By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns, gulping energy pills while starving the opposition, and the San Francisco Forty-Niners, beaten before the National Football League's biggest crowd, clung to one-game division leads in the wake of Sunday's action.

The Browns, who have been taking thousands of special pills to build up their strength, shut out the Pittsburgh Steelers, 24-0, to retain their Eastern lead over the New York Giants. New York kept on Cleveland's heels by downing the Chicago Cardinals, 27-14.

The Detroit Lions and Baltimore Colts, tied for second behind San Francisco, cut the gap to one game by whipping Eastern Division opponents. Bobby Layne threw three touchdown passes to pace Detroit to a 27-16 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles and Johnny Unitas dashed three yards in the last minute to give Baltimore a 21-17 victory over the Washington Redskins.

Rick Casares bolted nine yards with a minute remaining to give the Chicago Bears a 21-14 victory over the Green Bay Packers in the other game.

Cleveland now boasts the league's best record, 6-1. New York has a 5-2 mark. Pittsburgh, which invaded Cleveland tied with New York and with a chance to tie for the Eastern lead, fell two games behind the Browns. San Francisco stands at 5-2, while Detroit and Baltimore have 4-3 records.

Norm Van Brocklin, booted so often in the Coliseum, sent his biggest single audience home happy. He threw scoring passes of 15 and 30 yards to Bob Boyd while completing 14 of 23 for 224 yards to spark the Rams offense.

Cleveland scored touchdowns on Tommy O'Connell's heaves of 49 yards to Ray Renfro and 13 to Preston Carpenter plus Don Paul's 89-yard dash with a Billy Wells fumble.

Eli Bowl 33-33 Tie Of 1931 Was The Wildest Game Ever

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Twenty-six years ago, Yale and Dartmouth played a delicious 33-33 tie football game. It still rates as the wildest, weirdest, most exciting gridiron battle ever seen in the Yale Bowl.

The crowd was left limp and exhausted at the finish. Fortunate witnesses, many of them grandparents today, still thrill over it, and for good reason.

New generations of fans, their curiosity aroused by the free-scoring, write hundreds of letters annually to the Yale and Dartmouth athletic officials for details.

Between You 'n Me

Last fall Matty Bell, Southern Methodist athletic director, called Red Blaik three times, insistently recommending Army hire an assistant lost in the Mustang coaching shuffle. . . . Red turned him down because of no vacancy. . . . the aide, Henry Stram, handed in-slot-at Notre Dame to plot the slot-T offense which upended the Kaydets in Philly.

At a Tallahassee coaching clinic last spring, Stram was approached by a Cocoa, Florida, high school tutor and warned, "I had a kid you'll be wishing you never saw in October." . . . the kid was Bob Anderson, who ripped 81 yards from scrimmage the first time he carried the ball against the Irish. . . .

Tip to Lou Perini: If you get a wire complimenting you on the post-Series kissing scene in the dressing room and signed "Cecil B. DeMille," be forewarned it comes from your pals, Frank Leahy and Billy Sullivan. . . . it was Leahy, incidentally, who set the Braves' move from Boston to Milwaukee in motion by first introducing Perini to the late Fred Miller, beer baron and sports enthusiast who sold Lou on Milwaukee's potential. . . .

Quite a contrast, sitting with Leahy in the solitude of his room at the Cherry Hills Inn, outside Philly, on a Saturday, while Notre Dame enthusiasts were pouring all over the city. . . . and Moses Krause and Terry Brennan were hosting a party just five miles away. . . .

Leahy on the changes in football: "They're using much more spread stuff and there's less reluctance to pass deep in your own territory." . . . add Leahy: "I still can't eat on a Saturday night after watching a game, but I eat well now on Friday night. . . . And I sleep well." . . . "When you're analyzing the improvement in Notre Dame's defense, don't forget a lad named Bernie Crimmins" . . . on Army's fatal substitutions: "I never anticipated a boy getting tired. I let him play till he got that way." . . .

Guy asked Lou Burdette after the Series what kind of name it was, French or what. . . . "Heck, I don't know," drawled Lou, "just say Nitro." . . . Burdette's past off-field earnings: about $1,000, estimates agent Frank Scott. . . . this winter's potential: $10,200,000. . . .

Night after the series closed, Tommy Byrne was already in North Carolina to see his 14-year-old play high school football. . . . a regular at end weighing only 132 pounds. . . .

College Grid Gates On Par Of Last Year

NEW YORK (UP)—College football attendance is up in the eastern half of the nation, down in the western half and almost the same nationally this season compared with the corresponding period of a year ago, a United Press survey showed today.

The tabulations, based on home crowds at 109 colleges, showed that the average attendance during the first half of the present season was 25,481 a game against last year's 25,489. That decrease of eight customers a game means an overall drop of 0.03 per cent.

The East, South and Midwest all showed increases, the East leading with a 9.33 per cent rise. Attendance dipped in the Midlands, Southwest, Rockies and Pacific Coast, with the coast falling 10.42 per cent for the largest loss.

