Pierce-Roland Rites In Sacred Heart Church

Gold and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the altar setting in Sacred Heart Catholic Church for the October 19 wedding of Charlotte Ann Roland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Roland, Long Beach, to Gerald Eugene Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pierce, 2026 Oregon Avenue.

The Rev. Alfred J. Fisher officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony in the presence of some 100 guests. The bride was given in marriage by a close family friend, Timothy Murphy, in the absence of her father.

For her wedding, Charlotte wore a white lace and net over tulle gown. The scoop-necked bodice of lace was made with just-above-the-elbow sleeves, and the full, v-neck skirt featured tiers of full nylon net.

A white satin and lace horizontal pill-box encircled with seed pearls held the circular shoulder length veil of illusion attached to the top center of the cap. The cap and veil were designed and made by the bride. She carried a yellow throatied white orchid atop her white prayer book, a gift from the bridegroom.

wore a gold cross that had belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother; the old was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom's father to his mother; the blue garter was made by Mrs. Timothy Murphy; and the coin in her slipper was from the coin collection of the bride's grandfather, the late R. A. Roland.

Matron of honor, Mrs. George Kingsbury, wore a lavender tulle length skirt over a tulle foundation. Her cap of pink carnations and yellow pompons matched the bouquet she carried.

Best man was Barry O'Connor, Tulelake; and ushers were Bill Ely and Ken Carrier, both Klamath Falls.

Organist, Mrs. D. C. Healey, accompanied vocal soloist, Tony Perez.

At the reception in Sacred Heart Parish Hall, the wedding cake, encircled at the base with yellow chrysanthemums, was served by Mrs. Howard Biehn, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Gary Pierce, sister-in-law.

At the tea service was Mrs. Edward Routs, his cousin and coffee was poured by Mrs. Hugh Barnett. Anna Marie Davis and Bill Ely served the punch, and Mrs. Timothy Murphy registered the guests.

The bride's mother attended the wedding and reception in a sheath dress and jacket of mixed tweed. Her accessories were in a harmonizing beige shade, and she wore a corsage of tallman roses.

The bridegroom's mother chose navy blue accented with white accessories, black shoes and bag — and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of KUHS and her husband is a diesel mechanic, employed at Juckeland Truck Sales and Service.

The couple honeymooned at the Oregon Caves and other points in that vicinity. For travel, the new Mrs. Pierce wore a black and white wool tweed sheath and black patent accessories and white hat and gloves. They are now at home, 1330 Worden Street.

The fake fur shoe in all-black or all-red is an interesting companion for daytime woollens this winter.

TO WED LOCAL MAN — Marlene Joan Grasseschi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Grasseschi, Black Eagle, Montana, is the bride-elect of 2nd Lieut. John D. Hendrickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hendrickson, Merrill.

The bride-elect is a graduate of University of Oregon, and is teaching at Roosevelt School in Eugene. Her fiancé, also a graduate of U of O, is attending Signal Corps School, Monmouth, N.J. His father, former principal of Merrill High School, is now on the staff at Altamont Junior High School.

No wedding date was given at the time Mr. and Mrs. Grasseschi made the announcement.

Don't Bawl ... Brush!!

It's a universal experience. You get the much-needed and long-delayed permanent only to discover that your head resembles a pot scraper. The only solution seems to be to wear your hat day and night. Well, something can be done about it. A haircut helps, of course. But if it's too short to trim, then attack your frizzy mop with a stiff brush and brush away with your head down. Brush until your arm aches. Use a light, greaseless hairdressing before you brush and that will help to tame the frizz. After two or three shampoos, the permanent will soften up and begin to look natural. And next time, have your hair cut after the permanent rather than before. That will take care of all those frizzy ends.

A good manicure and polish job is more than indulging feminine vanity.

Manners

If you don't like the way a club organization is being run stand up and say so in meeting. Don't agree to everything and vote with the majority and then go around criticizing the club. If your outspoken criticisms are sound, you may get some action. If you talk behind your hand, you can't do any good and you may do a lot of harm.

It isn't necessary to urge a guest to have a drink in order to be hospitable. A good host is never insistent that any guest take a drink. A guest shouldn't have to keep repeating "No thank you" to make it final.

If, as a committee chairman, you are called on to make a report and you have none to make, say so and sit down. Don't give in to the temptation to talk just to be talking. Too many club members do that very thing. That's why meetings usually last longer than they should.

"He overcharged me. I'll never hire him again," said the woman about a repair man she had hired. She didn't ask the cost before she hired him. So she runs the man down to others and feels she was cheated. There's nothing wrong in asking "How much?"

In fact, it is much better than letting yourself be surprised and resentful when you get the bill.

Just because your spouse is your bridge partner, don't feel free to criticize your partner's playing. A husband and wife who can't play bridge without bickering ought not to play. It's too hard on the other players who have to listen to their arguments.

"I was afraid you might be asleep," says the person who makes a late telephone call. Which always raises the mental question, "If you thought I might be asleep, why didn't you wait until tomorrow to call?" Real thoughtfulness isn't in hoping you aren't disturbing others but in not taking a chance on disturbing them.

Make dishwashing easier by rinsing all dishes thoroughly. Juices, milk and eggs, especially, are hard to remove if left to set in glasses, bowls or plates.

Soon To Wed

MR. AND MRS. E. Z. HOWARD of Keno announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sherry Marlene, to Gordon Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Leslie Jr., Dundee, Oregon. The bride-to-be was salutatorian of Henley High School graduating class of 1957.

Gordon is a graduate of Newberg High School, Class of '54, and was graduated from OTI in 1956. The wedding will be a Thanksgiving Day event in Klamath Falls Methodist Church.
