School Board Says Grand Jury Probe May Be Illegal

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York City Board of Education charged last night that the special Brooklyn grand jury probing school crime "may not be legally valid."

Administrative functions of government agencies unless there is evidence of dereliction by public officials amounting to a crime.

The board added that it "will not tolerate the intimidation of its staff or the students of our schools either by teen-aged hoodlums or misguided persons."

Before going into the board meeting, School Supt. William Jansen said Leibowitz "called me names in the presence of a member of our professional staff."

Leibowitz denied Jansen's allegation. The board's statement endorsed earlier statements by Jansen and Board President Charles H. Silver.

Goldfarb leaped to death from the roof of his apartment house Tuesday at the time he was to make a third appearance before the grand jury.

The grand jury denied having threatened Goldfarb and said it was being "maligned" by the Board of Education.

Court Upholds Contempt Rap

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals by a 5-4 vote Friday upheld the contempt of Congress conviction of Harry Sacher, New York defense attorney in communist causes.

Sacher's conviction was based on his refusal to tell the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in April 1955 whether he was then or ever had been a member of the Communist party.

Another question which he refused to answer, and which was made a count of the indictment against him, was whether he then was or had ever been a member of the lawyers' section of the Communist party.

Sacher was convicted in federal district court here and received a sentence of six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The Court of Appeals once before affirmed the conviction, but the Supreme Court last June sent it back for a new review in the light of its decision in the Watkins case.

The Watkins case ruling was that a witness in a congressional hearing is entitled to an explanation of why questions he is asked are pertinent to the matter under study.

Judge Warren E. Burger, author of the majority opinion in the appeals court, rejected all contentions raised by Sacher. This included one that questions put to him infringed on rights under the First Amendment to freedom of expression and, presumably, freedom of association.

Sacher did not claim the Fifth Amendment privilege, but argued that under the First Amendment he had the right to refuse to discuss his "beliefs, religious, political, economic, or social."

Burglary Case Hearing Set

February 11 at 8:30 a.m. has been set as the preliminary hearing date for Browne L. Atkinson, 18-year-old Klamath Falls youth, charged with three counts of burglary not in a dwelling.

Atkinson appeared before District Court Judge D. E. Van Vactor Thursday and requested the preliminary hearings. He is represented by Attorney David R. Vandenberg Jr.

The charges were filed in connection with 1957 burglaries at the Town and Country Shopping Center, Ganongs Variety Store, and Baggett's General Merchandise Store.

Police Seek Missing Girl

WEED — Weed police and the Siskiyou County sheriff's office have been asked to conduct a search for Delcie Jayne Data (known as Jaynie), 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Data, 54 Stringtown Avenue, Weed, who has been reported missing since Tuesday, January 28.

Police Chief David Dawson reports the girl was last seen in the company of Jack Harlow, 28, former Klamath Falls resident, who was driving a green 1956 Mercury sedan, California license FDC-246.

Harlow is described as having a medium build, about 5 feet 9, black curly hair and was working at Pacific Packing at Gazelle until Tuesday night. He has a stepfather at Alturas and his mother lives at Gazelle.

The girl is 5 feet 4, has blue eyes, short brown hair and weighs between 125 and 130 pounds. She was wearing a gray coat, black skirt and white blouse.

It was first thought, Dawson said, that the couple had eloped to Reno, but investigation failed to reveal their presence there. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of either is asked to call the Weed police or the sheriff's office at Yreka collect.

Senator Hits Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said Friday an analysis of President Eisenhower's housing recommendations shows lack of "any serious effort" to meet the nation's housing problems.

The recommendations, Sparkman said, show "that the administration is paying lip service to the attainment of desirable social and economic objectives and at the same time trying to maintain the illusion that this can be done by cutting back important federal programs."

"The net result will be failure in both attempts by providing too little, too late," he added in a speech prepared for the Senate.

Sparkman, chairman of the Senate Housing subcommittee, offered seven steps he said were needed to make the administration's housing program effective.

Eisenhower's housing proposals were sketched in his budget message on Jan. 13. They will be spelled out in detail in a special message expected in February.

One major administration proposal calls for increasing the level at which the Federal Housing Administration can insure new home mortgages.

Eisenhower also proposed repeal of a law requiring FHA to regulate the size of discounts charged by banks when they buy FHA-insured mortgages.

The housing industry has complained that the discount controls have tended to dry up mortgage credit.

Williams said that Eastern politicians who were "so vociferous during the Little Rock episode" now are "silent as the tomb."

"Where are the paratroopers?" he asked. "Why is it that the President has not federalized the New York National Guard? Are our armed services to be used solely in the South to make sure that the President's private definition of 'peace and order' is achieved?"

