JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Six children died in a fire last night which attacked their trailer-shack home which, police said, "went up like a pile of kindling."

The parents and one of the four other children who escaped from the flimsily constructed home were reported in serious condition with second and third degree burns.

The fast-spreading fire destroyed the combination semi-trailer, house trailer and shack structure occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Wright and their nine children in nearby Romeoville. Five died in the fire. The sixth died early today in a Joliet hospital.

In serious condition were the father, Carl, 51, the mother, Desolina, 36; and Carl Jr., 11. Two children, Marilyn, 6, and Angeline, 3 months, were in fairly good condition with burns and other injuries.

Firemen from neighboring Lockport, who answered the alarm in sub-zero weather, said the three-section shack was "a rearing inferno" when they arrived.

An overheated coal stove in one corner of the rambling structure was tentatively blamed for the fire, police said.

Wright, a watchman-fireman for Material Services Corp. in Joliet, said he was awakened by the flames and managed to arouse his wife and escape with four of the children.

Those who died in the fire were Betty, 17; Mike, 16; Margie, 14; Dolores, 9; and Joe, 1. Three-year-old Catherine Marie died in the hospital.

Knowland Aims Disability Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) called today for congressional representation on any commission set up to determine presidential disability despite Atty. Gen. Rogers' statement he would urge a veto for such a bill.

Moreover, the Senate Republican leader said he believes such a commission can be established immediately by passage of a law, without waiting for a constitutional amendment.

"I would have no objection to Congress' acting both on a bill and a constitutional amendment, but I think the commission ought to be set up by action in this session and not be delayed by the necessity of ratifying constitutional amendment," Knowland said in an interview.

The Constitution provides that when a president is disabled, his duties shall fall to the vice president. But it does not specify who shall decide that the President is disabled.

Truck Upset Kills Driver

WEED — Frank William McKinney, 38, of Delhi, California and more recently of Potosi, lost his life about 4:30 p.m. on Monday when the truck he was driving went out of control on Highway 89, 2 1/2 miles east of McCloud, as he was rounding the Bear Creek curve, overturned, pinning him beneath the vehicle.

McKinney was a trapper and had been trapping on the McIntosh ranch near McCloud. His wife, Irene, 37, was riding with him and she is in the McCloud Hospital receiving treatment for shock and undetermined injuries. It was thought her condition is not critical.

California Highway Patrol Officer Al Gross of McCloud was called to investigate. The truck had hit a rock at the edge of the roadway which sheared off the under-carriage of the vehicle. The truck overturned when the right rear wheel hit the rock. Mrs. McKinney broke the rear window of the cab and crawled out to seek assistance. Her husband lived for a few minutes after the crash. His body has been taken to Noble's Chapel at Mount Shasta.

Firemen said flames raced through the Jacobs Sales Co. building, feeding on paint, lacquer and other building materials.
