Pupil Study Shows Education Has No Effect On 'Life Values'

CHICAGO (AP)—A study of high school students added today to an apparently growing body of evidence that American education has no effect whatever on their life values. Last March Philip E. Jacob of the University of Pennsylvania released a study which indicated that the inner guideposts of American college students go unchanged from their freshman through their senior years. Today Jacob W. Getzels, an educational psychologist at the University of Chicago, reported findings which he said are "exactly in line with what Jacob found."

Youths Seek Dutch Ouster

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—More than 100,000 youths reportedly demonstrated today in the east Java port of Surabaya in support of the Indonesian government's threat to take West New Guinea by force unless the Dutch give it up. Leaders of the government-inspired youth rally demanded that diplomatic relations with the Netherlands be broken immediately if the U.N. rules against Indonesia's claim to the western half of the big island. Gov. Samadikun of Surabaya and Col. Sabeni, the military commander in East Java, both spoke at the rally. Indonesia has claimed West New Guinea since the Dutch freed the island archipelago of 82 million people eight years ago. Australia holds the eastern portion of New Guinea and also opposes the Indonesian claim.

Chiang Nears 71st Birthday

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek will celebrate his 71st birthday tomorrow, probably with only a short rest from his usual 12-to-14-hour working day. Top man in the Republic of China since Sun Yat-sen died in 1925, Chiang still carries a heavy burden of leadership. In many ways his daily tasks are tougher than when the Nationalists ruled the mainland. He leads an administration which governs about 10% million Chinese on Formosa and commands the loyalty of millions more overseas. He commands 600,000 fighting men, a force rated better in equipment, training, firepower and morale than any of the armies he had before the 1949 retreat to Formosa. And he has undertaken the difficult task of encouraging Chinese on the mainland to resist their Communist government, promising and planning for a nationalist return. Despite his age—71 tomorrow by Chinese count, 70 by Western calculation—Chiang still works far longer hours than do most of his subordinates. Cutler spoke Saturday at a closed session of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, meeting at Hot Springs, Va.

Probers Eye Ad Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee wants to know whether a White House aid suggested that businessmen quit advertising in a magazine which reported on a U.S. missile-tracking station in Turkey. A spokesman for the House Government Information subcommittee said yesterday the group has started preliminary investigation of reports that Robert Cutler, White House liaison officer to the National Security Council, suggested an advertising boycott at a meeting of businessmen last weekend. The White House says Cutler has denied making any such suggestion. Last week, Aviation Week magazine carried a story which said the United States has been tracking Russian-fired missiles on special radar equipment in Turkey.

AUTO CRASH ALTURAS—California Highway Patrol reports that a 1955 pickup, driven by Leonard Earl Fitch, 19, of Alturas, failed to make a turn on County Road 56 early Monday. Both Fitch and his passenger, Robin Olson, 21, also of Alturas, received minor injuries. There was major damage to the vehicle.

Offstreet Parking

blocks fronting the south side of Pine Street between Fourth and Sixth streets, and by making a parking lot out of the area now occupied by the VFW building on Klamath Avenue.

2. Paul Landry, representing the businessmen from west of Seventh Street, expressed the view that the single larger district would be fine if the property owners west of Seventh could receive the assurance of the property owners east of Seventh to the effect that the benefits to be derived from the district would not be dominated by the east of Seventh Streeters. Landry said the assessed valuation of downtown properties east of Seventh is considerably more than that of the area west of the bounding street, and that the east of Seventh Streeters might therein have a voting majority with reference to district business.

3. Also discussed at the session was the possibility of paying for the district improvements by assessing on the basis of the extent each individual business would benefit from the parking areas. That is the business located nearest to the parking facilities would be assessed more than the business farthest away from the parking locations. It was pointed out during the meeting that this method of payment for the district is prescribed in the law of 1957 which provides for the offstreet parking districts. However, it was the thought of those attending this morning's discussion that the law provides a wide degree of latitude and that the city council and those forming the district would perhaps interpret the law to their convenience as long as the proposal was reasonable.

