U.N. Will Demand Return Of Plane Kidnaped By Reds

SEOUL — Pyongyang radio admitted Monday a South Korean passenger airliner with two Americans and 39 others aboard flew to Communist North Korea Sunday.

Insurance Users Drop

SALEM — The Oregon Industrial Accident Commission has lost almost 10 per cent of its insured employers because the 1957 Legislature imposed a $7.50 annual fee on employers.

William A. Callahan, chairman of the commission, said Monday that of the 44,000 employers who were covered by state industrial accident insurance last year, between 3,500 and 3,800 have had their insurance canceled for non-payment of the fee.

Employers who are not covered either by state industrial accident insurance or by private insurance can be sued for damages by their workers who are injured. They can be sued by survivors in case of fatal accidents.

Many employers are hopping mad about the new fee, Callahan said. He said that all of those canceled are engaged in non-hazardous business, because the commission is prohibited from canceling a hazardous industry.

For the most part, those canceled are small employers such as farmers and householders, he said.

Callahan explained that the Legislature imposed the $7.50 annual fee to cover the commission's cost of servicing accounts. Under the former system, he said, some employers didn't pay enough to the commission to pay this cost, so that other employers made up the loss.

"The new fee," Callahan said, "brings in $300,000 a year, and enables us to reduce our rates by that much. It doesn't cost the employers as a whole any more money, but it does make the smaller accounts pay their way."

Firms which were canceled on Jan. 1 can get back in by paying the $12.50 fee charged against new accounts.

Callahan said the commission asked the Legislature to fix the annual fee at $5, but that employer groups said it should be $15 or $20. The Legislature compromised at $7.50.

He said it actually costs the commission $11.52 a year to service an account.

The commission's administrative cost of 7.96 per cent is the lowest in the country, he said.

Rotary Club Fetes Scouts

MONTAGUE — Honored guests at the dinner meeting of the Montague Rotary Club held last week were five scouts, the scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop No. 51 of Montague.

Principal guest speaker for the evening was Delbert H. Pillard, chairman of Siskiyou District of the Crater Lake Council of Boy Scouts. Pillard spoke on the organization of Boy Scouts and gave a general idea of its objectives and functions.

Southland Hit By Cold Wave

ATLANTA — The hardest cold wave of winter's worst visit in years hit the Southland Monday and a natural gas shortage added to the hardships of Georgians.

Temperatures ranged from 23 below zero at 6,684-foot Mount Mitchell in North Carolina, highest peak east of the Mississippi River, to an uncomfortable 43 at Miami. There were 28 inches of snow on the ground in the Mount Mitchell area.

The natural gas shortage was reported in Georgia and Alabama. The Atlanta Gas Light Co., which serves 58 communities in 29 counties, started radio broadcasts early in the day, appealing to residential customers to cut their thermostats back five degrees. They also were urged to delay washing and any cooking not strictly necessary.

A spokesman in Atlanta said that with these measures and added supplies of gas being brought in by tank car from as far away as New Mexico, serious difficulties would be avoided.

Georgia temperatures ran from 4 below zero in the mountainous section to 19 above at Brunswick, just north of the Florida line on the southeast Georgia sea coast. Atlanta reported 5 above zero.

In Alabama, among schools closed because of a gas shortage were those at Phenix City—adjacent to Columbus, Ga., and Fort Benning—and Lanette.

Snow from Saturday's storm still covered most of Tennessee with temperatures 15 to 18 degrees below normal.

Louisiana and Mississippi had freezing weather but there was no ice or snow. The temperature at New Orleans was 32.

The U.N. Command said the plane was tracked by radar north of the trace line before it vanished yesterday. South Korean military sources reported that radar had followed the DC3 at least 60 miles further north to Sunan, site of a Red air base near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

After leaving the southern port city of Pusan shortly before noon, the U.N. said, the plane checked in on schedule at Taegu and Osan. There was no reported indication of trouble on board.

