaked the field just before game time, and the mid-field turned into a quagmire by the second half, but it didn't seem to hinder any of the runners' footing.

However, the mud worked against the Pelicans as they fumbled five times, losing the ball four times, while the Cavemen fumbled twice and lost the ball twice.

Grants Pass scored the first four times they took possession of the ball during the game, with the big scoring coming on the Smith to Sparlin passing combination.

The Cavemen kicked off to open the game with Ron Olvera taking the ball on the 3-yard line and returning to the 16.

PELICAN FUMBLE

On the second play from scrimmage, halfback Dick Humphrey shot through the middle but lost control of the ball and Grants Pass quickly recovered on the Klamath 45-yard line.

Three plays later fullback Mike Rose scooted wide around his own left end 12 yards and into paydirt. Dewart Gurule's try from placement was good and only two and a half minutes had elapsed in the first quarter.

Klamath Falls took the kickoff and for the first time this season attempted to run a series of belly plays off the T-formation but could get nowhere and was forced to punt.

The Cavemen took Bob Drace's punt on their own 46-yard line and Mike Sparlin behind blocking that put the Pel defenders down like falling dominoes carried down to the KU 17-yard line.

On the second play the first of the Smith to Sparlin pass combinations clicked for 17 yards and a score as Sparlin stood all by his lonesome on the far side in the end zone.

PLACEMENT FAILS

Gurule's try from placement was not good and six minutes and 15 seconds remained in the first period.

The Pelicans took possession of the ball on their own 20 after the GP kickoff went into the end zone.

The Pelicans shifted into a singling formation, but this fared no better than the T-formation and again were forced to punt.

From the Klamath 45-yard line the Smith-Sparlin connected twice for another score, the touchdown pass going 32 yards as Sparlin slipped behind the KU defenders and took the ball in the end zone.

Gurule's placement kick was good with three minutes and five seconds remaining in the first quarter.

Halfback Doug Van Buskirk took the Grants Pass kickoff on the five-yard line and carried back to the 26, where the Whitebirds moved the ball to the 37-yard line and picked up their first down of the game.

But they could go no further and Dick Humphrey quick kicked on third down.

CAVEMEN SCORE

Taking the ball on their own 32-yard line, the Cavemen in 12 plays went over for their fourth score, with Smith picking up 23 yards on a bootleg keeper play and 33 yards on a Smith to Sparlin pass, with fullback Rose getting credit for the touchdown as he went over right tackle from the one-yard line.

Gurule's PAT from placement was not good and eight minutes and 20 seconds remained in the second quarter.

The Pelican defense stiffened the next time the Cavemen started a scoring march, as the Whitebirds held their own 8-yard line and took over control of the ball on downs.

However, the stand was short lived. On the second pass attempt after taking Klamath's punt on the 50-yard line, the final Smith to Sparlin combination of the evening clicked, with Sparlin taking the pass on the KF 40 and going down the sideline and across the goal line with only one second remaining in the first half.

Gurule's placement was good and the score at halftime stood, Grants Pass 33, Klamath Falls 0.

Coach Mel Ingram sent in the reserves during the second half and the Pelicans limited the Cavemen to a single tally.

This came with 55 seconds left in the third quarter as halfback Jack Dean ran through, around, over and under the Pelican defense to climax a 52-yard sustained drive, with Dean packing the mail 10 times and actually crossing the goal line twice, but the first score was nullified by a 15-yard holding penalty.

Gurule's last at 16 m p t from placement split the bar.

Stanford 20 Bruins 6

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 27 — Stanford's stocky quarterback Jack Douglas engineered one long scoring march and threw two touchdown passes Saturday as the Indians kept Rose Bowl hopes alive with a 20-6 victory over favored UCLA.

The 178-pound football and tennis star from Santa Monica, who followed this year in the Stanford footsteps of the great John Brodie, truly came into his own in this Pacific Coast Conference battle.

His key runs off the T-formation option kept a 68-yard second quarter scoring drive in motion and twice in the second half he found end Joel Freis with scoring pitches for 36 and 2 yards.

A crowd of 46,000 in Stanford Stadium saw fullback Chuck Shea score the first touchdown from 4 yards out and halfback Al Harrington add conversions after the first two tackles.