4. Lloyd Anderson of the State Bureau of Municipal Research also advanced the thought that the district formation might qualify for federal funds under stipulation of the Urban Renewal laws. It was pointed out that there is much substandard property within the proposed bounds of the district, and that the cost of opening Eighth Street might be applied as the city's one-third share of the Urban renewal cost.

The city planners are considering all proposals advanced during the meeting. Representing the planning commission at this morning's session was John Howard.

Name Sought For Armory

The Klamath County Armory Board will suggest to the city council that the name of the old armory be changed to the Klamath City and County Auditorium. For the purpose of brevity, the old armory will be referred to as the Klamath Auditorium. Chairman Fred Hoagland said the metal letters on the outside of the building, "A," "R," "M," and "O" can be used if the change is effected.

In other action, the board said it will meet with a representative of the Johns-Manville Corporation and a San Francisco acoustical engineer for estimates on costs to improve sound qualities of the auditorium. Hoagland said that this is a must as they would like to ask architects Morrison and Howard for an estimate by February 1, 1958.

Altamont Junior High News

By TIM MASON Assembling in the gymnasium on October 24, the Altamont student body saw the wonders of "make-up" performed by Ray Dixon. First, Mr. Dixon selected five male students from the audience. The first victim, Bobby Dearing, was made up as a schoolboy, a college freshman, and a college professor. John Clemans, Tom Sargent, David Alter, and Keith Cedarleaf, were turned into men of a Barbershop Quartet, with accompanying music.

Ted Steiner, the last victim, became Robert E. Lee; then in less than 40 seconds he was turned into "Uncle Sam." The next day, Cal Seisser, from the Oregon State Game Commission, interested us with his program on water conservation. He explained all about fishing equipment, bait, the kinds of fish, and last but not least, the kinds of fishermen. To end his program he showed us a film called "Troubled Journey," about the migration of the "steelhead" trout. The film also showed the laying, hatching, and growing of the egg. It showed the trip of the "steelhead" to the sea, including the mishaps on the way.

Altamont, nearing the end of the school's football season, really "got with it" and walloped Fremont 13-0 at Modoc Field. In the first quarter both teams were driving, but failed to score. However, in the second quarter, Altamont's Ronnie Simpson, led the way by scoring on a fine running play. Ted Steiner ran for the point. Altamont decided to have another touchdown and scored again. Failing to get the point they took the lead 13-0. The third quarter was a duplicate of the first; both teams driving and failing to score. In the fourth and final quarter fine tackling by Jim Stenberg, aided by the rest of the team, put up a stone wall defense against the struggling Fremont Bobcats. Altamont threatened twice to score but failed and Fremont, still struggling, found the game ended with the score still Altamont 13 and Fremont 0.

Planners Hear Report At Meeting

The joint City-County Planning Commission last night heard a progress report from the planning department presented by Lloyd Anderson, Bureau of Municipal Research. The report was highlighted by a series of activity maps of data correlated by the community planning office under the direction of Dave Devoe. The maps showed all the roads in the Klamath Falls area according to type such as paving, gravel and dirt; detailed the land use of the industrial area of the city; illustrated the type of housing now existing in the industrial area as to condition, and outlined the current traffic flow in the city area.

It was reported by Dr. Hugh Curran that a film study of these maps and other data of the planning office would soon be available for presentation to the city council, and perhaps later to service clubs of the city. Leonard Petrik, mayor of Malin, and Louis Stewart, mayor of Merrill, attended last night's joint session. Bill Canton, county surveyor, pointed out the need for close cooperation between the incorporated cities of the county and the County Planning Commission Board. Each incorporated city, he said, has jurisdiction for subdivision planning within a six mile radius. He urged the cities of Malin, Merrill, Bonanza and Chiloquin to establish a local city planning commission.