When the airliner reached Seoul, its destination, it continued winging north.

The pilot was Willis P. Hobbs, Vallejo, Calif., an American civilian who has worked for KNA for about two months. His wife and two young daughters live in Hong Kong.

A U.S. Air Force officer, Lt. Col. Howard W. McClellan, Buchanan, Mich., was acting as copilot. A U.N. spokesman said American officers often fly with the line to log extra flight time and pay.

South Korean police checked the families of the 28 Koreans aboard and said that at least one soldier was listed on the flight manifest under a false name.

KNA said the airliner carried 28 passengers and a crew of four. The airline resumed regular flights from Pusan to Seoul today, but each passenger was searched for weapons.

Sheriff's Party Searches For Lost Chewelah Skiers

CHEWELAH, Wash. — Two 18-year-old members of a ski patrol were missing Monday night when on 5,470-foot Mt. Chewelah nearly two days after they helped find a lost Boy Scout.

Sheriff Beryl Warren said searchers on snow shoes set out at dawn to find Gale Wuesthoff and John May who were last seen Saturday evening.

The two youths were members of a ski patrol that located husky Alan Andrist, 14, who became lost in heavy fog while on a Boy Scout skiing trip on the mountain.

May and Wuesthoff got within shouting distance of young Andrist and then set out to tell other searchers he had been located.

Andrist and two other members of the ski patrol spent Saturday night in the open, then came in safely.

Nothing has been heard from May and Wuesthoff.

About five inches of new snow fell overnight and the temperature dipped below freezing.

Andrist's father, Dr. Charles G. Andrist, a Chewelah veterinarian, helped lead a search party of about 25 men Monday.

Some of the searchers were equipped with walkie-talkie radios and had sufficient clothing and supplies to stay on the mountain all night.

Young May was suffering from an infected tooth Saturday. Neither he nor Wuesthoff, both Chewelah High School students, were dressed very warmly and they had only a few candy bars for food.

Little fear was felt for their safety at first because both are experienced skiers and know the area. But there was deep concern Monday after their second night in the open.

Dr. Andrist has short wave radio equipment in his car and his wife manned the receiver at his office here Monday, about 10 miles from the ski lodge.

"We are getting pretty worried now," she said. "They weren't dressed too well for one night, let alone two."

Fog was lifting over the mountain Monday morning and she said private pilots would be asked to join in the search.

Survivors include one son, LeRoy Gienger, Chiloquin; a daughter, Mrs. Harley Olsen, Chico, California; six grandchildren, Mrs. James Rodgers, Sprague River; Mrs. Glen Kircher, Chiloquin; LeRoy and Bud Gienger, Sprague River; William Greene, Oregon State College; Mary Grace Greene, Pacific University and James Greene, Chiloquin.

GOC Sergeant Gives Report

MONTAGUE—Sgt. Victor Asiala, sector sergeant of the Klamath Falls sector of GOC, was in charge of the program at the recent meeting of three of the Siskiyou County posts held at the Montague Elementary School, with members representing Montague, Yreka and Stuart Ranch posts present.

A brief report on the practice alert held in January was given by Sergeant Asiala, who also announced that another alert will take place on February 25 from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. He also stated that there will be surprise alerts in the near future being called directly from Sacramento.

Awards were presented by Asiala to the following members of the Yreka post: Harry Simmons, Billy Day, Hap Thomas, Elmore Cunningham and Hazel Jordan.

Members of the Montague post who were eligible for awards but were not present were Gladys Leen, Edith Leen, Shirley Haight and Katy Campbell.

Members of the Yreka post were in charge of refreshments. The next meeting of the three posts will be held on March 13 at Montague with the Montague post as host. It will mark the second anniversary of Montague's reactivation in GOC work.

Church Group Holds Meeting

Heart Info Book Ready

Information in pamphlet form on all phases of heart conditions, causes, recognition of symptoms, medical research, complications in both adults and children, some preventive measures, cures, may be had at the Town and Country Branch, U.S. National Bank of Portland. The booklets are free and are available at the desk of Robert L. Mason, chairman of the 1958 Heart Fund campaign.

