From the left, in front, Dave Vandenberg, Fran Nichols, Betty Harrahill, Robert Harrahill, Robert Nichols and Rodney (Rod) Murray, seated on the floor opposite Dave Van-

Second row, same order, Fred Foulon, Marie Murray, Marcella Bell, Nancy Fullaway, Joan Foulon, Muriel Vandenberg, Rodney Bell, Al Fullaway, Britta and Martin Franz. The four in back, from the left, Bruce and Maxine Wirth and Robert and Marian Harvey. Assisting during the evening were Maxine and Joane Foulon. Fred and Catherine Hayes were not present for the picture.

PLENTY FOR MORE THAN TWENTY — No matter how thirsty! "Davey Jones Locker" was a popular oasis of thirst-quenching beverages at the "bon voyage" party for the Robert Nichols. Guests were invited to arrive at 7½ bells, for a spot of grog before mess at 8 bells, when a bountiful buffet was served before the evening bridge session.

FOR QUICK TRIPS TO KLAMATH FALLS — Britta Franz points to the "Lakeview Express" and suggests that Fran and Nick Nichols use the Express for return trips to Klamath Falls from their new home in Lakeview.

Eulalona Chapter DAR National Defense Meeting

Members of Eulalona Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled on Monday evening, February 3, in St. Paul's Parish Hall for the chapter's annual program on national defense.

Guest speaker for the evening, Mrs. Warren Bennet, was introduced by Mrs. Albert Roenicke, national defense chairman. Mrs. Bennet reviewed "On the Beach," by Nevil Shute. Although fiction, the timely book is on the "must" list of recommended reading for Pentagon officials.

The regular business meeting and election of officers followed the program. Elected for two-year terms were Mrs. Albert Roenicke, regent; Mrs. Julian Ager, vice regent; Mrs. Dick Henzel, secretary; Mrs. Irene Foster, registrar; Mrs. C. K. Wells, historian; Mrs. Arch Proctor, chaplain, and Mrs. Richard Moehl, librarian. Officers were installed by Mrs. Guy Barton, the outgoing chaplain.

The 44th Annual State Conference of the DAR is scheduled for March 2, 3 and 4 in Portland.

Guests for the evening were Mrs.

Cleaning the scalp between shampoos sometimes is necessary. Cotton and scalp tonic will do this. Moisten cotton with oily scalp tonic for dry hair or an astringent scalp tonic for oily hair. Apply this to the scalp with hair parted at one-inch intervals. Use a soft towel to wipe off excess tonic from each section.
