

EDWARD CURF SAMMONS, president of the The United States National Bank of Portland, will be in Klamath Falls on Saturday for the official opening of the Town and Country Branch of the U.S. National. His banking career started in Portland and was interrupted by World War I from which he returned as a lieutenant colonel. Since that time he has been associated with nearly every phase of city and state progress and growth. He was chosen as Portland's First Citizen in 1935 and his honors include honorary Doctor of Law degrees from Oregon State College in 1946 and the University of Portland in 1950. His personal interest in the statewide institution which he heads is evident in the selection of such men as Lester C. Offield as manager of Klamath Falls' downtown branch and Elton W. Smith as manager of the new Town and Country branch.