Of particular concern to parents is the information on crippling rheumatic heart disease in children. Of the funds taken in during the nationwide campaign, 45.8 per cent goes for national and 4.2 state research on heart disease, which includes study on this illness that frequently results in permanent heart damage.

Other funds go 3.6 per cent for conducting campaigns, 14.5, administration; 11.6 per cent American Heart Association program; 5.5 per cent, rehabilitation and employment; 10.3 per cent, community service and public education; 8.7 per cent professional education.

Oregon deaths totaling 56.5 per cent in 1954 exceeded national figures of 54 per cent, leading deaths from other causes.

Pair Cited By Local Police

Two young men were arrested in downtown Klamath Falls late Sunday evening and charged with being drunk after a man in a nearby building reported that they had an older man on the sidewalk beating him.

Arrested and booked at the city jail were Donald R. Hawkins 18, Malin; and Larry Mose, 21, of Chiloquin.

The victim was Sammy Rodriguez, 40, of 4210 Douglas Avenue. Police report that the man was not seriously injured. One of the youths admitted beating Rodriguez, but said he did not know why.

The defendants were scheduled for police court hearings today.

Deadline Nears For Dog License

City Poundmaster Larry Mueller advises all dog owners that licenses must be purchased before March 1, and that warnings will not be issued in cases where dogs are found to be running at large with licenses after that date.

Mueller adds that the new policy calls for citing the dog owner to appear before the Klamath Falls municipal judge. Licenses must be purchased for all dogs eight months and older within Klamath Falls and Klamath County, and dogs permitted to run at large are required to wear the licenses.

The tags may be obtained in the courthouse from County Clerk Charles DeLap.

LOSE A BOAT?

Anyone having lost a boat may be able to find it by checking the lake area near Squaw Point. City police were informed Sunday that a 20-foot boat, grey in color, is loose and lodged in the tules near Squaw Point.

License Plate Deadline Near

Drivers, have you checked the expiration date of your license plates lately? If the plates expire in February, the Department of Motor Vehicles reminded that only a few days remain in which to get them renewed or face the risk of a possible fine after the end-of-the-month deadline.

Chinese Fete Dog's Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The Chinese "year of the dog" begins at midnight tonight, touching off a week of Chinatown festivities presided over by a slim, pretty "Queen of American Chinatowns" from Miami, Fla.

The year 4656 will begin with family feasting at midnight, and a week-long series of celebrations will be climaxed by the colorful dragon parades next Saturday, Friday night Miss June Gong, 21, Miami, will be crowned queen of Chinatown U.S.A.

The queen, a student at New Hampshire University, was selected from 17 candidates from Chinatowns throughout the U.S.

Death Claims Ex-Resident

Mrs. Dora Gienger, 83, a longtime resident of Klamath County, died in Salem February 15. She had been in failing health for the last three years.

Mrs. Gienger was born August 3, 1875 in Jeffersonville, Indiana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harlow. She was married in Indiana to A. C. Gienger, who died in 1945. Mr. Gienger was the first mayor of Chiloquin, and was one of the early day merchants.

Since 1910 the family had lived in Klamath County and at Ashland. Mrs. Gienger attended the Lutheran Church.

Survivors include one son, LeRoy Gienger, Chiloquin; a daughter, Mrs. Harley Olsen, Chico, California; six grandchildren, Mrs. James Rodgers, Sprague River; Mrs. Glen Kircher, Chiloquin; LeRoy and Bud Gienger, Sprague River; William Greene, Oregon State College; Mary Grace Greene, Pacific University and James Greene, Chiloquin.

License Plate Deadline Near

Drivers, have you checked the expiration date of your license plates lately? If the plates expire in February, the Department of Motor Vehicles reminded that only a few days remain in which to get them renewed or face the risk of a possible fine after the end-of-the-month deadline.