Fuel Explosion Hurts Workman

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A workman was injured slightly when a batch of solid rocket fuel exploded at the Aerojet General Corp. plant last night.

It was the third recent explosion there, but none has halted production.

E. E. Nelson, resident manager, estimated damage at $75,000. An investigation was opened to learn cause of the explosion.

PRELIMINARY ARRANGEMENTS for the Heart Fund drive were discussed at a recent meeting in Portland. The Rev. Gordon C. Griffin, Lake County chairman, is pictured in the center with John N. Adams, left, state chairman, and Gov. Robert D. Holmes, right, honorary state chairman. The Rev. Griffin is planning a program for the drive in Lake County to be held in February.

C Of C Sets Fund Meeting

A chamber of commerce subcommittee has announced it will meet next week to discuss the possibility of raising $1,000 as part of the chamber's portion to maintain booths at sportsmen shows in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Requesting the money from the tourist promotion subcommittee of the Tourist and Convention Committee was Paul Danielson, manager of the Bend chamber, who said that it was to the interest of both cities to participate in the shows promoting tourist travel on Highway 97.

He pointed out that Bend has been to the Los Angeles show for the past seven years and has passed out innumerable folders telling of the scenic beauty of Bend and Highway 97. This year, Danielson has requested that the Klamath County chamber send personnel and literature to the shows, saying that since they shared a common interest, Highway 97, they must promote tourist travel before Highway 99 becomes a super highway.

"Last year at the Los Angeles show," Danielson said, "we gave out 50,000 folders to people hungry for information about Southern Oregon. In spite of the amount of folders we had, we ran out two days before the show closed."

This year for the first time, the Bend chamber is buying a booth in San Francisco's huge Cow Palace, which is hosting the show, February 28 through March 8.

"We must make our pitch to the four and one-half million people in the Bay Area who are just a day's drive away," Danielson continued. He expressed deep concern that too many tourists driving north take Highway 99 at Weed instead of Highway 97.

"If we can educate the people of Los Angeles and San Francisco now, we may not have to worry about the future," said Danielson.

School Head Cites Difference Between Red, U.S. Education

County Superintendent of Schools Carrol Howe told members of the Kiwanis Club Thursday that our race for leadership with the Soviet Union has placed an unprecedented emphasis on education, and that we are now at several educational crossroads.

He pointed out that the American and Russian educational systems and purposes are vastly different, and that we must appraise our system from all angles if we are competing with the Russians for scientific training leadership.

"In the first place," he said, "we must realize that in Russia there are only two primary courses of secondary and advanced study; that leading to scientific achievement and that which prepares a student to become a member of the political elite.

"Second, there is no choice. The field in which a promising student will study is determined by the state.

"And third, the field of higher education is reserved for those who prove themselves capable of leadership in the scientific and political fields. For example, only 13 per cent of the beginning students in Russia are ever graduated from high school. In our country the figure is 75 per cent."

He said the American public is going to have to determine whether we will give up some of our choices as a means of competing with the Russians in the scientific fields.

He pointed out that our system of education is for the public in general, and that education is designed for both the mediocre and the exceptional student.

"We have a much broader choice of occupations," he said, "and the student and his family are able to make that choice. Our government is run by the people," he emphasized, "and we must educate the people to take part in the government. The Russian people do not have to be educated to administer a democracy; they do not have a democracy and their government is administered for them by the select few."

He pointed out that the freedom of choice in our educational field and in other scopes is vitally necessary to the continuance of our way of life, and that if we wish to have more students pursue scientific studies we may have to alter our sense of values.

"That is," he said, "what inducement will be offered the student?" He explained that much of our way of life is based on prestige, and that a student has his own pattern of prestige.

"If we are to place the premium on educational achievement," he said, "the case is going to have to be such that a student will value a prize winning essay as highly as a pocket full of spending money. His being on the honor roll will be as significant as having a car, and his perfecting a scientific exhibit will be as important in the eyes of students as the winning of an athletic letter."

Howe cited another difference. The average American student is educated today for his own betterment and the security of his own future. In Russia, all students are educated for the future of the state.

Lad Shares Funds With Polio Campaign

Yarns about "the meanest man" who carries away March of Dimes containers for reasons known only to himself, frequently get into print. During the March of Dimes fund campaign in Klamath County now being concluded, the generosity of a small boy came to light.

He is a lower grade school student whose allowance is probably limited. His teacher has noted that he brought a meager lunch with few gastronomic frills, day in and day out, since school started last fall.

When cards were passed in the school rooms for contributions to the polio drive, the lad placed 13 pennies on the card, his gift to the fund for helping others.
