By FLORENCE JENKINS

The Grigsby Smokehouse, Old Midland Road, is continuing operation as always, under the ownership and management of Mrs. Tom Grigsby. The business was established by her husband, the late Tom Grigsby, four and one-half years ago and the policies he established will remain unchanged.

Services include custom cutting and curving and wrapping for lockers—and doing it the way the customer wants it.

Mrs. Grigsby will be assisted on a full-time basis by her brother-in-law, B. E. (Tuffy) Grigsby, who has had 30 years experience in the meat business and has been a resident of Klamath Falls for the last 15 years. Also with the firm is Gary Rutledge, who started learning the meat-cutting and curving business with Tom Grigsby about a year and a half ago.

The Lee Dixon ranch, five miles north of Klamath Falls, containing approximately 600 acres, has been sold for a price "in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars" to the Diamond S. Co., a corporation headed by Louis Soukup of Eugene and Klamath Falls, according to Bruce Owens and Jesse Smith who handled the real estate transaction.

Barley and spud crop went with the deal. . . . Mike Foley will stay on as foreman for Diamond S. . . . Dixon said to be continuing his farm operations in the Tulelake Basin.

feet of operational flight apron at Kingsley Field.

Next bid opening will be 10 a.m. on Nov. 12 for drilling a second test well at the 220 unit family housing tract.

Bid opening for off-site utilities at the family housing site has been postponed to Nov. 25. . . . list of planholders was not complete this week.

Enterprising members of the graphic arts department at Oregon Technical Institute (particularly the 23 first-year students) are raising money on the campus to pay expenses of a field trip to California for about 30 of their number in March or April next year. . . . the next money-making event will be a Sadie Hawkins Day sponsored dance in the Student Union Building on Friday night, Nov. 15, to live music. . . . the public is invited.

Instructors are Earl Bailey and Bill Finch and the screen printing technology class members are making the posters right now.

A partner who isn't silent is George W. Hamilton who, after last Sunday's business column carried an unsolicited account of the purchase of Refrigeration Equipment Co. from Karl Urquhart (which actually occurred in July of this year), brought in a copy of the contract of sale showing purchasers as a four-way partnership made up of Hamilton and his wife, Maude Hamilton (owners of Commercial-Home Insulation Co. of Medford) and Donald H. Wilson and his wife, Joan Wilson. . . . also copy of a contract showing Wilson as manager.

The fad of foreign cars has spread to the small fry. . . . Harold Clark of Buy-Low Food Center, 1338 Oregon Ave., and Frank Fleet of Fleet's Bicycle & Toy Shop, 222 S. 7th, are giving away a Bimbo racer, imported from Italy. . . . the two-seater is driven by a 12-volt battery and a re-charger is built in. . . . it'll make a slick Christmas present for some lucky youngster in the area.

Sale of menthol-type cigarettes has increased by an estimated four per cent in the last two years, trade journals say. . . . salesmen agree that part of the increase has come about because of filter tips and flip-top packages.

Speaking of tobacco, Philip Morris, Inc., released figures last week showing sales gain of 10.8 per cent for the first nine months of 1957 over the comparable period last year and an earnings climb of 11.1 per cent. . . . at the same time, the company president, O. Parker McComas, announced plans for acquisition of Franklin Research Co. of Philadelphia (producer of waxes, polishes, cleaners, industrial emulsion & finishes) and Polymer Industries, Inc., Stamford, Conn., leader in packaging and paper converting branch of the industrial adhesives field. . . . Philip Morris acquired Milprint, Inc., of Milwaukee, leading company in flexible packaging field, on July 2, this year.

GORDON H. TAYLOR

Cal-Ore Builders Exchange has been started by Gordon H. Taylor, Southern Oregon representative for Kaiser Gypsum Co., Inc., with offices at Medford (246 So. Central) and Klamath Falls (323 Main St., Chamber of Commerce Bldg.).

Along with a lot of other representatives for building materials and services, Taylor had difficulty in getting information on upcoming jobs and recent contract awards in the area from Klamath Falls to Redding, Roseburg to Ashland and Brookings to Eureka. . . . there was no builders exchange in the whole area and Eugene, Portland and Seattle to the north and Sacramento to the south were too far away to visit frequently.