Tag renewals should be obtained from the Salem office of the department by sending a check or money order for $10 and the current registration certificate with the necessary information filled out on the reverse side to the registration division at the state capital building.

The department also reminded new residents of the state that they must acquire an Oregon operator's license as soon as they establish residence in Oregon such as taking gainful employment or entering their children in an Oregon school.

However, new residents are not required to obtain Oregon license plates until the expiration date of the plates from their former state.

Trio Cited For Drunk Driving

Three Klamath Basin motorists were charged with being drunk on a public highway Saturday evening after the machines they were driving found their way into ditches all around town.

Arrested were Warren Dabney, whose car ran into a ditch near Avalon Street on Shasta Way; Rolfe J. Brewer, and Felix L. Robles. The Brewer car went into the ditch on South Sixth Street near the junction, and Robles machine plunged into the canal about one mile south of Worden.

None of the occupants was injured. Arrests were made by the investigating state police.

Governor Holmes Denies Plans For Tax Increase

By PAUL W. HARVEY Jr. SALEM — Gov. Robert D. Holmes denied Monday that he ever said he would ask the 1959 Legislature to increase taxes.

"Of course," he said, "I don't want to increase taxes at all." He explained in an interview that he and his fellow Democrats, at last fall's special legislative session, wanted to save most of the surplus so that taxes wouldn't have to be increased, and yet maintain a 310-million dollar biennial budget. The current budget is 280 millions.

Secretary of State Mark Hatfield, Republican candidate for governor, has said that Holmes wants a 60 million dollar tax increase next session.

"Mark doesn't understand the proposed budget. He is taking a 330 million dollar budget figure, while we have been talking in terms of 310 millions," the governor said.

Holmes continued that Hatfield took the highest possible budget figure, while Holmes is using the lowest figure.

The governor said he is "ready, willing and eager" to meet his opponents in the primary election. They are former state Sen. Lew Wallace and Multnomah County Assessor Wiley Smith, both of Portland.

Holmes also said he opposes a new movement to deprive private and parochial schools of free textbooks.

"I'm getting many letters protesting that law," the governor said. "I feel they are based on religious prejudice, although they claim that they believe the free books for the private and parochial schools violate the principle of separation of church and state. 'It doesn't violate that principle'."

John S. Matts Dies In Home

John Sam Matts, 63, resident of Klamath Falls for 25 years, died at the family home on Crescent Avenue, Sunday, February 16. He had been in failing health for some time. Matts had been an employee of the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company for many years.

He served in World War I and was a member of Pelican Post No. 1383 Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Surviving are his widow, Hester Matts; a step daughter, Mrs. Gino Carnini; a step son, Gail Putnam, all of this city; brothers, Morris Munns, Portland; George Matts, Madison; sisters, Rose Nelson and Helen (no surname known) both of Madision, Wisconsin.

Funeral services will be held from Ward's Klamath Falls Funeral Home, at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, February 19.

Action Listed By KF Police

Vincent J. Hunt, 18-year-old Klamath Falls youth, was arrested Sunday evening by city police and charged with disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon.

Investigating city police said that as they approached the youth he threw a 10-inch kitchen knife beneath a nearby automobile.

His companion, 18-year-old Charles R. Cole, was charged with vagrancy.

In other weekend police activity, the local office was notified Sunday evening that two 16-year-old youths had been apprehended in Roseburg and were in possession of a 1953 automobile reportedly stolen from the Balsiger Motor Company lot in Klamath Falls.

The juveniles were residents of Hayward, California and Winston, Oregon.

In other matters, Irving L. Grima reported to officers that a tire and wheel were stolen from his pickup while it was parked downtown.

Services

BONANZA — Special services for St. Barnabas Episcopal Church for Ash Wednesday, February 19, were announced today by Bill Milne, lay reader of the church. Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged sinuses—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished without extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion. The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been successful typically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.
