

Benson Uses Same Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson has decided to hold the line on price support rates for four 1958 feed grain crops.

Under his flexible price support system, he could have justified a reduction in the rates.

He did not explain his decision. But it may have reflected a desire to avert a possible over-expansion in livestock production which might have followed lower feed prices.

Benson announced Friday that oats, rye, barley and sorghum grains will be supported at 70 percent of parity, the same as last year. The dollars-and-cents rates differed a little, reflecting changes in the parity prices.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The actual rates will be 61 cents a bushel for oats, the same as last year; 93 cents a bushel for barley compared with 95 cents last year; $1.10 a bushel for rye compared with $1.18 last year; and $1.83 a hundred pounds for sorghum compared with $1.96 last year.

The 1958 rate for soybeans will be unchanged from last year's $2.09 a bushel. But the flaxseed rate will be $2.78 a bushel compared with $2.92 last year. The rate for dry beans was put at $6.18 a hundred pounds compared with $6.31 last year. The honey rate will be 9.5 cents a pound compared with 9.7 cents in 1957.

Priest Issues Rap At Navy

HONG KONG (AP) — An American priest charged Saturday that the U.S. Navy squandered $30,000 from Hong Kong merchants to help build a football stadium at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

The Rev. George N. Gilligan said pressure was applied to merchants doing business among Navy personnel.

"While churches and welfare societies are pouring hundreds of thousands of dollars into Hong Kong to feed and clothe refugees," the 58-year-old Roman Catholic priest said, "the United States Navy takes thousands out to build a football stadium for the wealthiest nation in the world."

Father Gilligan, director of an interdenominational organization which helps servicemen in Hong Kong, said he has complained to Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine).

Navy officials confirmed that funds were raised for a Navy and Marine memorial stadium at Annapolis but denied applying pressure to the merchants.

A press release said representatives of 24 contributing firms Saturday were luncheon guests of Vice Adm. W.M. Beakley, commander of the 7th Fleet, aboard the aircraft carrier Kearsarge. But the amount of their contributions was not listed. One officer said unofficially total collections were close to $20,000.

Comedian Tells Tough Grind Of Being In Comedy Business

By FRANK SPENCER
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—Jonathan Winters lay on the rumpled bed and ate a toasted cheese sandwich. He sipped from a cardboard container. It was 2 p.m., and this was his breakfast.

"Would I want my son to get into this business? Not unless it was out of my mind, I wouldn't," he chewed on the sandwich a while. "This," he announced, "is the most heart-breaking, most frustrating business anyone ever devised."

Winters was speaking about the business of professional comedy. He is an authority on this subject. He has made millions of people laugh as a substitute for somebody or other on television, but he can't seem to get a steady job with a show of his own.

"I don't know why this is," he said. "Maybe not enough people understand me. Maybe they expect me to wear big floppy rubber ears and throw pins. I just don't know."

Winters was interviewed in his hotel room across the street from the Black Orchid, a night club where he is appearing. He came to the Black Orchid after substituting for two weeks on "The Jack Paar Show." Saturday he returned to his home at Hastings-On-Hudson, N.Y., for a vacation before appearing March 25 as a substitute for George Gobel.

"I'm always substituting for somebody," Winters reflected. "You know something? I didn't letter in high school football either. Some day I'm going to get out of this business."

Winters has been an entertainer 10 years, since he got a job on station WING, Dayton, Ohio, as a disc jockey, after leaving Kenyon College.

"You know something? I'd like to be a salesman. I think I'd be a terrific salesman. I could tell funny stories. That's what salesmen do."

"If I were a salesman I'd go to a nightclub and entertain a lot of people and charge it off my income tax and I'd sit back and bother the comedian. Let me tell you about a guy the other night. 'This guy was commenting on my stories, a real loud guy. So I walked over to him and announced, 'Ladies and gentlemen, we have a celebrity with us. I'm sorry, but I don't know his name.' Then I hand the microphone to the loud guy and say, 'Please introduce yourself to the audience and tell them some funny stories.'"

"Then I tell him very slowly. 'I don't want my son in this kind of business.'"

Plane Issue Meeting Set

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — The Military Armistice Commission will meet at 11:30 a.m. Monday in Panmunjom to take up the Allied complaint against the Communist hijack of a South Korean airliner, it was reported Saturday.

Informed sources said Allied authorities had requested an earlier meeting. They said the Communists insisted on postponing the session until Monday for undetermined reasons.

An official allied announcement confirmed that the truce commission will meet at 11:30 a.m. Monday, but said the session was called by the Communists to discuss an alleged armistice violation.

Actress Skips Television Debut

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Betty Davis has withdrawn, on advice of her physician, from what was to have been her live television debut Sunday on Dinah Shore's show.

Dr. Paul McMaster said a return to strenuous activity in preparation for the show, in which she was to have danced as well as sung and acted, had aggravated a spine injury she suffered last fall. Actress Nanette Fabray will replace her.

Kidnaper Wins Death Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — Angelo LaMarca who was scheduled for electrocution next Thursday for the kidnap-murder of baby Peter Weiberger, has won his fifth stay of execution.

In granting an indefinite stay Friday, Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock said he was giving LaMarca's lawyers a chance to test in the courts a constitutional issue.

LaMarca has contended that his constitutional rights were violated because the Nassau County trial judge denied a change of venue. Widespread publicity, LaMarca said, made a fair trial impossible in the county.

Dimock asked for prompt action by state courts in reviewing LaMarca's latest plea.

"As things stand, unless I issue a stay, the defendant will be executed not because of his constitutional point is unfounded, but because there is no time to present it," the judge wrote.

The 32-day-old Weiberger baby was taken from a carriage on the patio of his Westbury, N.Y., home July 4, 1956. LaMarca was found guilty of kidnaping and first-degree murder by an all-male jury Dec. 7, 1956.

The baby was found in a Long Island thicket, dead of hunger, suffocation and exposure. The 32-year-old LaMarca led police to the child's body Aug. 24, 1956, the day after his arrest by the FBI.

Teen-Age Gang Attacks School

AUBURN, Kan. (AP)—Ten to 12 teen-agers burst into Auburn High School and raised Cain for five minutes before they could be driven out.

Principal Ray Nichols said the rowdies, some armed with brass knuckles and beer bottles, arrived in an automobile and a truck. They climbed through windows, dashed through halls and threatened several persons.

Nichols said he did not recognize any of the gang. Auburn, near Topeka, has a population of 100.