Chairman John Howard read a request from the city council that some sort of stopgap regulations on offstreet parking requirements were necessary, and the group agreed they would have a tentative ordinance ready for the council by November 15. The group also agreed to step up their hearings on the tentative zoning ordinance in order that it could be adopted within the next several months.

A recommendation that a mini-park street width of 36 feet be required in all future paving projects was forwarded to the city council for its action.

A request is to be dispatched to W. C. Williams, state highway engineer, requesting a meeting with him regarding the west side bypass, and suggesting November 12 as a tentative date.

Don Sloan, Murdo Morrison and Ed Stastny were present of the county and Fred Hoagland, Ed Robinson, John Howard and Bob Veatch from the City Planning Commission.

Player Hurt In Ball Game

TULELAKE — Bob Osborne, 15, sophomore in the Tulelake High School, is confined to the McCloud Hospital with a neck injury following the Tulelake Honker-McCloud Loggers football game played October 25 at McCloud.

Bob, who plays both quarterback and end positions on the team, is in traction and will remain in McCloud for another three weeks before being able to be moved either to a Klamath Falls hospital or to his home.

His injury came in the final one and one half minutes of play. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Osborne, went to McCloud upon receiving word of his injury.

Water Supply Troubles Eyed

Representatives from Klamath Falls, Merrill, Malin and Lakeview attended a three-hour discussion of waterworks problems at the chamber of commerce office Tuesday afternoon. Jim Agee of the State Board of Health conducted the inquiry into problems of the water supply sources for various cities. Agee explained the formation of the State Board of Health Commission. He also pointed out that there were some 650 public water supplies at present in the state of Oregon. Any system, he said, that supplies either 100 people or 25 families is classified as a public system and subject to special controls.

He also pointed out that the State Board of Health is permitted to make bacteriological analysis (for these public water systems, but is not permitted to make chemical analysis studies available to them. These, he said, must be done by private groups. Agee reviewed the various state legislation dealing with water supplies, their construction, handling, inspection and maintenance. Discussion delved into water supply problems that have arisen at such points as Lakeview and Dunsmuir, and some of the steps taken to solve them.

The meeting also featured a film showing of waterworks problems.

Polio Vaccine Is Available

Klamath County now has an available allotment of $5,435 ccs of tax purchased polio vaccine which can be administered at the Klamath County Health Department or by local physicians. The vaccine, it is announced by state officials for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, must be used prior to June 1958 under present regulations on distribution of the vaccine. Dr. Seth Kerron, Klamath County health officer said that some vaccine is on hand now and can be given free of charge at the health office to persons from eight months of age through 19 years, and to pregnant women.

Hunter Found After Search

YREKA — Harold Lewis, 27, of Vallejo, was inadvertently late returning to his Navy base in the Bay Area when he got lost on a hunting expedition and overstayed his leave. Sheriff Al B. Cottar said the man was reported missing about 2 p.m. on Friday by Deputy Sheriff F. A. Dobson of Tulelake. Lewis had been last seen by his companions as he headed toward Six Shooter Butte. He was thought to have water, a compass, warm clothing, but no food.

A search was organized by Sheriff Cottar and dozens of men patrolled the area over the weekend. On Monday he had six planes out looking for campfires, but none was found except a few known to belong to logging outfits. Forest Service personnel were patrolling highways and about 5 p.m. on Monday, Paul Friday, forest ranger from McCloud found traces of the lost hunter.

Driving along the seldom-used Mayfield Road, about 35 miles south of Medicine Lake near the Modoc County line, Friday came upon large letters reading, "Lewis, lost," drawn in the sand alongside the road. An arrow pointed south. Friday continued down the road and found the man still walking, in the vicinity of the abandoned Wiley ranch. He was brought in to the Siskiyou County sheriff's office and fed and his companions notified he had been found.

Lewis was in good shape, but hungry, the sheriff said. During the 75-hour period his only food had been a squirrel he had caught and attempted to cook.
