

NY Teacher Undaunted By Threats

NEW YORK (AP)—A 27-year-old mathematics teacher plans to be in school Monday although he has been threatened with death if he appears.

A white man, he is going to his practically all-Negro junior high school in Queens without police protection. He requested none but asked protection for his wife and baby daughter.

This latest incident of violence in the city's schools came to light Friday when the teacher, Robert Barbarash, showed the mailed threat to police.

Printed in an immature hand was the following:

"Don't go to school Feb. 17 if you want to stay alive."

Barbarash had pressed charges against four boys suspected of sniping at him outside the school with an air rifle. Two of the boys attend his school.

Charges against three of the boys were dismissed. The fourth was released in his parents' custody for a hearing in June.

Barbarash was slightly wounded in the lobe of the left ear. He said he lives in fear of young toughs in his classroom.

The teacher said he regards the letter as a joke. So did the school's principal, Sherwood H. Friedman. Friedman said he thought the sniping was an accident and that the four boys admitted they often shot the air rifle from a window near the school at a pole near which Barbarash was hit.

Friedman said the boys denied hitting the teacher and that the school has been free of other serious incidents since he became principal in September 1956.

Barbarash said the principal's strict discipline helped avert violence at the school.

The teacher said he received the threatening letter, written on paper used in the school classroom, last Thursday afternoon.

Tulelake Plans Large Scale Mouse Eradication Project

TULELAKE—A full scale, all-out attempt at meadow mouse control this year is proposed for the Tulelake Basin as soon as weather permits. Action to seek support of all agencies controlling land areas, followed a meeting of farmers who have confirmed that the anticipated die-off of mice after the first year cycle in 1957, has not materialized in appreciable numbers.

The meeting, attended by 75 farmers was held in the office of Ken Baghoti, Tulelake farm adviser.

Attending also were Siskiyou County agricultural commissioner, Jess Grisham, Modoc County agricultural commissioner, Loring White; Siskiyou County deputy agricultural commissioner, Bill Huse, Tulelake, and Modoc County inspector, Leroy Smith.

Music Group To Hold Drive

Prefacing the annual Community Concert Association membership campaign slated for early March will be a special meeting Monday, February 17, at the First Presbyterian Church for all association workers.

In announcing the meeting, Andrew Loney Jr., president, explained that the 7:30 p.m. meeting has been called to finalize campaign organization plans and get the drive under way. Vice-paigner Ross Ragland will distribute kits to association membership drive workers prior to opening the renewal drive.

The campaign renewal period this year will extend from Monday, February 17, to Saturday, March 1. During this time current ticket holders in the organization will be contacted to renew their memberships. From March 3-8 new members will be accepted on the roll at a fee of $6 for adults and $4.50 for students.

Ragland reminded concert goers that the check in time for renewals is 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on March 1 at the campaign headquarters, the Louis R. Mann Piano Company, 120 North Seventh Street. Campaign week check in time is planned from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 4 through March 8 at headquarters.

A campaign dinner the evening of March 3 will launch the drive for new members.

Ragland pointed out that, although most Community Concert members have increased their membership fees, the local board recently voted to continue with the amounts subscribed last year. Admission to the concert series, which annually offers top performers in a variety of fields, is by membership card only.

"The Concert Association Board of Directors is anticipating one of the most successful seasons in the history of the Klamath Basin," president Loney said. "The organization is strictly a voluntary nonprofit group and is the only means whereby finest concert attractions can be brought to Klamath Falls without fear of a deficit."

He explained that each year after the campaign is closed, the budget of expenses is made up and the remainder is used for the purchase of artist attractions.

Loney joined Ragland in urging concert workers to attend Monday night's meeting in the parlor of the educational unit of the First Presbyterian Church, Sixth and Pine streets.

Maurice Strantz, manager of the Tulelake Irrigation District has named a committee of 10 to contact all farmers within the irrigation district seeking cooperation in the poisoning plan. Also asked to cooperate are officials of the county and state highways, Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, the railroads and owners of small acreages.

Committeemen appointed by Strantz and the sub districts of the Basin they will cover include: Walter Meshek, John Takacs Jr., (1) comprising the west side of Lost River; Berris Short, Earl Schultz, (2) Lost River to the Siskiyou County line; Francis Webb, Ronald Ward, (3) Modoc County line, Stronghold to the Malin Road; Stanley Buckingham, Sam Wynn, (4) Stronghold Malin Road to the east boundary of the district; Manuel Silva, Woody Chamber, (5) Coppock Bay and the Panhandle.

Under the proposed operation, farmers will be responsible for their own fields, the irrigation district for all ditch banks and berms within the district, county and state highway departments for roadsides and railroads for rights of ways.

The Fish and Wildlife Service and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation have also been asked to participate.

It has been agreed that Ken Baghoti, farm adviser and the agricultural commissioners of the two involved counties, should advise as to timing for the poisoning to be started as soon as two or three dry days make work possible.

Cost of private land operation will approximate 50 to 70 cents per acre per application. Baghoti announced. Bait most effective for the kill of the rodents, still found to be present in large numbers will be determined. Estimated cost of ditch bank control is $3,000.

Both Siskiyou and Modoc counties will mix poison to be made available to farmers at five cents per pound.

For effective control, officials say that all land should be treated to prevent migration of mice from an infested field to one that is clean. It is expected that reproduction will increase rapidly as soon as green feed is available.

Library Week Head Chosen

R. L. Tidwell, librarian of Klamath Union High School has been appointed chairman of the Klamath Falls Library Week Committee.

The program — with the theme "Wake Up and Read!" — is a national citizens campaign to re-establish reading in the daily life of every American. With the importance and the rewards of family reading and the necessity of library service for its goals, the drive will culminate in the first National Library Week, March 16-22.

A meeting for organizing the Klamath Basin Library Week program will be Monday, February 17, at 3:30 p.m. in the KUHS library.

Attending the session and mapping plans will be Tidwell and his committee, representatives of the Jaycees, librarians from all Basin schools, OTI librarians, and the county and city librarians.

"Now, as never before, a united effort to increase reading is needed," Tidwell said. "A recent survey shows that over 60 per cent of adults in the United States had not read a single book last year, other than the Bible."

"More reading is vital for an informed public in today's complex world and for mental challenge and satisfying recreation in the coming age of leisure."

Tidwell's group will include Mrs. F. C. Adams, Mrs. V. E. O'Neill, Mrs. O. K. Puckett, and Vivian Alloway.

"This committee represents the widest community interest. Its activities to encourage reading, in homes, schools, churches, businesses and civic centers, can make our drive here most effective," the new chairman said.

National Library Week is being organized by the National Book Committee, Inc., an active nonprofit group devoted to wider and wiser use of books, and the American Library Association. The campaign is drawing support from magazines, newspapers, and national radio and television networks.
