

Flying Enthusiasts Form KF Chapter Of Pilots Club

Flying enthusiasts, meeting at the Pilots' Lounge at Kingsley Field, formed the Klamath Falls Chapter of the Sportsmen Pilots in Oregon November 5, and named Ned Putnam, president; co-officers elected are Bud Cloake, vice president and Jack Douglas, secretary-treasurer.

Organization of the flying group is designed to increase interest in aviation.

An active membership drive will be started at once by a committee headed by Jim Starkey of the Klamath Air Service. The committee seeks from 50 to 100 names of prospective members before the special charter presentation dinner and meeting on Saturday, November 23. Place of the meeting will be announced.

Sponsors of the new group feel that such an organization will contribute to renewing interest in aviation in the Klamath Basin and in the state of Oregon, said Ned Putnam.

As many members as possible will be named to committees. One of the most urgent needs is a new administration building at the air field and working toward this accomplishment will be an advisory committee, including flying businessmen and pilots dedicated to working with city and civic officials in seeking action on the proposal while federal aid is available.

Other cities, including Medford, Pendleton, Redmond have recently completed construction of such buildings with modern rest rooms, restaurants, lobbies for the use of both public and air service lines.

Anyone including pilots, student pilots and aviation-minded persons may become a member. For further information call Jack Douglas TU 2-3466 at OTL, or Jim Starkey, Klamath Air Service, TU 4-7858.

Equalization Board Meets

Members of the Klamath County Board of Equalization met Monday for discussion of the county assessment rolls as related to the true cash values of the property involved.

Equalization member Charlie Mack said the board is now in the process of getting the property transaction card date so that the annual recommendations pertaining to assessment ratios can be made to the county assessor.

In compliance with state law, the equalization board's analysis and recommendations must be on hand not later than December 15 of 1957.

Mack and Lee McMullin, another member of the county board of equalization, planned to be on hand Thursday at the annual Oregon State Board of Equalization schooling sessions in Salem.

ALTURAS — A 20-year-old Alturas man, Dennis Vance, escaped serious injury Monday night in a one-car accident at the north end of the Dorris reservoir.
Driving a 1953 Oldsmobile sports coupe, he swerved to avoid hitting a cow standing in the road on a turn, skidded in the loose gravel and slipped off the road. The car overturned and was extensively damaged.

Other accidents reported by the California Highway Patrol early this week included William Stanford, 47, of Alturas, who was injured early Monday when his Ford sedan ran off the road when he fell asleep at the wheel. He was taken to the Modoc Medical Center.

William Manning, 40, of Bieber, driving a pickup toward his home

Saturday night, failed to negotiate a right turn, ran off the road and the truck overturned. He is in Big Valley Medical Center at Bieber.

Several Theft Reports Listed

The following recent theft reports have been submitted to city police.

The hubcaps were stolen from the machines owned by Gary Croucher, an OTI student; and Warren Yoder of 1748 Menlo Way.

Also reported were several items stolen from the parked vehicle of E. R. Palmer, 405 North Fourth Street; and a Luger pistol stolen from the home of Walter Loucks, 939 Klamath Avenue.
