Khrushchev Stresses Party Control Over Russian Army

MOSCOW (AP)—A month after Russia's top military officer was sacked for resisting Communist party control, Nikita S. Khrushchev warned the nation's lowest new officers not to buck the party.

The Communist party boss spoke at a reception last night for the graduating class of Moscow's military academies, reviving a custom that lapsed with Stalin's death in 1953.

Like Stalin, Khrushchev used the ceremony to remind the young officers that the party is supreme in Russia. He also called upon them to increase vigilance against "the threat of war whipped up by imperialists."

Khrushchev said Marshal Georgi Zhukov was ousted as defense minister Oct. 26 for opposing political control of the army. "The decision of the Central Committee (to expel Zhukov) aimed at a fundamental improvement of party political work in the armed forces," Khrushchev said.

The party boss declared the party is "leader, organizer, educator and main source of power" of the Soviet armed forces.

Khrushchev repeated recent public statements that Soviet armed forces are equipped "with all types of modern arms, including atomic and rocket techniques" and said Russia has launched an international ballistic missile.

"The international situation demands that we maintain the defense of our country on the highest levels of modern military techniques and science," the party secretary said.

"The policy of the U. S. ruling circles," he charged, "is aimed at undermining peace. So long as imperialism exists, a situation of war may arise."

Similar charges were carried Tuesday by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, and the government paper Izvestia, which reprinted an editorial from the Red China newspaper Jen Min Jai-pao of Peking.

It said that Soviet warnings prevented Turkey from carrying out "the aggressive aims of the imperialists." The Russians and Syrians have charged repeatedly that Turkey, with U.S. support, was planning to invade Syria.

The fact that Turkey has not attacked is proof that "the forces of socialism (communism) exceed the forces of the imperialists," the editorial said.

It added:

"In the Second World War the main forces which destroyed Hitler were those of the Soviet Union and not the combined armies of the United States and Great Britain.

"In the Korean War it was the Chinese peoples volunteers and the Korean Army which hurled back the so-called United Nations forces composed largely of United States troops."

"In the struggle for Egypt, it was mainly the warning by the Soviet Union to Britain, France and Israel which halted the aggressors."

Hearing Opens For Chessman

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Convict-author Caryl Chessman today waged what he once described as the "final battle" in his nine-year struggle to avoid death in the San Quentin gas chamber.

The scene was a Los Angeles Superior Court where Monday a hearing opened on the 1,321-page transcript of the 1948 trial that ended in two death sentences for Chessman.

The 37-year-old soft-spoken "death row" author based his latest appeal from death on grounds that the transcript of his trial on 17 counts of kidnaping, robbery and sexual assault was fraudulently prepared after the death of the original court reporter in the case.

In the opening session of the hearing, Prosecutor J. Miller Leary attempted to introduce the disputed transcript for identification purposes.

Jumping to his feet, San Francisco attorney George T. Davis objected on Chessman's behalf that he had "many arguments" to offer against allowing the transcript to be received.

"It gets down to the very merits of why we are here," Davis said. Judge Walter T. Evans ruled that Chessman could speak for himself in the case because of the "unusualness" of the hearing.

Evans permitted an interruption of the transcript hearing to allow final arguments on a motion that the warden of San Quentin, where Chessman has spent nearly 10 years, be forced to release the convict's latest book, "The Kid Was a Killer."

A. L. Wirin, attorney for the Civil Liberties Union, argued the book should be released, but Assistant Attorney General William Bennett countered that the court has no jurisdiction over the book because Chessman lost his rights as a citizen when he was sentenced to death.

Chessman has financed his legal fight to avoid the gas chamber by writing the novels, "Cell 2455 Death Row" and "Trial by Ordeal."

Theft Reported By Local Firm

The Novak Parts Supply, 2935 South Sixth Street, was broken into sometime Monday night and approximately $100 was stolen according to investigating Oregon State Police.

The building was apparently entered from the rear when a thief or thieves to unlatch a door. Tools in the store were used to punch a hole in the bottom of the store's safe.

Jumping to his feet, San Francisco attorney George T. Davis objected on Chessman's behalf that he had "many arguments" to offer against allowing the transcript to be received.