JACK DEAN, hard-to-stop Grants Pass halfback, is shown in the upper left picture being brought down by Blake Griggs, lunging in front of the ball packer, and an unidentified KU defender who is giving Dean the necktie treatment from the rear. Coming up at the left is KU's Ed Catmull. Dean carried the ball 18 times during the Cavemen's 40-0 win over Klamath, and netted a total of 135 yards. In the upper right picture Pel coach Andy Knudsen outlines a defensive maneuver to center Charles Carlson. Standing at right with cap on is Jack Peterson, one of the KU assistant coaches.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 27 — Oregon kept the inside track in the Pacific Coast Conference Rose Bowl race Saturday by knocking over California 24-6.

It was the fourth consecutive conference win for Oregon.

The victors again made expert use of the running skill of halfback Jim Shanley. He scored the first Oregon touchdown on a short plunge. Later he sifted through the California defense and hauled in a 16-yard pass from halfback Charlie Tourville for another touchdown.

Another pass provided Oregon's other touchdown. It went from quarterback Jack Crabtree to end Ron Stover for a 9-yard score. After Shanley's first touchdown fullback Jack Morris chipped in a short field goal that gave Oregon a 10-0 halftime advantage.

California's only score came at the start of the second half. The visitors took the kickoff opening the third quarter and put on their only sustained drive of the day, a 66-yard march that ended with halfback Darrell Roberts vaulting over tackle for a touchdown.

California had no other serious threat.

Husky Pups Turned Back

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Two scoring passes, an interception and one sustained ground drive gave the Oregon State Ducks a 26-19 victory over the Washington State Frosh in the football season opener for both teams here Friday.

The Frosh were in contention all the way until the final period when the Ducks rolled 50 yards on ground plays for their last touchdown. Charles Marshall of San Francisco went over from the two.

Oregon State counted on the second play of the game on a 53-yard pass play from Roger Johnson of Coos Bay to Amos Marsh of Wallawa.

Another pass play — a 20-yarder from Mark Holbrook of Honolulu to Ron Miller of Los Angeles — made it 14-0 for the Ducks early in the second period. WSC got on the scoreboard before the half ended on a 6-yard pass in the end zone to John Madsen of Pullman. The conversion attempt failed.

The Frosh scored twice and the Ducks once in the third quarter, which ended with OSC leading 20-19. The Ducks' tally came on a 51-yard run by Aaron Thomas of Weed, Calif., after intercepting a WSC pass.

Huskies Annihilate Oregon State Hopes

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE, Oct. 27 — Shotgun running and tackling by Jimmy Jones and Al Ferguson's turkey-shoot passing shattered the Oregon State College comeback hopes Saturday and earned Washington a 19-6 Pacific Coast Conference football victory, its first of the season.

The visiting Beavers, stopped for the first time by UCLA last week, struck for their only touchdown in the closing minutes of the first quarter. On that cue, the Washington Huskies came viciously alive and had the upper hand by the middle of the second quarter.

A crowd of 29,000 — smallest of the season — saw their Huskies come out of the fog of five non-winning starts to go the full route at full power for the first time. Larry Sanchez whipped a 29-yard pass to sterling Hammack for the Oregon State touchdown, Hammack hauling in the ball on the Washington five and diving over for the tally with two tacklers pawing for handholds.

Washington answered quickly, Ferguson mixing two long passes with short plunges by Jones to knot the count at six-all at the start of the second period. Ferguson faked a run good for 22 yards and the tally, Ted Searle had missed the Oregon State conversion and Bobby Dunn was wide on the kick for Washington.

In five minutes the Huskies were over again, Don Payseno capping a 65-yard drive with a four-yard plunge for the counter. Again Dunn's kick was wide but Washington's 12-6 lead proved to be all it needed.

Capping a day that saw him turn in 14 tackles on defense, Jones cracked through the middle of the Oregon State line and scooted 53 yards to score with 17 seconds left in the third quarter. Dunn's conversion brought the total to 19-6.

Washington scoring — Touchdowns: Millich (23, pass-run from Ferguson); Payseno (4, run); Jones (53, run). Conversions — Dunn.

Fraleley's Facts 'n Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY

TOKYO (UP)— This was back in Texas and a golfing alibi artist who always had an excuse when he fubbed out glared at his motionless caddy just before hitting his shot.

The caddy remained unmoving and, as expected, the golfer took a yard long divot and barely moved the ball. Whirling on the caddy, he screamed:

"That's your fault. I expected you to move and you didn't." The guy wouldn't have had a prayer here in Japan.

All the caddies here are girls—and there are no finer ballhaws in the whole world. They never move when you're shooting, don't talk unnecessarily, never swing the clubs and, summing it up in one word, are perfect bag toters.

