

U.S. Expected To Propose New Network Of Rocket Bases

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to propose to allied nations the creation of a network of missile bases within striking distance of Soviet targets.

The proposition may figure in President Eisenhower's meeting with leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris in mid-December.

Group Calls Election Off

Officials of the Enterprise Irrigation District have announced that due to the few petitions returned to the district office for seats on the board of directors, no election will be necessary. The election date had originally been set for November 12.

Mrs. A. F. McDonald, secretary of the district, states that four seats are to be filled and only four petitions were submitted, bearing names of suggested candidates. The petitions submitted were for election of Mrs. Bernice Collman, a current member of the board, for Clarence Guber, to fill out the unexpired term of the late Marius Peterson, for Joe Keller Jr., and William Cunningham, as new members to increase the board from three to five members as approved by the membership several months ago.

Driver Cited After Accident

Ora Summers of Chiloquin was cited for failure to yield the right of way to a vehicle late Monday afternoon after the vehicle she was operating and one driven by William D. Hess of 2043 Gettle Street collided at the intersection of Sixth and Washington streets. The drivers were not injured. The defendant driver is scheduled for municipal court hearing on the charge, November 8.

would be desirable to have them elsewhere.

The missiles involved would be those which, like the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force Thor, have an operational range of about 1,500 miles.

The arrangement made with the British at the Bermuda Conference last spring provides for the United States to furnish the missiles to Britain. Supplies of atomic or hydrogen warheads also would be kept close by, but those would remain in control of the United States ready for use if war broke out.

Dulles pictured the United States as being behind Russia in the development of ballistic missiles but said "I feel assured that we can catch up."

Dulles said that barring a breakdown in the Soviet system, he does not think the United States will ever again have the wide margin of superiority in military power which it had over the Soviet Union 10 years ago. That was just before the Russians exploded their first atomic device.

In terms of the East-West power relationship, he said, this creates a danger which forces the free nations to increase their unity and cooperation.

"I think that we do face a situation," he said, "where the danger is so great, where the consequences of not combining are so serious both in terms of military effectiveness and in terms of the cost of sustaining a military establishment, that there will be increasing acceptance of that point of view."

France as well as Britain has asked for missiles, and other European governments are understood to be interested.

The United States, for its part, needs advanced bases for intermediate range missiles if they are to serve the purpose of deterring the Soviets from aggression.

In covering a number of other current issues, Dulles said the ouster of Marshal Georgi Zhukov by Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev may have been impelled by fears of a move for a military dictatorship in Russia.

He commented that the collapse of Russian charges against Turkey "doesn't mean that the situation in the Middle East is free of danger and that the independence of the Arab states is secure."

HERE'S THE LATEST thing in the way of pickup grille ornaments. The well-racked bull elk was brought down in the Baker region recently by Milton Stair of 239 Fulton Street. The animal dressed out at approximately 500 pounds.

Salesman Quizzed On Talk With 'Space Ship Visitors'

KEARNEY, Neb. (UP)—Authorities today held a "heart to heart" talk with a salesman, later discovered to be an ex-convict, who claimed he chatted with four men and two women in a transparent "space ship."

The report by Reinhold O. Schmidt, 48, of Bakersfield, Calif., Tuesday night was the most dramatic of a host of unidentified flying object sightings reported around the country.

Schmidt's tale, as strange as any science-fiction story, stirred considerable excitement in the Kearney area for a time. Police roped off the spot where the "Whatnik" allegedly landed and examined various impressions and oil stains on the ground.

have to be here a little while—you may as well come inside." They appeared to be working on the wiring, the salesman said, and did not offer to explain any of the equipment.

They spoke among themselves in German, Schmidt said. Finally, he said, they told him to get out and the ship, propellers whirling, took off like a helicopter.

Are you still living in the "dark" ages?

ONLY ONE HOME OUT OF FIVE IS PROPERLY WIRED FOR MODERN ELECTRIC LIVING!

Home use of electricity has increased 4 times in the past 25 years, has more than doubled in the past 10... and will more than double again in another decade. But even homes now being built are not always wired for full housepower.

INADEQUATE HOME WIRING IS INCONVENIENT, WASTEFUL, DANGEROUS!

If fuses blow and appliances are slow to heat up... if your lights blink and your radio fades when appliances come on... if you substitute double sockets for needed outlets—then you're suffering from low housepower.

Improve the wiring in your home: add outlets, install additional circuits, re-wire for electric heat or for another major appliance the easy way through Reddy Kilowatt's

Wire-on-time Plan for COPCO customers.