Dog Poisoning Noted In Basin

County Poundmaster Bill Schlagel reports that a high frequency of dog poisonings have been noted in the Bly area and that a reward is being offered for information leading to apprehension of the person or persons responsible. Schlagel may be contacted at the county dog pound, TU 2-1279.

The poundmaster adds that several poisonings have also been reported from the Malin area, and that persons in the named regions have expressed an interest in making contributions toward a large reward to be paid for information leading to the arrest of the offenders.

Schlagel said persons in other areas of the county have expressed interest in a similar type plan, and that anyone wishing to contribute to a reward fund or wish to discuss the matter may phone or visit with him at the county pound, located immediately south of Klamath Falls.

School Board Action Listed

The Klamath Falls Elementary School Board effected several actions Monday evening with regard to properties involving the city schools.

In the first instance the board authorized the payment of $3,000 to the county for the purchase of 222 north side lots. It is anticipated that the property will sit some time in the not too distant future because a north side junior high growth within the city deems it necessary.

The property is north of Lytton Street, east of the railroad tracks, roughly bounded on the west by Glen and Holabird streets, and is north by the Graham-Peyton property.

Also in the tract are approximately 70 privately owned lots which are now in the process of being purchased by the school board.

In other action the school board authorized the transfer of a Pelican School area lot to the county, and authorized a request that the county pave the portions of McLain and Corvallis streets in the immediate area of Pelican School. The paving would involve approximately two blocks of street length.

The board authorized the purchase of a $20 lot near Riverside School, with the property to be used for expanding bus turn-out areas and addition to the play area.

At the meeting two weeks ago it was proposed by Board Member Robert Kent that the school system study the possibility of offering skiing instruction within the athletic program. At last night's meeting members of the board reported that such a plan is under study and that a more complete report is expected during the next board session. Studying the plan are Joe Peak, elementary athletic director; Jim Johnson, high school athletic director; and Bob Bonney, city recreation director.

Xmas Seals Project Starts

Christmas seals are in the mail, and the results of the 51st annual Christmas seal sale will determine the balance between further research and the lack of study of the dread disease tuberculosis.

Mrs. Eric Majors, executive secretary of the Klamath County Tuberculosis and Health Association, this week said: "Tuberculosis concerns all people, those who are infected with the disease and those who are not. Goal of the association is to prevent these not now infected from becoming victims."

It is estimated that this year there will be 114 new cases, possibly as yet unsuspected in the state. This year Oregon has 593 cases of active tuberculosis.

New drugs have been discovered to fight tuberculosis but these do not kill at TB germs, but do suppress the further growth of bacilli. These give the body a chance to fight. In some instances the new drugs become ineffective after prolonged use and other forms of treatment must be substituted.

Treatment varies with rest, medication, sometimes surgery, and good food, depending on severity of infection.

Those with active TB should be hospitalized for treatment. Frequently families are unable to provide hospital care and it is in these instances that money from the sale of the small, colorful seals is made available for diagnosis, treatment, research, new drugs and rehabilitation.

Grand Jury Action

Grand answer was received from the grand jury on the recent query. In other council action, the U.S. National Bank of Portland was awarded the bid for $72,533.82 of street improvement bonds when they offered an interest figure of 3.461 per cent or a total dollar figure of $25,194.65 as against another bid of 3.902 per cent, $28,956.30 interest, submitted by First National Bank of Portland.

A request, submitted by Leo Morsrud on behalf of the Klamath Merchants Association, asking permission to stage a Christmas parade from Second and Main to Main and Spring from 10 to 11 a.m. Saturday, December 7, was approved.

Eight new street lights were authorized by the council. These would be located at the following intersections: Prescott and Ohio, Lytton and Holabird, Lowell and Holabird, Biehn and Lytton, Mt. Pitt and California, Mt. Pitt and Corvallis, Oregon Avenue and California and Oregon Avenue and Hill.

Petitions were presented and approved granting permission for "against traffic" parking in two areas because of icy weather conditions which arise during the winter months. These two areas were the downhill side of North Eighth Street between Lincoln and Grant, and on Roseway Drive.