I won't say they never, never make noise. But this case is an exception. Because Old Fearless has a swing which would draw a hearty guffaw from a stone Buddha, as such I quickly got accustomed to the giggles.

But caddying truly is an art in Japan, where the sly-eyed little sisters of the six iron make it a comforting, if not very rewarding, career. Apprentices must walk along with veteran caddies many weeks before they are permitted to lug a bag. All they do, in their impassive manner, is to stand by and watch until they finally are given their chance.

During this training period, they observe how their shagging tutors handle the caddying art. Which it is. For these mites of the midiron, most of them just about as big as Sam Sneed's leather golf bag, are flawless on the fairway as well as from tee to green. They can "club you," which is a golfer's expression for telling you which club you need to reach the green, from any spot on the course. Hit the ball a half dozen times and they'll never miss—even though you might.

One of their cutest tricks is the manner in which they mark your ball on the green. In the cuff of their blue denim uniforms they carry different colored bits of wool yarn for this purpose. Off the tee they are always out in front of the golfer and on a blind shot the custom for them is to run—not walk—to the best vantage point.

All of this, mind you, for 75 cents a round — although when it's raining the price is raised outrageously to 90 cents.

Jimmy Demare's caddy in the current International Trophy and Canada Cup matches is an almond-eyed little beauty named Hiroko Kenoya. James didn't trust her judgment—at first.

"I asked her once if I could get there with a four iron and she said no and that I should take a three," Demare explained. "So old hard-headed Jim took a four iron—and left it short. Since then when I'm in any doubt at all, I let her call the shot."

So I let my caddy call the shots Saturday when a bunch of us played the Tokyo Country Club. There was just one thing wrong, though. I should have let her hit the shots, too.

Four of the National Football League's offense and defense leaders clash Sunday when the Chicago Cardinals play host to the Cleveland Browns and the Washington Redskins visit the New York Giants.

Cleveland, tied with New York for the Eastern Division lead, is a 2½ point favorite to boost its record to 4-1 by defeating the Cardinals (2-2). The Browns have allowed fewer points than any other team, 39. The Cardinals, sparked by Ollie Matson, lead the NFL in rushing with 694 yards.

New York, the defending league and Eastern Division champion, has allowed fewer yards than any other club, 752. The Giants have allowed only 46 points, a mark second only to Cleveland's.

The Giants are 11-point favorites against Washington although the Redskins (1-3) lead the Eastern Division in total offense with 1,332 yards and have the league's top-ranked passer in Eddie Lebaron. Lebaron has an average gain of 10.63 yards per throw.

The Baltimore Colts, tied with the Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners for the Western Division lead at 3-1, entertain the Green Bay Packers (1-3) and are 10-point favorites. The Colts lead the league in scoring (127 points), total offense (1,422 yards) and passing (734 yards).

Detroit plays the Rams (1-3) at Los Angeles and is a three-point underdog. The Lions scored a 10-7 triumph over the Rams at Detroit Oct. 13.

The oddsmakers follow the same path at San Francisco where the Forty-Niners are 3½ point underdogs against the Chicago Bears (1-3). The Forty-Niners edged the Bears at Chicago two weeks ago, 21-7.

In Sunday's other game, the Steelers (2-2) are favored over the Philadelphia Eagles (1-3) by 3½ points at Pittsburgh.

Flu Halts 21 Games

By UNITED PRESS

At least 21 college football games were canceled off Saturday's college football schedule by the flu epidemic and four others were postponed, a United Press survey showed.

Five replacement games were arranged, most of them matching two teams whose opponents were knocked out by flu.

No major teams were affected, although the Colorado College-Idaho State game was precarious. Flu hit hard at Colorado College, with 200 of the 1,000 students ill and 13 of the 32 football players on the sick list, but officials said they will play the homecoming game if at all possible.

The picture: Canceled games: East: Massachusetts - North-eastern, Dickinson-Wagner, Franklin & Marshall - Albright, Brandeis-New Hampshire, Grove City-Susquehanna, Hobart-Union, Wagner-Dickinson, Ursinus - Swarthmore, Lebanon Valley - Moravian, Temple-Seranton.

Midwest: Fort Hays - Emporia Teachers, Missouri Mines-Southeastern Missouri, Valparaiso - St. Joseph's (Ind.), Buena Vista-Central (Iowa), Missouri Valley-William Jewell, Northwestern Missouri-Northeastern Missouri, Evansville-De Pauw.

South: Elon-Catawba, Elon-Davidson.

Far West: Humboldt State-Western Washington, Sierra J.C.-San Jose State Freshmen.
