Perez Risks Fistic Title This Week

NEW YORK (UP)—Little Pascual Perez of Argentina will attempt his seventh defense of the flyweight crown against Young Martin of Spain Saturday at Buenos Aires in the only world title fight on this week's boxing schedule.

Perez, weighing about 106 pounds and Martin about 111, are expected to attract a sellout 85,000 to the Boca Juniors Soccer Stadium. Perez is favored at 7-5.

At Madison Square Garden, Friday night, lightweight contenders Paolo Rosi and Johnny Busso will meet in a nationally televised and broadcast 10-rounder (NBC). Italian Rosi, now living in New York, is favored at 8-3 over New Yorker Busso. Their bout, originally slated last March, was delayed three times by injuries and ailments.

Rosi, ranked fifth, has a 26-4 record that includes 11 knockouts. Ninth-rated Busso has a 31-5-1 record that includes 14 knockouts.

At Miami Beach, Wednesday night, heavyweight contender Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach will meet Willi Besmanoff of Germany in a nationally televised 10-rounder (ABC). Pastrano, ranked third, is favored at 4-1 over unrated Besmanoff. Pastrano's 43-5-5 record has nine knockouts; Besmanoff's 43-10-7 has 14.

The week's boxing schedule includes:

Monday — New York (St. Nick's) — Alex Mjettef vs. Tony Gagliardo; New Orleans — Ralph Dupas vs. Mickey Crawford; Leicester, Eng. — Joe Bygraves vs. Joe Erskine.

Tuesday — Milwaukee — Jimmy Slade vs. Orville Pitts; Newark, N.J. — Tex Gonzales vs. Jay Anderson; Boston — Jackson Brown vs. Joe DeNucci.

Wednesday — Miami Beach — Willie Pastrano vs. Willi Besmanoff.

Thursday — Los Angeles — Paulie Arnstead vs. Jimmy Laster.

Friday — New York (Garden) — Paolo Rosi vs. Johnny Busso.

Saturday — Buenos Aires — Pascual Perez vs. Young Martin (world flyweight title); Johannesburg, S.A. — Willie Towel vs. Al Nevarez; Berlin, Germany — Gustav Scholz vs. Alex Buxton; Milan, Italy — Duilio Loi vs. Felix Chiocca.

Navy Might Get Bowl Bid

DALLAS (UP)—The Cotton Bowl has seven schools in mind for its visiting team but the Army-Navy game obviously is going to decide the issue.

President Bob Cullum stresses that he has no formal commitment from Navy that it will play in the Cotton Bowl game in the event it beats Army. But the Cotton Bowl will have a representative at Philadelphia Saturday and it's dollars to doughnuts that if Navy wins there will come an immediate announcement that it will play the Southwest Conference representative in the Cotton Bowl.

Meanwhile, however, Cullum still has Mississippi (8-1), Mississippi State (6-1), Clemson (6-3), North Carolina (6-3), Tennessee (6-3) and Vanderbilt (5-2-2) on his list of prospects.

Pointing out that no major bowl game will have an undefeated team this year since Auburn, which is undefeated and untied, can't play in a post-season classic because it is under NCAA ban, Cullum said teams with 7-3 records would be as good a choice as any. Especially when they have done what Clemson and North Carolina have done — beat some of the best. North Carolina just last week toppled Duke, which will be one of the teams in the Orange Bowl.

Clemson and North Carolina are in the Atlantic Coast Conference, which commits its teams to the Orange Bowl, but Cullum said the conference might give permission for one of its eleven to play in the Cotton Bowl after the Orange Bowl team was decided upon.

Ten had to offer by beating Iowa for the title a week ago and then walloping Michigan, 31-14, for its seventh straight conference success Saturday.

By coming from behind to down the Wolverines, Ohio State collected its 24th conference win in 26 starts since the 1954 campaign. It also gave the Buckeyes their second Rose Bowl bid since then, and their third conference championship.

The Bucks made their most impressive showing in 1954 under Coach Woody Hayes when they wound up undefeated with a string of 10 victories, seven in the conference. They capped this accomplishment with a 29-7 Rose Bowl win over Southern California.

In 1955, the Bucks were ineligible for the Bowl but finished in first place with six conference wins and no losses. They dropped their only two conference games in four seasons last year, finishing fourth to champion Iowa with a 4-2 record.