The University of Michigan, whose stadium seats 101,001, again led all other colleges in total attendance with 256,986 for three games. The Big 10 also provided the national runnerup in Ohio State, where 242,986 have watched three games. Those huge turnouts helped Midwest attendance rise 2.28 per cent.

Elsewhere: East — Army leads with 141,758 in three games, including the 96,000 who turned out for the Army-Notre Dame game in Philadelphia. South — Attendance up 4.33 per cent. Louisiana State leads the section with 198,800 in four games, three under the lights.

Pacific Coast — UCLA is the sectional leader with 215,330 in six games. Contributing heavily to the area decrease were drops from 268,407 to 189,995 by Southern California in five games and 218,000 to 117,000 by Stanford in four games.

Rockies — Attendance down 4.71 per cent, largely due to a drop of more than 50 per cent at Colorado State. Colorado leads in total turnout with 99,500 for three games.

Southwest — Attendance down 4.39 per cent with nosedives at Southern Methodist and Houston. Texas has drawn the largest crowds with 198,000 for three games, all at night.

Texas A&M, Duke, Oregon, Ohio State, Bowl Leaders

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The college football season reaches its most frenzied pitch next Saturday when no fewer than four teams can wrap up bowl bids. Texas A&M, Ohio State, Duke and Oregon, could join Oklahoma, which has cemented its berth in the Orange Bowl and "relaxes" against Notre Dame before a nationwide television audience.

The Sooners, who beat Missouri 39-14 last Saturday, will be heavily favored against the Irish. Notre Dame, showing the effects of a murderous schedule, dropped a 34-6 decision to Michigan State.

As for the bowl situation, here is how it shapes up: Rose-Ohio State is the Big Ten favorite. The Buckeyes and defending champion Iowa go at it this week, and an Ohio State victory would end it. Iowa is ineligible. Michigan State is the only other team with a chance. The Spartans have to beat Minnesota Saturday, and hope Ohio State loses its last two games.

On the other end, Oregon, despite a staggering 13-6 loss to Washington last week, still is in the most favorable position in the Pacific Coast Conference. The Ducks need only one more victory to clinch a tie for the championship and their opponent this week, Southern California, has won just one game. Cotton-Texas A&M, No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, has only Rice standing in its way. Rice, although it scored a 13-7 upset over Arkansas Saturday, doesn't appear ready to cope with Bear Bryant's men.

The second team in the Cotton Bowl usually is the second-place outfit in the Southeastern conference. Last year, however, Syracuse was plucked.

Sugar-The Southeastern Conference champion traditionally acts as host. But Auburn, which is rolling along in first place and undefeated, is ineligible for post-season play this year.

If Mississippi can get by Tennessee this week, Ol' Miss probably will cement second place and wind up in the Sugar Bowl, with either Tennessee or Vanderbilt, whichever wins their game Nov. 30 — going to the Cotton Bowl.

Orange-Oklahoma already has one spot taken care of. The Atlantic Coast Conference supplies the other outfit and all Duke has to do to win the title is beat Clemson this week, or—failing that—North Carolina next week. The Blue Devils' tied Navy 6-6 last week.

Utah Back Has Field Day Against Army With Passes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Randy Duncan, Iowa — Twice passed for TDs and plunged for two in 44-20 rout of Minnesota.

Auburn defense — Alert, swift, as usual, powered through for a safety and jarred loose a fumble that set up TD in 15-7 decision over Mississippi State.

Dick Wallen, UCLA — Twice set up TDs with interceptions and pounced on fumble that triggered springing march that beat Washington State 19-13 with 40 seconds left.

Tom Morris, Princeton — Passed 11 yards for tying TD and ran 39 yards for clincher, both within last 7½ minutes, for 29-20 decision over Harvard.

Art Johnson, Michigan State — Scored twice, sprinting 50 yards for the second TD, which triggered a 27-point second half in 34-0 rout of Notre Dame.

Duane Morris, Kansas — Passed for two second half TDs, connecting for the clincher on a 40-yard play with 18 seconds left.

Gene Churney, Illinois — Blocked conversion try and brought 20-19 upset of Michigan.

Kaiser And Michigan State Aiming At Rose Bowl Again

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dave (Golden Toe) Kaiser is flexing his kicking leg in hopes of getting in another Rose Bowl boot.

Kaiser will be remembered by the nation's football fans as the sophomore end who kicked a field goal in the last few seconds to give Michigan State a 17-14 Rose Bowl victory over UCLA on January 2, 1956.

MSU is eligible for the West Coast trip again this season. Kaiser was slowed by a twisted ankle and injured foot suffered in the second game of the season last fall but has come back strong.

"He should have his greatest season," says Coach Duffy Daugherty of the 22-year-old, 6-foot-1, 200-pound senior. "A lot of people just remember that Rose Bowl show and forget that he was our best pass-catching and all-around end as a sophomore. He still is."

When the Spartans routed Indiana 54-0, in their Big Ten opener this season, Kaiser kicked five straight extra points.

Kaiser, a high average geology major, doesn't look like a football player. His straw-colored hair is thinning and he wears horn-rimmed glasses off the field and contact lenses sometimes when playing.

The shoe he used in making the bowl three-pointer was gold-plated and has a place of honor in the Spartan sports museum.

