

C Of C Manager Relates Function Of Civic Division

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles explaining the work of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, in connection with chamber week which ends February 8.

In his effort to review briefly the five divisions of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, Manager R. Frank Tucker today devoted his explanation to the Civic Division.

"Composed of nine committees," Tucker said, "this division is concerned with the problems of local, state and national government."

The manager continued, "One of the more important committees is the Taxation Committee. In 1957, it began its work shortly after the convening of the Legislature and studied over 100 bills which affected the Basin, as well as the state.

"Then," said Tucker, "reports and recommendations and communications were made with our senator and two representatives on the position taken regarding these bills, not only during the regular session, but the special session as well.

"Our Aviation Committee," continued Tucker, "was concerned with three points of importance during the past year. The first was a detailed preparation and presentation to the Civil Aeronautics Board, dealing with the needs for adequate air service in the Basin. The second was to sponsor legislation in the state to obtain air service to Salem, and the third was to continue working with military and civilian personnel on the problems of mutual interest that pertain to Kingsley Field."

The third committee that Tucker discussed was the National Affairs Committee. "Broken into two and three-man groups, this committee studies and makes analyses and recommendations to the board of directors on matters of national importance and issues such as federal vs. private power, farm legislation, foreign aid, atomic energy, school construction, housing, Hoover Commission, government in insurance, security, spending and taxes."

Tucker stated that the State Legislative Committee deals with many of the problems of the Taxation Committee and he added that this committee met regularly and studied matters affecting Klamath County and the state during the regular and special sessions of the Legislature.

Still another committee of the nine committee group is the Indian Affairs Committee. "No one in the Basin," Tucker stated, "has to be reminded of the seriousness to our economy that has been caused by Public Law 587,

PROTEST REJECTED

BERLIN (UP) — East German Communists have rejected a Western allied protest against the demonstration Jan. 19 of armed militia in East Berlin. The East Zone foreign office issued a statement Thursday denouncing the protest as "unjustified interference in the internal affairs of the East German Democratic Republic." The West had protested to the Soviet government in East Berlin on grounds that parades of armed German groups are banned in Berlin under four-power agreements. The Soviets referred the protest to the East Germans.
