Twelve Guesses

Elise R. H. Roberts
Guess the words correctly, write them in a column, and you'll see that their first letters spell out a day we all know.

1. A bird we eat this day.
2. By now, farmers have this done.
3. Name of this season of the year.
4. Part of the country where this holiday began.
5. Where food is cooked.
6. The bird is filled with this before it is roasted.
7. The company who eat with you.
8. The people the colonists found in America.
9. What pumpkins grow on.
10. What requested colonists to attend feast.
11. It was the month of ———.
12. What we feel on this holiday, shown by its name.

ANSWERS: 1. turkey, 2. harvest, 3. autumn, 4. New England, 5. kitchen, 6. stuffing, 7. guests, 8. Indians, 9. vines, 10. invitations, 11. November, 12. gratitude.
THANKSGIVING.

Junior Treasure Chest

Pick-A-Pair

The royal cooks are announcing a contest. Won't you join? Four may play. You will need 56 pieces of cardboard, each about three-fourths of an inch square. Cover each of the 56 squares with one cardboard square. Each player chooses a number from one to four. Number one plays first, number two second, and so on.

by Hazel Frazee

Number one uncovers two squares anywhere on the board. If the pictures that are uncovered are pairs, as two pumpkins or two apples, the player removes his pair of squares to his pile. If they are not pairs, the player covers the pictures again. If a player uncovers a pair he plays again. The player who has the most pairs when all the pictures are uncovered, wins.

Let's Draw a Seal!

Ann Davidow

From a moon let's make a seal,
Snooty, slippery as an eel.

Look carefully to understand
The bends in each short, wavy strand.

Sleek of head, this little feller
Has a fishlike tail propeller.

Upon his nose, a circus trick,
He bounces balls with just a flick!