Services will include office space and plan tables for members to use in getting data for bidding jobs and taking off quantities for estimates. . . . A weekly newsletter will advise members of the plans on file. . . . Members will receive a list of building permits issued in Southern Oregon and Northern California and general information on all construction jobs, future jobs, present jobs and jobs just let.

As the Cal-Ore Builders Exchange grows, Taylor promises extension of services to the members.

At Kingsley Field, George Meyers, purchasing and contracting officer, received three bids for installation of storm drains and catch basins in the storage area at the field. . . . At the Nov. 5 bid opening, award was made to Arthur H. Patterson Jr., 2074 Earle St., on low bid of $6,294.32. . . . Other bidders were M. D. Gunderson, 5350 Shasta Way and Pliniger & Watkins, all of Klamath Falls.

Work includes installation of approximately 700 feet of corrugated pipe culvert and construction of four concrete manholes for catch basins.

Award was made earlier to Charles R. Wats Co., 4121 Sixth Ave. NW, Seattle ($3,545), only bidder on Oct. 31 for repair and filling of cracks on about 14,000

Scouts Report Busy Month

Scoutmaster Bill Green, of Boy Scout Troop 4 announced that October was a busy month for the Mills School's sponsored troop.

Troop 4 held its first Court of Honor October 26 in Mills School, with Boy Scouts Don Aschenbach and Kenneth Galloway being presented with their first class award by Scoutmaster Bill Green. The boys presented their mothers, Mrs. Ray Aschenbach and Mrs. Wayne Galloway with first class mother's pins.

Assistant Scoutmaster Ray Aschenbach presented merit badges to the following boys: Paul Noel, home repairs; Bobby Burnett, firemanship; and Robert Haynes.

The following Saturday fireside tenderfoot investigations were held at Denny Creek, with scout Don Aschenbach welcoming tenderfeet, Ben Tomlin, and Robert Parks into the troop. This was followed by a cookout.

Scouts participating in the cookout were Dean Guyer, Paul Noel, Kenneth Galloway, Don Aschenbach, Robert Parks, Ben Tomlin, Robert Ground. The troop was accompanied on the cookout by Bill Green, scoutmaster; Ray Aschenbach, assistant scoutmaster; and Virgil Noel and Wayne Galloway, committeemen.

PORTLAND BOUND was this trio of expert needlewomen to enter state competition in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest. Mrs. George Reiling, Poe Valley, left, district chairman of the contest, and local first place winners, Diane Marcum, center, Klamath Falls, who took top honors in the senior division with a wool suit, and Martha Tubach, right, Poe Valley, who entered a wool dress in the junior division, left November 7 by bus to attend the state contest.

Seamstresses In Contest

Nimble fingered seamstresses who entered garments in the annual "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest, sponsored by the Oregon Wool Growers Association Auxiliary, picked off prizes in district competition and went on to seek state honors this weekend.

Leaving for Portland where state competition from 17 districts is under way were Diane Marcum, Klamath Falls, first place winner in the district senior division; Martha Tubach, Poe Valley, first place winner in the junior division, and Mrs. George Reiling, also of Poe Valley, who is district chairman of the contest.

Twelve local girls entered the district contest in three divisions. In the subdeb contest, first went to Charlotte Heyden, Klamath Falls; second, Susan Tubach, Poe Valley; and third to Linda Heyden, Klamath Falls.

In the junior division awards went, first to Martha Tubach; second, Marilyn Mach, Henley; third, Janet Owen, Klamath Falls; fourth, Donna Carson, Merrill; and fifth to Lois Funderberger, Henley.

Transportation to Portland for the winners was paid by the United States National Bank of Portland, Klamath Falls Branch. Other awards were presented by McCall's Pattern Company, Pendleton Woolen Mills, Simplicity Pattern Company, Woolite Company, and Coates and Clark Thread Company.

Farm Bureau Women Meet

MONTAGUE — The November 2 meeting of the Shasta Valley Farm Bureau Women was held at the home of Mrs. Carl Rice with Mrs. Norman Sears assisting the hostess.