Hayes' crew would have added another undefeated year to the record but for a pesky Texas Christian which scored an upset over the Big Ten champs in the season's opening game.

It would figure as an even greater upset if the Pacific Coast Conference king Oregon stopped the Buckeyes on New Year's Day.

Michigan State, runner-up in the Big Ten grid scramble, wound up with a 5-1 mark in conference action but risked its top national ranking by allowing underdog Kansas State to move in front for three periods in Saturday's game.

The Spartans uncorked a three-touchdown rally in the final section to come out with a 27-9 victory over the Kansans.

Iowa, closing its campaign a week ago with a 4-1 record in the league, lost the ball three times on fumbles but still defeated Notre Dame, 21-13, with a fourth quarter pass play from Randy Duncan to end Tom Norton.

Purdue and Wisconsin tied for fourth place, each winding up with a final victory and a 4-3 conference slate.

The Boiler-makers blasted Indiana, 35-13, in the annual battle for the Old Oaken Bucket, and Sophomore Dale Hackbart again proved the man to watch in Wisconsin's up-and-coming Badgers.

He scored both touchdowns in the Badgers' 14-6 win over Minnesota.

Fullback Ray Nitschke scored two touchdowns in leading Illinois to a 27-0 win over Northwestern. It was the third conference victory for the Illini and the ninth loss for the Wildcats, their poorest season in history.

PCL Looks At Spokane

SPOKANE (UP)—Representatives of the Seattle Rainiers and the Los Angeles Dodgers were scheduled to meet with local civic leaders Monday to discuss the possibility of locating a Pacific Coast Baseball League franchise here.

The Coast League has been looking for new cities to bring into the loop since major league baseball became a reality for San Francisco and Los Angeles, two former members of the PCL.

The San Francisco Giants have already purchased the Phoenix franchise and that city probably will field a team in a realigned Coast League.

Other cities being suggested as possible homes for PCL teams are Long Beach, Calif., Mexico City and Salt Lake City.

Representing the Rainiers at Monday's meeting here were President Emil Sick and General Manager Dewey Soriano. Representing Los Angeles were Spencer Harris, a long-time Dodger farm club official, and President Dick Walsh of the Los Angeles Angels, the old PCL club wiped out by the Dodger move from Brooklyn to Los Angeles.

Round Table and Career Boy have been the only 3-year-olds to win Atlantic City's United Nations turf classic. Round Table won the 1957 test while Career Boy scored in 1956.

OSC, Ducks Taylor Thinks Recruiting On All Coast Biggest Job Of Grid Coach Grid Eleven

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UP)—You'd think a football coach spends most of his time working on the game — on plays, practice, with players and assistant coaches.

Not so, says Chuck Taylor, Stanford's head coach until next February, when he becomes assistant athletic director. After seven years as the head man, Taylor finished up Saturday when his Indians beat California 14-12 in their annual Big Game.

Taylor, 37, said in an interview Sunday that instead of working on football, the modern-day coach has the job of No. 1 recruiter.

It's a task that involves being away from home, school and team. It involves speaking and visiting alumni, prospects and coaches. And it leaves too little time for coaching.

Taylor suggested that schools with major football schedules would be better off if they had one fewer assistant coach and hired a full-time recruiter — a good public relations man who knows football.

He said recruiting is a necessity. "Coaching is a matter of having tools to work with. And tools in this case are athletes," he emphasized.

"Throughout my career I constantly thought about who are we losing and who have we coming up."

Taylor said the duties of his new job have not been defined, but he hopes he'll be able to relieve the new coach — to be named after Jan. 1 — of some of the recruiting work.

But until he changes jobs, he'll be making speeches, visiting alumni, coaches and prospects and making contacts.

"Either a coach hires a larger staff to do the coaching and he does the public relations work, or he hires somebody to do it," said the rehired ex-Stanford A11 America guard.

"That banquet circuit, he said, not only interferes with the coaching, but also plays havoc with home life.

"I was never at home," Taylor said. "I was always traveling — four or five months a year."

"I didn't have time to concentrate on my youngsters."

The Taylors have three children.

A & M, Texas Vie Thursday In Traditional

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—Texas A&M and Texas have been battling on the gridiron for 63 years but the sixty-fourth game coming up Thursday is the most important of all in the ancient series.