Kaiser still works like an eager sophomore at his football.

He was on a field geology trip in northern Michigan just before fall practice opened and drove all night to be on time for the first workout.

He's the last player off the practice field every night, staying behind after the formal drill is over to practice his extra point and field goal kicking. A student manager shags the footballs.

Toronto Leafs Drop To Cellar

By UNITED PRESS
It's pretty hard to believe, but the Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings are tied for last place today in the National Hockey League.

The Leafs, off to one of the poorest starts in their long history in the NHL, dropped their eighth loss in 14 games Sunday, 3-1 to the resurgent Chicago Black Hawks, while the Red Wings, perennial regular-season champions, were beaten by the Boston Bruins, 4-2, for their ninth loss in 15 games.

The results left the Black Hawks in third place, four points behind the idle second-place New York Rangers, and six points in back of the pace-setting Montreal Canadiens. Boston is in fourth place and Toronto and Detroit are in a deadlock for fifth and last place.

Huge Crowd Sees Rams Nip SF 37-24

LOS ANGELES (UP) — An elated Sid Gillman credited both the offensive and defensive Los Angeles Rams lines today for their stirring 37-24 win over the San Francisco Forty Niners but agreed the individual praise belonged to Norm Van Brocklin.

"Both of our teams did a great job," Gillman said, "and it was our greatest defensive game, but the Old Dutchman was hot."

Before an astounding crowd of 102,368 at Memorial Coliseum Sunday, Dutch threw two touchdown passes to Bob Boyd and hit on a total of 14 out of 23 tosses for 224 yards.

The attendance figures surpassed the previous NFL record of 93,751 set by the Rams here in 1953 against the Detroit Lions and also eclipsed the pro football record of 95,985 for a Rams-Washington Redskins exhibition game here in 1951.

Despite the loss, the Forty Niners remained atop the NFL Western Division with a one-game advantage over Detroit and Baltimore who share 4-3 records.

The middle of the Rams defensive line — Larry Morris, Dick Daugherty and George Strugar — shot the gap most of the afternoon, playing havoc with Van Brocklin's old rival, Y. A. Tittle.

The baldish passing ace connected on 12 of 23 attempts for 147 yards but was thrown for a total of 73 by the trio.

The Rams scored first early in the opening period with Van Brocklin's first pass to Boyd, this one good for 15 yards. But the visitors came right back on the next series to tie it up on Tittle's 22-yard toss to Hugh McElhenny.

Los Angeles also racked up first half scores on a one-yard blast by fullback Tank Younger, a four-yard off tackle slant by Jon Arnett and a 50-yard aerial from Van Brocklin to Boyd. Tittle sneaked one yard for a San Francisco touchdown and Gordie Soltau kicked a 35-yard field goal, making it 28-17 for the Rams at the half.

The second half was limited to a pair of touchdowns—one for each squad and a safety for the Rams. Fullback Joe Marconi closed out a 48-yard Ram drive with a plunge from the one, and Forty Niner halfback Joe Arenas threw a 33-yard trick pass to end Clyde Connor for a score early in the third period.

Los Angeles got its safety late in the same period when Daugherty trapped McElhenny in the end zone. The Rams had an edge in first downs, 25-15 and a 417-to-311 margin in total yardage.

Forty Niner coach Frankie Albert praised the work of Tittle and attributed the loss to a breakdown of "our interior offensive line."

"I thought when we closed the gap in the score early in the game we would have a chance to win but our pass protection was not good enough," he said.

Somd 10,000 fans were turned away at the gate, testimony to the Rams' amazing popularity here despite their mediocre season record.

Michigan State Irish Party After Notre Dame Win

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The Irish of Michigan State are still enjoying an off-season St. Patrick's Day celebration after their 34-6 football beating of the Irish of Notre Dame.

Coach Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty awarded the game ball to team captain Patrick Francis O'Brien.

Daugherty retained the shillelagh that is the personal trophy between him and not-so-happy Notre Dame Coach Terry Patrick Brennan.

Brennan next Saturday faces high-riding Oklahoma, which polished off Missouri 39-14, running its victory string to 47.

"Michigan State is the best team we've met this year," Brennan said. "You just can't defend against speed but I still think we can get up against Oklahoma. We weren't as bad as the score would indicate."

Michigan State ends conference play against Minnesota next Saturday and will watch Ohio State, hoping for two Buckeye losses or a loss and a tie that will send the Spartans to the Rose Bowl.

In handing out post-game credit, Daugherty practically ran through the entire roster of the 51 Spartan participants.

Michigan State was hurt by fumbles in the first half and had only a 7-0 intermission margin. But a three-touchdown third-quarter flurry gave every player in uniform a chance to romp against the Irish.

Probably the proudest fellow on the field was reserve fullback Dick Barker of Lansing, who scored the last touchdown. Barker became a father for the first time Saturday.

"I can tell my son I made a touchdown against Notre Dame the day he was born," he said.

Art Johnson, halfback with the so-called second team, scored two MSU touchdowns. First-stringers Walt Kowalczyk and Blanche Martin scored the other two.
