Johnson May Lead Drive For Outer Space Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas appears likely to head a special committee's search for a national policy on efforts to control outer space.

Johnson was ready to push through the Senate speedily a resolution to set up a 13-member committee. It would be charged with producing by June 1 or shortly thereafter a comprehensive plan to supervise U.S. civilian and military attempts to reach the stars.

Johnson's proposal had the backing of Sen. Knowland (Cal.), the Senate Republican leader. Although Johnson has made no public commitments, he was represented as favoring a civilian-controlled agency patterned after the Atomic Energy Commission but with even greater latitude in developing rocket weapons.

Senate aides reported that lobbying pressure already is building up to give control of the program to the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, to the AEC, to the Defense Department and to the Air Force.

The proposed special committee seems likely to be composed of veteran senators. Its seven Democratic and six Republican members would be drawn from six regular Senate committees.

Besides Johnson, Democrats mentioned for appointment included Senators Hayden of Arizona, Russell of Georgia, Fulbright of Arkansas, McClellan of Arkansas, Magnuson of Washington and Anderson of New Mexico. Republicans may include Senators Bridges of New Hampshire, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Wiley of Wisconsin, Mundt of South Dakota, Bricker of Ohio and Hickenlooper of Iowa.

President Eisenhower told his news conference Secretary of Defense McElroy will boss the military space programs while a group of scientists working under Dr. James M. Killian Jr. drafts a program for non-military space exploration.

Log Operations Halted By Mill

McCLOUD—McCloud River Lumber Company officials stated that all logging operations will cease February 7, to be resumed when present log storage is exhausted.

Fallers were laid off January 31 and other loggers will complete their cleanup work this week. About 200 men will be affected by the shutdown.

The lumber market will determine resumption of logging activities to a large degree.

Most of those affected by the shutdown live at Pondosa and Camp Kinyon logging camps.