The Southwest Conference championship and two bowl games are bound up in this bitter rivalry that will be renewed Thanksgiving Day for the benefit of 42,000 fans — all that can get into Kyle Field — and a big segment of the television audience of the country.

It wasn't expected to be like this — Texas A&M was supposed to stride through the conference and play Texas only because it was a traditional game.

But Texas, arising from football's scrap heap under the leadership of Darrell Royal, the "jaw to jaw" defensive advocate, is ready to contest for everything.

The Long Horns have won five, lost 3 and tied 1, whereas last year they managed one victory in 10 tries.

If Texas should beat A&M it might win the conference championship. At the least it probably would get the Sugar Bowl bid.

If A&M wins it can either tie for or grab the conference title and would be a certainty for the Sugar Bowl. If either Texas or A&M wins the championship, it will be host team in the Cotton Bowl.

The Texas-A&M game will bear heavily on a little football melee at Houston — 70 miles from here — Saturday. There Rice plays Baylor. Rice would be able to win the conference title if Texas A&M should lose and tie for it if the Aggies should win. By tying for it, Rice would get the Cotton Bowl host spot. If Texas should win and Rice lose, Texas would be champion.

The Aggies and Longhorns started battling each other back in 1894 — the day they played the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the Southwest. Over the years they've tussled 63 times, skipping some seasons but making up for it by playing two games in a single year several times.

Lane Dickers For Players

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (UP)—Frank Lane, baseball's master trader who was recently appointed general manager of the Cleveland Indians, might have trouble swinging deals in the American League this season.

Lane huddled yesterday with Vice President Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox.

"I'm out to get our club a second baseman or a shortstop or both," he said. "I'm willing to trade but I must get what we need and those are our two weak positions."

He admitted he'll have trouble trading but hoped to be able to consummate the deals he has in mind.

"I couldn't do anything with Comiskey but we have a lot of time," he said.

"I'm willing to trade (Ray) Narleski or (Early Wynn) for infield strength but I have to get what I want."

The Sox expressed interest in pitchers Don Mossi, Narleski and Wynn but when Lane asked for second baseman Nelson Fox and shortstop Luis Aparicio, the talks ended.

Lane was still disappointed about missing out on infielder Billy Martin who went from Kansas City to Detroit in a multiplayer deal.

"I wanted Martin badly," said Lane, "but I know I won't be able to get him now. I have an outfielder to trade but I won't deal for another outfielder just to make an exchange. We need help in the infield and something will break soon."

Tackles have been captain of Michigan State football teams on 15 occasions. Halfbacks have captained the Spartans 13 times.

"We feel disappointed and a little downhearted about it."

The toe belonged to Ted Searle, captain of Oregon State's football forces. He booted a 12-yard field goal Saturday that gave OSC a 10-7 football victory over the Ducks.

"We played pretty good on defense and our offense was all right, except for the fumbles and penalties at crucial points."

The most critical fumble came in the fourth period, with OSC leading 10-7. Halfback Jim Shanley of the Ducks was driving into the OSC end zone for what would have been the winning touchdown when the ball squirted from his grasp.

Nub Beamer, Oregon State's bruising fullback, pounced on the oval and Oregon's hopes for an unblemished title went glimmering in the gathering dusk.

Both teams scored their touchdowns in the first quarter, OSC on a 60-yard march with Joe Francis carrying the final three yards and Oregon on a 41-yard march with Jack Crabtree passing a yard to Shanley for the TD.

Searle's game-winning field goal came in the third period after an OSC drive stalled on the Oregon 12.

The final result left the Ducks and Beavers tied for the conference title with 6-2 records, but the Rose Bowl bid was virtually assured Oregon because the Beavers are ineligible because of the no-repeat rule. They played in the Pasadena saucer last January.

Tommy Prothro, coach of the Beavers, declined to make a prediction on the outcome of the Rose Bowl game, although he was elated that the Beavers whipped Oregon.

Both Casanova and Prothro expressed concern with their prospects for the 1958 campaign. Both coaches will lose heavily through graduation next spring.

Casanova said he planned to start Rose Bowl practice sessions here Dec. 16 and then move the team to Southern California four or five days later.
