

Tunisia Arms Plan Attacked

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today the French government will consider any American or British delivery of arms to Tunisia contrary to Atlantic solidarity.

Pineau told the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee that Britain and the United States "are about to effect delivery of arms to Tunisia."

He said France "regretted this Anglo-American initiative."

Pineau announced the Cabinet's opposition to arms for France's former protectorate after an all-night series of meetings and exchanges between Premier Felix Gaillard and British and American envoys.

U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton delivered a note to Gaillard yesterday stating the United States wants to go ahead with arms deliveries to Tunisia. By doing so, the Americans hope to stave off Tunisian acceptance of Soviet-bloc arms offered by Egypt.

The U. S. note aroused speculation that Premier Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia has received new offers from Egypt or Communist bloc countries.

The French are reluctant to see any arms flow into Tunisia for fear they will funnel on to the Algerian rebels.

After delivery of the American note, Gaillard called off a scheduled speech and hurriedly convened his Cabinet. Later he conferred with Houghton and the British charge d'affaires, Sir George Young.

The American Embassy called the meeting "a very small affair... a family squabble." There were indications the United States might be willing to delay the arms deliveries, but the British were reported demanding quick supplies for Bourguiba, thus far a staunch friend of the West.