The group voted to send a contribution to the Farm Bureau state scholarship and to observe Farm City Week which starts on November 22. Mrs. George Flock and Mrs. Ralph Leavers were named to prepare papers on better understanding between farm and city women.

Mrs. Leavers led the demonstration on making of chrysanthemum and snapdragon corsages.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Aldee Davis. Christmas corsages and wreaths will be made from the natural evergreens of the area.

Bonanza High News

By SHERRY CRAWFORD

A total of eight students made the honor roll for the period covering the past six weeks.

They are David Duarte, Sydney Ketchum, Jack Horn, Dian Schwaegler, Tom Ellis, Margaret Thomas, Keith Valentine and Paul Dearborn.

Recent events included an early seventh grade Halloween party and a ninth grade skating party.

The College High School Relations Committee visited our school October 3 to talk to the seniors and freshmen on higher education.

Initiation was on September 23 and 24. The freshmen were dressed as different comic strip characters, for Freshmen Day, September 25, and an evening dance followed.

Scouts Stage Toy Campaign

CHEMULT—Cub Scouts of this area are learning early in life to share with others less fortunate by choosing for their current project the gathering of toys to be distributed at Christmas.

Dens 1, 2 and 3 of Pack 35 of Gilchrist, Crescent and Chemult have collected toys to be repaired and refurbished at the Bend fire station. Leaders of the groups are Mrs. Ernest Hardman, Mrs. Ray Koski and Mrs. Corwin Galbreath.

The October 28 pack meeting was held in the Gilchrist Methodist Church with mothers and fathers attending. It was suggested that parents read the section, "A word to parents," on page 158 of the Wolf Book so that cubs may get the necessary help to advance in their work. The cubs put on the October program and awards were given.

Members of Den 3 at Chemult, with Mrs. Galbreath as den mother, are learning how to raise and lower a flag and properly fold it and put it away. The post office flag has been made available for their use.

Women's Club Has Meeting

BONANZA—Cora Leavitt presided at the November 4 meeting of the Bonanza Women's Club and welcomed Veta Williams as a new member.

It was announced that scrapbooks made by members should be taken to Brown's Variety Store in Bonanza by November 28. Mrs. Mae Gale will mail them to Doernbecher Hospital at Portland.

Final plans were made for the all-day bazaar and food sale to be held in the library building on December 7. It will start at 10 a.m. and Nancy Schmor is general chairman. She will be assisted by the following committees: aprons, Ethel Jones and Lillian Becholdt; miscellaneous, Vi Brown and Louisa Horton; doll, Janet Fernlund and Velda Haley; grab bag, Cora Leavitt and Margaret Burnett; Christmas decorations, Bessie Praizer and Ida Towcliffe; food, Virginia Thomas, Mildred Kelleston, Florence Horn and Jeannette Stewart; hospitality, Helen Horsley and Betty Pepple. Funds from this event, the club's one big money-making project of the year, will go for maintenance and upkeep of the library building.

The next meeting of the club will be held all day on December 3 at the library. Members will make swags and wreaths and are asked to bring a paper sack lunch. Coffee will be furnished.

There will be a coffee hour starting at 2 p.m. on November 13, given by Ann Dalton and Virginia Thomas, to raise money for the luncheon fund for the library.

After the meeting, the baby doll for the bazaar was given a layette shower, including a high chair. Hostesses Florence Horn and Lillian Becholdt served refreshments to 21 adults and several children.

Animal Cruelty Fine Revealed

MONTAGUE — Julius McMillan, a local nutria grower, paid $100 fine on conviction of cruelty to animals when he appeared before Judge James McAdams in the Montague Justice Court this week.

Investigating sheriff's deputies charged McMillan had left 28 of his nutria unintended and unfed while he was on a week's trip to Arkansas. As a result of his neglect, several of the animals died. The surviving animals were returned to their original owners at Central Point, Oregon.

Dairy to Bonanza to live. . . . spend several months with her daughter, Mrs. Elva Dodson.

Dairy — Mrs. Minnie Arant and son, Dunham, came back to Dairy from Sacramento last week and she has gone to North Bend to the winter in California.
